Easter

From the Gospel According to Luke OW upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulchre, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them.

And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre.

And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus. And it came to pass, as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments. And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spake unto you when he was yet in Galilee. Saying, The Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.

And they remembered his words. And returned from the sepulchre, and told all these things unto the eleven, and to all the

It was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women that were with them, which told these things unto the apostles.

And their words seemed to them as idle tales, and they believed them not,

Then arose Peter, and ran unto the sepulchre, and stooping down, he beheld the linen clothes laid by themselves, and departed, wondering in himself at that which was come to pass.

And lo, behold, two of them went that same day to a village called Emmaus, which was from Jerusalem about threescore furlongs. And they talked together of all these things which had happened.

And it came to pass, that while they communed together and reasoned, Jesus himself drew near, and went with them. But their eyes were holden that they should not know him. And he said unto them, What manner of communications are these that ye have one to another, as ye walk, and are sad?

And the one of them, whose name was Cleopas, answering said unto him, Art though only a stranger in Jerusalem, and has not known the things which are come to pass there in these days?

And he said unto them, What things? And they said unto him, Concerning Jesus of Nazareth, which was a prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people. And how the chief priests and our rulers delivered him to be condemned to death and have crucified him. But we trusted that it had been he which should have redeemed Israel: and beside all this, today is the third day since these things

Yea, and certain women also of our company made us astonished which were early at the sepulchre.

And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seen a vision of angels, which said that he was alive. And certain of them which were with us went to the sepulchre, and found it even so as the women had said: but him they saw not,

Then he said unto them, O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken:

Ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?

And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the Scriptures the things concerning himself,

And they drew nigh unto the village, whither they went; and he made as though he would have gone further.

But they constrained him, saying, Abide with us; for it is toward evening, and the day is far spent. And he went in to tarry with them.

And it came to pass, as he sat at meat with them, he took bread, and blessed it, and brake, and gave to them. And their eyes were opened, and they knew him, and he vanished out of their sight. And they said one to another, Did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the Scriptures? And they rose up the same hour, and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them that were with Saying, The Lord is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon.

And they told what things were done in the way, and how he was known of them in break-

And as they thus spake, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you.

But they were terrified and affrighted and supposed that they had seen a spirit.

And he said unto them, Why are ye troubled? and why do thoughts arise in your hearts? Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I myself: handle me, and see; for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have.

And when he had thus spoken, he shewed them his hands and his feet. And while they yet believed not for joy and wondered, he said unto them, Have ye here any

And they gave him a piece of broiled fish and of a honeycomb.

And he took it and did eat before them And he said unto them, These are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Moses and in the prophets, and in the psalms, concerning me. Then opened he their understanding that they might understand the Scriptures. And said unto them, Thus it is written, and thus it behooved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day:

And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

And ye are witnesses of these things. And, behold, I send the promise of my Father upon you: but tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with power from on high. And he led them out as far as to Bethany, and he lifted up his hands, and blessed them.

And it came to pass, while he blessed them, he was parted from them, and carried up into And they worshipped him, and returned to

Jerusalem with great joy:
And were continually in the temple, praising and blessing God. Amen.

Advertising Roundup

By DELBERT ADDISON

HEN the bite finally comes in the amount of paper available to print newspapers, The Herald and News will cheerfully curtail, but it won't be in the manner

Daily News. The Daily News, a tabloid paper making big circulation and advertising gains in the Los Angeles war-boom area, had to cut somewhere, and chose to do it by eliminating adopted by the Los Angeles

all classified advertising. (All newspapers are re-stricted to 10% less newsprint than used in 1941. While ADDISON Herald and News circulation has gone up steadily, advertising has gone the other way, cutting down on the number of pages needed each day, so there's no pinch here-yet. A further cut is in the offing.)

The Herald and News won't cut out the classified, or "want-ad," section because that's the one kind of advertising that most everybody uses, some time or other. If you don't have a high chair or a setting hen to sell, or an apartment to rent, you might lose your ration

Everyone Can Use Want-Ads

THERE'S a vast difference between the wantads and the big ads. (We call the big ones

To successfully use display advertising, you first must have a product or service-or a first must have a product or service—or a message—that a great many people might be interested in. Then you must so word, picture or dramatize your ad that a great many people will be directed to your store or to your way will be directed to your store or to your way.

Orders, keeping track of destinations and turning the information over to Liggett and Myers to a company at San Francisco, which in turn will place with the Commando headquarters, or the compando headquarters, or the of thinking.

(For instance, because everybody can buy War Bonds, and because the "reason why" is so obvious, this MESSAGE lends itself to the use of display advertising. The main problem here is to provide the push to get immediate action.)

To successfully use classified or want-ads, on the other hand, all you need is a gadget that SOMEBODY might be interested in, a little pocket change, and you're in. Here it's not a matter of influencing people, but of spreading the news of your wants among your neighbors.

Want-Ad Addicts

There's a good deal of numan intervals. Aside from the people looking for something to buy or sell or rent, there are those who religiously read the classified section Hamilton of Bend, was to obtain a record of receipts and disburse-what's going on in the community.

Still Selling Tires

THE Continuing Study of Newspaper Reading shows that an average of 32 out of each 100 men, and 38 out of each 100 women, read the gagess' investment in the propmen, and 38 out of each 100 women, read the That doesn't mean that the 32 and 38 read ALL the want-ads, but it's a safe bet that most all of those looking for new landlords do go through the "for rent" with a fine toothed comb. (There are generally a few people waiting in the office here each night for the paper to come out, so as to get first crack at the new listings.)

Holding forth here on the increased readership of some ads under war-times, and making the crack that Western Auto is now in the home furnishing business, brought a reply from C. R. Kingan, Firestone store manager. Mr. Kingan:

'One grasps at material, in these times, that justifies or bears out an idea costing money. Many merchants, I expect, have retrenched somewhat on advertising, feeling that with the present shortages in almost any line, it is a needless expense.

"Our company feels that way, but it also knows that people will have impressions after script before final disposition. the war is over. As a consequence, we are spending more with newspapers today than we did when all kinds of merchandise was plentiful.

"Our store is comparatively new in Klamath Falls, but we are definitely in the tire business along with the four mentioned in your article. Incidentally, Mr. Hiatt may drop you a line, as I feel sure Western Auto is also selling tires

Mr. Hiatt didn't; but, thank goodness, they're Mr. Hatt didner all selling tires yet.

Sincerity in Advertising

YOU don't get off yet, Mr. Kingan. You have too many good thoughts on advertising. Continuing:

"I felt that I was in the 'meat course' of your editorial when I read your quotation from Linotype. Our company teaches us to sell but they also teach us to be sincere. Since the
