

SCOUTS LAUNCH TREE PLANTING PROGRAM HERE

Launching a program of conservation and production to help offset the results of war manpower shortages, Boy Scouts throughout America are planting "a tree for every service man" during 1943. Already they have exceeded their goal in many places and Klamath Falls is one of those places.

Twenty-five Scouts took part in a pine and fir planting program last Saturday under the direction of T. J. Orr, forester of the Weyerhaeuser Timber company. These Scouts, from six Klamath Falls troops planted more than three thousand trees last Saturday and a larger group will be out in the forest this Saturday.

With the Scouts, in addition to Mr. Orr, were Donald F. McKay, assistant forester; C. O. Borsting, assistant forester; H. H. Ogle, fire protection chief; Rev. Eugene Haynes, member of the executive committee of the Boy Scouts, and Robert H. Lamott, Scout executive. Scouts were: From troop 1—Charles Martin, Clifford Belton and Gene Pey-Clifford; From troop 2—Bob Loper, Bob Willhite, Bob Shaw, Ray Wilson, Bob Rasmussen, Gaylord Uppington and Gilbert Einarson; From troop 3—John Stone, Glenn Miller, Jim Griggs, Solon Stone and Buster Carleton; From troop 4—Tom Orr, Bill Southwell and Leroy Lofsdahl; From troop 5—John McClellan, Walter Olson, Clifford Cain, Douglas Powers and David Patterson.

Trucks will pick up this Saturday's crew at the United States National bank building below the scout headquarters at 8:30 a. m. All Scouts must sign up with their scoutmasters before reporting for this project, according to the Scout executive. This week's project will include the planting of considerable "stratified" Ponderosa pine seed under the direction of an experimental forester. Being a nationwide project, similar projects are under way in all parts of the Modoc area council which is served out of Klamath Falls as headquarters city.

CITY TO ACQUIRE CEMETERY LOCATION

Adjacent to the property and said that the bureau of reclamation had been contacted and that it was the policy of the bureau to grant water rights for such purposes. Moore park was cited as such an instance where the city paid $1 per year for the water. The councilman also asked that appreciation be expressed to R. C. Dale, reator, for his efforts in assisting the committee. Actual purchase of the property will not be made until all parties are contacted and title insurance is obtained.

The matter of the county road which divides the property, was discussed and Councilman A. H. Bussman was definite in denouncing the continued use of a county road through the cemetery. He further stated that he felt a cemetery should be a place apart, that it should be surrounded by a fence and gates, and that no traffic be allowed to go through the property as would, if the road were used by Kesterson mill employees.

Upon this statement by Bussman, the council entered into discussion, weighing the merits of the water rights as compared to a county road, and it was finally decided that the county court would be asked to make arrangements to reestablish the old Whiteline ranch road when the time came that this step would be necessary.

Members of the cemetery committee observed that it would be a wise policy to let the county retain the road through the property as snow would then be removed during the winter months, and pointed out that the city has no facilities for such snow removal.

A satisfactory road program will be worked out before the purchase is completed, Mayor Houston stated.

Members of the cemetery committee were commended for their excellent work by the mayor, and asked to continue serving on a board with staggering terms such as the park board functions, but directly under city jurisdiction.

Fight Launched on Whiskey "Black Market" Dealings

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—The office of price administration, it was disclosed today, soon will launch an enforcement program designed to break up what is termed a black market in whiskey.

The program, OPA said in a letter to Rep. May (D-Ky.) who had complained of the situation, "will include investigation of and criminal action against any large operators who are found to have purchased bulk whiskey at prices in excess of ceilings" and "treble damage suits will be instituted against the sellers in the same transactions."

SUIT FOR DAMAGES FOLLOWS SURGERY

A $20,000 damage suit, plus costs and disbursements has been filed in circuit court against A. J. McCannel, Chiloquin physician and surgeon, by Mrs. Eddie Herron, who claims that during an appendectomy, McCannel, besides removing the appendix, also rendered her incapable of bearing children.

Mrs. Herron stated in her complaint that on April 2 she underwent an operation for the removal of her tonsils and appendix. The complaint alleges that during the surgery, and without Mrs. Herron's or her husband's consent, Dr. McCannel removed and tied certain of her organs, resulting in her being unable henceforth to have children. Edward B. Ashurst is attorney for the plaintiff.

FRENCH TROOPS SLASH WAY TO PONT DU FAHS

An advance so rapid that German rear guards were unable to bury their dead and assaulted the two strategic knobs, Green Hill and Bald Hill, the most heavily fortified mountains in the northern sector.

These allied thrusts accompanied gains all along the 140-mile front in fighting which the allied headquarters communicate characterized as "unabated ferocity." They were participated in by allied air forces which flew more than 1000 sorties in an air offensive which the announcement said was of "increasing intensity."

Armored spearheads of the British jabbing southeast of Goubellat threatened to cut off the big supply base of Pont du Fahs, 34 miles southwest of Tunis, which already was menaced by the much-feared Moroccan Goumiers who had driven northeast along the Tunisian Dorsal to a hill overlooking the town.

RAF RAINS BOMBS ON NAZI DUISBURG

the Loire river. All of the raiding planes returned safely to bases, it was announced.

It was the 59th raid on Duisburg, which is situated 12 miles west of Essen at the junction of the Rhine and Ruhr rivers. The city, which is the site of many heavy war industries and an important communications center, was last bombed the night of April 9, in a raid from which eight bombers failed to return.

Week's First Raid Last night's raid was the first time that British heavy bombers had been active since the sweeping assaults on Stettin, Rostock and Berlin last Tuesday night.

The air ministry news service said four-engine Lancasters, Stirling and Halifax bombers and two-engine Wellingtons met "one of the strongest defenses our crews have encountered for some time" in the attack on Duisburg.

Many searchlights were massed both inside and outside the town, the news bulletin said, and a barrage from hundreds of heavy anti-aircraft guns was encountered.

The German communique, heard from the Berlin radio, said several places were raided in western Germany, including Oberhausen and Muelheim as well as Duisburg. "Residential quarters, hospitals and other public buildings were hit," the Germans said. "The population suffered losses. Sixteen enemy planes were shot down."

CHINA ADMITS JAP SUCSESSES OVER TAIHENG

CHUNGKING, April 27 (AP)—Japanese successes in the battle for the Taiheng mountains, one of the most important Chinese strongholds in north China, were admitted in a Chinese communique today which said the invaders had entered the Honan province town of Linhsien in a drive from the east.

Pushing from the west in a scissors attack, the Japanese also took four towns, the communique said.

Outnumbered ten to one, the Chinese evacuated the important town of Linhsien after severe street fighting, and began an attempt to counter-attack from the rear. The Japanese had the advantage of aerial support in their advance.

The Chinese also executed a flanking movement intending to cut off the retreat of the Japanese columns pushing into the mountains from the west, the communique said.

The Japanese attack from the south on the mountain range west of the Peiping-Hankow railway has been repulsed thus far, however, and in one battle more than 700 Japanese were reported killed.

Again alleging the use of poison gas by the Japanese, a supplementary communique said "enemy troops in southwestern Shansi fired more than ten shells into our positions, causing officers and men to bleed from the nose."
