

MALIN PLANS HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION

MALIN—With the end of the school year only 10 days away, students and faculty members are deep in last minute preparations for winding up a term that the war has turned topsy-turvy.

While school officials have endeavored to keep extra-curricular activities as nearly normal as possible, they have been streamlined, with fewer social events for the graduating class than in years past.

Athletics, due to difficulty of transportation, were cut to a minimum but in spite of that, the Malin Mustangs took the lion's share of county titles.

Students attended school for seven Saturdays and classes were an hour longer daily to make up for time lost during the potato harvest last fall.

Future Farmers of America, Malin chapter, worked on a restricted schedule and this year will send two delegates to Portland, where the state conference is being held, instead of the usual number of boys who have in other years participated in contests at Corvallis. The conference this year will be devoted entirely to transaction of business on May 5 and 6. Commencement exercises for the Malin high school also falls on May 6, preventing attendance of Principal A. E. Street, chapter advisor.

Achievement day in the high school is scheduled for May 3, when parents of students and of Four-H club members, who will also exhibit projects, are invited to attend. The program will be dedicated to the Oregon Trail centennial.

Athletic awards and 4-H awards will be presented in cooking and sewing. Scholastic awards will be presented eligible students during the commencement program.

Pep Club girls are to be guests Friday evening, April 30, of the FFA chapter. The party will be at the high school.

Rev. Victor Phillips, pastor of the Methodist church, Klamath Falls, will deliver the commencement address the evening of May 6, in the Broadway hall. Diplomas will be presented by Fred Peterson, superintendent of Klamath county schools.

Della Martin, who is completing her high school work in three years with a high average, will deliver the valedictory address. The salutatorian is Ruby Rice. Bertha Compton will play the professional and recreational.

A girls' sextette is also on the program. Scholastic awards will be presented by Principal Street. With the exception of Miss Mae Taylor, whose plans are indefinite, and of Mrs. Claudia Cleveland, who plans to join the WAACs, teachers of both schools plan to return to Malin next fall. Miss Taylor and Mrs. Cleveland are listed on the faculty of the elementary school.

Mrs. Jean Blake of the Chiloquin school faculty will be transferred to Malin when the fall term of school opens. She will teach in the grade school.

The term officially ends May 7.
