

Martha Shops and Shops

Mother's Day sort of crept up on me unawares this year . . . But the first of this week I really started to look around, and certainly found a lot of things any mother would love any time.

Currin's

TWO brand new Helen Rubinstein items arrived at Currin's just in time for Mother's Day . . . And they're really new, incorporating some of the latest ideas as they do.

One is the Rubinstein Heaven-Sent Cologne Compact . . . It's a concentrated fragrance made by a new formula, with that tremendously popular, little more than a year old, fragrance . . . It comes in a flat compact that you can carry in your purse . . . (Or your mother can!)

All you need to do with the Heaven-Sent Cologne Compact is open it up, run your fingers lightly over the surface, and touch the spots where you want the fragrance . . . Very little is needed and it lasts a long time . . . It costs $1.50.

The other new Rubinstein item is Apple Blossom Cream Cologne . . . The fragrance that needs no explanation because it is so uniformly adored.

This cream cologne is long lasting, refreshing and cooling, and has a softening effect on the skin . . . And it's only 75c.

Why not drop in at Currin's and take a whiff while you're looking at them? . . . You'll love both kinds and won't want to limit them to Mother's Day gifts!

Garcelon's

HOW about a crystal salad set for Mother's Day? . . . Summer isn't far away, and, besides, these Victory Gardens soon are going to start producing things that will be luscious in fresh, green salads.

Well, Garcelon's has a plain crystal salad set, 12 pieces, for only $2.39 . . . This includes a big platter to set the bowl on (or to use as a cake plate), the crystal bowl, 8 individual plates, and a pair of wooden servers.

Another crystal salad set has a lovely intaglio design . . . 10 pieces cost $2.95 . . . They come without the servers, which can be bought extra, if you need them.

Of course, these are just a few of the many new things that have been arriving lately at Garcelon's . . . Maybe you'd better go down and see all that's there!

Murphey's

MURPHEY'S Seed Store certainly is a busy place these days . . . But when Red Busman got around to waiting on me he insisted upon my going out into the warehouse to look at the shrubs that he's been expecting for ages.

"It'm going to sell these shrubs for 25c apiece," he told me as we walked through the tiers of racks.

We finally reached scores and scores of shrubs . . . All two and three feet high . . . And after I'd exclaimed over them, I asked where the 25-cent ones were.

Well, the joke was on me . . . Because these 2- and 3-foot shrubs are the ones that are 25c.

Of course I had to ask why . . . And he said that he wanted to clear them out of the way in a hurry.

Anyway, if you can use any shrubs around your house, you ought to jump at this bargain . . . There are spirea, lilac, honeysuckle, weigela, red barberry, forsythia and snowballs. At Murphey's Seed Store . . . Ninth and Klamath.

High Price Paid For Cow at Auction

PORTLAND, Ore., May 6 (AP) Smith & Freeman of Montesano, Wash., paid $875 for one cow of the Fairview farm's prized Holstein-Friesian breeding herd which was auction Tuesday,

Whytal's

IF you want to make your mother feel luxurious, the satin nightgown and negligee sets I saw at Whytal's are just the thing . . . They are in flowered pastels and she'll love them . . . And you would, too, even if you bought a set for yourself, instead of getting it as a Mother's Day gift.

These nighties and negligees can be bought separately . . . But together they cost $10.00. The handkerchiefs at Whytal's would make lovely gifts, too . . . Gay floral prints, linens, dainty Swiss lace and embroidery, exquisite embroidered Madeira . . . At prices that range from 25c to $2.00 a handkerchief.

Of course there are other things at Whytal's that would be equally good for Mother's Day gifts . . . Time and space keep me from mentioning them, but it will take you only a minute to see them at Whytal's.

Moe's Jewelry

A GREAT big new shipment of costume jewelry arrived at Moe's Wednesday, just in time for last minute Mother's Day shoppers . . . And included are scores of different kinds of earrings, which have been kind of scarce around town recently.

One thing I like about Moe's costume jewelry is that there is such a wide range of types and prices . . . You can pay anywhere from $1 to $19.95 for a piece.

And, besides, the sterling silver charms for bracelets range from $1 to 59c.

There are a lot of sterling, or gold-brushed sterling, items in the new shipment . . . The jeweled "bows" are very lovely, and some have a modern touch in a centerpiece that is a baguette-cut stone.

The sterling things set with Czechoslovakian brilliants are colorful and dainty . . . They are some of the pieces that cost up to $19.95.

But, of course, you'll find costume jewelry in wood, plastic, macaroni and other materials as well . . . At Moe's.

Your Store

WHEN I go into Your Store, Inc., at gift-shopping time, I'm simply amazed at the tremendous number of things in the place . . . There are literally hundreds of different kinds of gifts . . . So it wouldn't be surprising if you found the answer to Mother's Day problems right in this store!

There are handpainted pictures and outstanding prints . . . Compacts . . . Costume jewelry . . . Crystal perfume bottles, handkerchiefs and handbags:

Ybre perfumes and colognes . . . Early American All Spice and Friendship Garden colognes and toilet waters . . . Wrisley gift sets . . . Artemis slips and nightgowns:

Lovely Cambridge glassware, including glasses of all types and sizes, centerpieces, etc.

Luxurious looking bedspreads, down comforters, wool-filled comforters:

And so many other things that there isn't room to mention them.

Your Store still treats gifts as gifts, too . . . And wraps them beautifully to make the giving more gracious.

Wouldn't it be wonderful to have a Flying Fortress named "The Klamath Pelican"? . . . Well, this will happen if Klamath county people will buy $350,000 worth of War Bonds this month . . . Enough to pay for the Fortress.

Auctioneer C. W. Wood of Vancouver, reported today. Next highest price was $465 paid by George Rosillini of Clark county, Wash., for another cow, Wood said. The herd brought an average price of $228 a head.

Lorraine, Cavanaugh and Betty Lee Smith. Auxiliary Jane Bowne and Auxiliary Gerene Tipton of the Klamath recruiting service, were guests at a Commando meeting. Miss Tipton explained how the girls may enlist in the Women's Army Auxiliary corps. The girls enjoyed this visit very much.

We are trying to compile a list of names to keep on file at the center for the purpose of finding lodgings for service men. We feel there are any number of Klamath people who would be very happy to have a service man as a guest for one day or possibly a weekend. If any of you are able to help us with our project, we will appreciate hearing from you. Just call 7435.

There has been a little difficulty in regard to the hostesses we have at the center on the evenings the girls have to be away. It seems a few girls, who are not Commandos, are using this as a means of excuse to be away from home. They tell their parents they have been asked to assist at the center and if permitted to leave they go elsewhere. Therefore, as a means to prevent this, we are going to publish the names of the hostesses who will help us on different occasions.

In our last column we mentioned about our fund for wounded service men, however, we neglected to say that this is a special fund used only for the expense of our project to bring these wounded men to Klamath Falls. The money with which we are able to maintain our service center is obtained by the girls working at the coke concession and check room at the Army dances and also by donations from the public for this purpose.

When our fund to bring wounded service men to Klamath Falls runs low, we will give another dance to raise more money.

Since our dance, given February 20, people have commented on the fact that we are rich, but we sincerely hope this will explain how we obtain our money and how it is used.
