

Friends Honor Tulalake Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Street Observe Silver Anniversary May Fifth

TULALAKE—Mr. and Mrs. Herman T. Street, celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Wednesday evening, May fifth, greeted one hundred and twenty-five friends and neighbors in the annex of the Tulalake Community Presbyterian church. Masses of lilacs and other spring flowers were used upon the refreshment table and about the rooms.

A tiered white wedding cake wreathed with white roses and silver leaves, which centered the main table, was cut late in the evening by Mrs. Street. Red roses and white snapdragons and pale green tapers in silver holders complimented the ecru handmade lace tablecloth.

White narcissus and red roses in a silver and crystal bowl centered the gift table. Mrs. Street wore a street length frock of navy with white accessories. Her corsage was red and white rosebuds.

Reverend Hugh L. Bronson, pastor of the Tulalake Presbyterian church, welcomed the guests and Floyd A. Boyd was master of ceremonies.

Small folks of the community in smart formal attire were characters in a Tom Thumb wedding. Mrs. Leonard Meshke played the traditional wedding march and just before the ceremony, Miss Dorothy Meshke sang, "I Love You Truly."

The bride was Darlene McRostie, lovely in white satin and blue net veil. Donnie Boyd was the groom, the bridesmaids were the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Faval West, Karen and Marie Dean West. Faval West Jr., gave the bride away, Marie West was the bride's mother and Cecil Moore, best man. Roy Aiken Jr., read the marriage service and Judy Main was flower girl.

Mrs. Helen Lind sang one number, "Just a Song at Twilight," with Mrs. Frank Bell at the piano.

Raymond Cheek with Miss Lind at the piano, played two violin solos, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and "The Old Re-frain."

A motley array of brilliant color marked the mock wedding with none of the "lady characters," misleading the audience for long. D. W. Turnbaugh, the bride, was given away by "her" father, Chester Main. The weeping mother, all in black, was Jim Nelson, and the bridesmaid, Earl Heck.

G. W. Osborne, as the groom had for his best man the Rev. Hugh L. Bronson. Floyd A. Boyd read the impressive ring ceremony and Herman Turnbaugh as the flower girl strewn the path of the wedding party with horseradish leaves. Mrs. Leonard Meshke played the wedding march, "Yes Sir, That's My Baby."

Among the gifts was a chest of silver, gift of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Browncombe, daughter and son-in-law of Beaumont, California, and of their son, Lieutenant Leon Street, now in the service in India.

Mr. and Mrs. Street were married in Oklahoma, coming to Tulalake in 1936 to reside on the first allotment of homesteads taken up by Mr. Street in 1933. Mr. Street is manager of the Tulalake office of the Copeland Lumber company and with Mrs. Street is active in civic and social affairs of the community. Mr. Street is a veteran of World war one, having seen duty overseas.

The honor guests expressed appreciation at the close of the evening.

Pouring during the refreshment hour were Mrs. R. E. McNoughton and Mrs. J. E. Barkwell.

On the committee responsible for the success of the party were Mrs. Viola Nelson, Mrs. Hugh L. Bronson, Mrs. Marvin Thomas, Mrs. Ward McRostie, Mrs. A. E. Ryckman. Each of the committee members was presented with a gardenia corsage by Mr. and Mrs. Street.

TOWNSEND CLUB MEMBERS ENTERTAINED

Townsend club members were entertained Friday evening, April the twentieth with a seven o'clock potluck dinner in the KC hall.

Seventy-five guests and members were seated at four long tables centered with spring flowers. Later, short talks were given by President H. O. Myers, Leo Kamps, George Randell, Vic Douglas, Lettie Carnay, and Bernice McCracken.

Fourteen candidates names were approved and will be initiated at a later date. The drill team put on their work for the first time this season, after which an old-time dance was enjoyed.
