discussions with unnamed leaders of the union locals.

Spontaneous

The unions at the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., the B. F. Goodrich Co. and the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. declared meanwhile in a newspaper advertisement that the work stoppage "was quite spontaneous" after a war labor board wage decision, and added:

"An adequate machinery must be set up for the prompt and just settlement of grievances. Knowledge that this has not been done has caused the stoppage. Confidence that it is being done will start production just as quickly again."

Production Resumed

These developments came as full production was resumed at the General Tire & Rubber Co., not directly affected by the WLB decision limiting wage increases to three cents an hour, five cents less than approved by a WLB panel under the "Little Steel" formula.

Partial production also resumed at the Goodyear plants as the company reported between 50 and 75 per cent of its first-shift workers reported at 6 a. m.

DORTMUND HIT BY GREATEST AIR ATTACK

ful, although accurate observation was obscured by clouds of smoke and flame.

The raid was carried out in excellent weather.

The magnitude of last night's operations became apparent early in the evening when water-guards on the channel coast saw the procession of bombers pass non-stop for two hours toward their targets.

It gave life to the words of Winston Churchill before the American congress last week suggesting that Germany and Italy might be bombed out of the war:

Churchill's Words

"Opinion is divided as to whether the use of air power could, by itself, bring about the collapse of Germany or Italy. The experiment is well worth trying so long as other methods are not excluded. Well, there is certainly no harm in finding out. But, however that may be, we are all agreed that the damage done to the enemy's war potential is enormous."

Neatly coordinated with the devastation in the Ruhr were powerful new blows against Italy by allied planes based in North Africa and the Middle East.

Witnesses said Stalin—who had an interpreter at his side—appeared to enjoy the film immensely.

Attending the dinner in the Kremlin were a long list of high soviet officials, who included Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, Air Marshal A. Novikov, Admiral Nikolai G. Kuznetsov, Foreign Trade Commissar A. I. Mikoyan and State Defense Chairman Molinkov.

RED CROSS OPENS CHILD CARE COURSE

The Red Cross is inaugurating a training class in child care open to all high school and junior high school girls each morning this week from 9 o'clock until 12 noon.

The four-day course will instruct the girls in the care of children so that they will be able to obtain summer work in homes throughout Klamath Falls and the surrounding area. Following the course, some sort of employment agency will be set up so girls will be able to find employment.

Classes will be held in the Red Cross headquarters, starting Tuesday morning.

BLOCK-BUSTING RAID BATTERS PANTELLERIA

medium bombers had been destroyed on the ground in a Marauder raid on the Decimomannu air field of Sardinia Friday.

Sardinian targets were blasted again by bomb-carrying Lightning fighters yesterday and a Middle East communique disclosed that heavy RAF bombers smashed Saturday night at the ferry terminal of San Giovanni, on the toe of the Italian boot.

The allied bomb shower on Pantelleria, which lies in the center of the Sicilian channel, followed a well-laid pattern. The fighters and bombers carried out their assignments with a precision that left waste and wreckage in their wake.

Highlights of the island's day: (1)—P-40 Warhawks attacked coastal gun emplacements. (2)—B-25 Mitchells dumped their loads of explosives on the docks with an accuracy officially described as excellent. Bombs hit a medium-sized supply ship and four small craft, one of which exploded. Warehouses on the south side of the harbor were set afire. (3)—B-26 Marauders and bomb-carrying Warhawks struck at the air field, destroying buildings, pitting the dispersal area and scoring hits on both sides of the bivouac area.

(4)—The RAF's two-engined Wellingtons took up the work in the star-studded night, dropping two-ton demolition bombs and some lighter explosives on the air field and installations of the harbor area, starting a large fire.

mile speed limit on a 14-degree curve.

"Early checks show that the equipment and track were in good condition," the official said in a statement, "but definite indications are that the train was moving faster than the authorized speed limit when the derailment occurred."

Investigations Start

Investigations were begun by the railroad, local officials and the federal bureau of investigation.

Most of the passengers only a few hours before had been enjoying a gay holiday at shore resorts. Many had just left sons and sweethearts stationed at Atlantic City.

The engine, pulling a 15-car train, left the rails on a sharp curve, plunged down an embankment, dragging four of the cars behind it.

KIWANIS CLUB TO LEAD NEXT BOND CAMPAIGN

Klamath Kiwanis club directors voted Monday noon to place the Kiwanis club at the head of the war bond drive in Klamath Falls in June.

The club will lead the campaign for a bond goal expected to be about $300,000, and also will do special work on payroll allotments.

President Ed Ostendorf appointed three committees in charge. They are:

National affairs—Don Drury, John Ebinger, Burge Mason, Frank Howard and Chet Irving.

These committees will meet at the Elk hotel at noon Tuesday to make further plans for opening the campaign. Announcements will be made after that meeting concerning these plans.

Asian assault to be launched on Orel from Kursk.)

Slight overnight improvements in Russian positions in the Kuban area north of Novorossiisk and at Lisichansk on the Donets river were reported in front line dispatches. Artillery action in the Kuban was the first mentioned there since Saturday.

The great aerial warfare and assaults on supplies and communications continued with 313 planes bagged during the week past at a cost of 61 Russian aircraft, the midnight communique said.

Rush Reinforcements

The Germans continued rushing reinforcements to the front in virtually every sector, piling more guns, men and tanks into areas where the long-expected summer blows may fall at any time.

Scouting, a possible prelude to heavy land action, was reported in the Kuban, the Sevsk area, and in the Smolensk area of the western front. The reconnaissance units destroyed supply dumps, equipment, pillboxes and block houses, and took prisoners and supplies, the noon communique said.

THERE'S a big 41-hours-long state dinner in the Kremlin in Moscow.

Our Joseph Davies, who carried a letter from FDR to Stalin, sits on Stalin's right, and proposes as a toast that ruined Stalingrad be left as it is as a memorial and a lesson, and a NEW city built four or five miles up or down the Volga. He speaks for 20 minutes along this line.

The dispatches do not mention whether the Russians sparked to his suggestion.

U. S. AMBASSADOR to Moscow Standley says in a toast that friendship and co-operation are a two-way affair (meaning, presumably, that both sides must give and take), which sounds like good sense.

What the Russians said in reply to Standley's toast (if anything) isn't reported in the dispatches, but British Ambassador Sir Archibald John Clark Kerr comes back with a toast OKing the idea.

THE party wound up with an American film based on Davies' recent book "Mission to Moscow." The dispatches relate that Stalin, who had an interpreter handy, "seemed to enjoy the film greatly."

If you've ever attended one of these formal good-will affairs, where everybody is determined to be nice to everybody else if it breaks a leg, you'll understand.

Stalin may have been bored stiff (as one is apt to be with these long films that follow an already tiresomely long dinner and talkfest) but his obvious determination to be friendly and cheerful regardless of the cost in boredom is significant and encouraging.

There's plenty of evidence that he doesn't hesitate to blow up when he feels that way.

fighter is missing. Another fighter was shot down, but the pilot was rescued.

Success Not Told

The navy gave no indication of whether the bombers succeeded in their mission, presumed to have been bombing and strafing of American troops battling Japanese ground forces on Attu.

It was assumed by some officials, however, that the bombing flight was intercepted before it had opportunity to attack the ground forces.

As in the first bombing raid, there was no official word on the base from which the enemy bombers were operating. However, it was assumed that they came either from Paramushiro or from a carrier.

Our Home Town

Our Privilege By EARL WHITLOCK

It is our privilege, during these most trying times, to remove a burden from hearts already sorely burdened and to lighten the load on shoulders already bowed.

That, after all, is what we are for—a firm to turn to in the most serious emergency which humanity knows. A firm to look to for every fine-ness of service which has been evolved by the mortuary profession, in its long, upward march toward higher standards. A firm to look to for unvarying reverence, for never-failing distinction, for the ultimate in beauty.

And a firm to look to, for all these things, at a price that is always most considerate of the patron's financial limitations.

Inspection and the making of arrangements in advance of actual need, are growing customs among forward-thinking folks. And you are welcome, at any time, to come in to discuss your probable requirements and to learn how beautiful a ceremonial can be arranged for a very low cost.

We invite you to visit with the flowers in Memory Garden next Monday. Mr. Whitlock of the Earl Whitlock Funeral Home will comment on Memorial Day.
