Seattle Knocks Over Seals; Beavers Give Angels Good Battle Before Final Bow

By The Associated Press

The tail-enders in the Pacific Coast league showed signs of making trouble for the rest of the opposition again yesterday when Seattle bowled over second-place San Francisco 7 to 4 and Portland stuck with the league leading Angels 12 innings before bowing out on the short end of a 4 to 3 score.

Left hander Ed Carnett turned in a neat job on the mound for the Rainiers, allowing but seven hits. Four of these were bunched in the seventh inning, when the Seals scored three runs.

The last-place Rainiers meanwhile started out in the first inning to bring grief to Sam Gibson, who went 17 innings last week without a falter. By the end of the second inning they had run up five runs on six hits, driving the 47-year-old Gibson from the mound.

Forrest Orell hardly deserved to lose to Los Angeles. He pitched a tight game, holding the Angels to five hits, but the rest of the Beavers fell apart behind him and kicked the game away with three costly errors. The Beavers took both ends of a doubleheader Wednesday.

San Diego consolidated its new third place standing by knocking out four runs in the fifth inning to down Hollywood 5 to 2. Oakland grabbed its first game out of three with Sacramento with a 4 to 2 performance which celebrated Ralph Buxton's return to full-time hurling duties with the Oaks.

Heat on Major Leaguers For Weekend; Senators Jump Into Third Place

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The major league pennant partridge is coming to a furious boil for the Memorial Day weekend with the heat turned up as high as it will go.

In the American league the Washington Senators moved into first place last night to give the junior circuit its third place-setter in five days and in the National league the St. Louis Cardinals moved within a game and a half of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who were trounced for the second straight time at Pittsburgh and were so incensed they almost started a riot.

The Pirates, who had battered Brooklyn 17-4 on Wednesday, won again 9-5 on the margin of four runs in the eighth inning and in the midst of their rally Umpire George Barr called a balk on hot-headed Johnny Allen.

The Dodger pitcher charged into the umpire and precipitated a melee which resulted in four Brooklyn players—Allen, Fred Fitzsimmons, Rube Melton and Les Webber—all being banished from the field.

However, this tumult, occurring in the presence of 14,724 fans at a night game in Forbes field, hardly was the most important development of a busy day in the big show even though it was the noisiest.

The program started with a morning game at Boston where the last place Red Sox unceremoniously ambushed the Cleveland Indians, who had ousted the New York Yankees from the American league lead on Sunday. Tex Hugson pitched five-hit ball to shut out the tribe 2-0.

In the afternoon the Red Sox repeated the trick, winning 4-3 as Oscar Judd outpitched Jim Bagby.

Then last night the Washington Senators whipped the St. Louis Browns 4-2 in their second straight floodlighted fracas. This lifted the Senators into first place and dropped the Browns into the cellar, where the Red Sox had been hiding for weeks apparently just waiting to pounce on the Indians.

Lefty Hal Newhouser, who couldn't beat the Yankees a single time last year, held them to four hits in an afternoon game, fanned 14, most strikeouts this season and four short of the major league record, and led the Detroit Tigers to a 3-2 victory that placed them in a tie with New York for third place. Rudy York homered with two on for Detroit and Joe Gordon hit a round-tripper with one aboard for New York's runs.

Then, in another night game, the Philadelphia Athletics beat the Chicago White Sox 7-5 and the result was to bunch five American league clubs within two games of the top. With doubleheaders coming up both Sunday and Monday and the leaders matched against each other, the scramble is likely to become even more confusing.

The National league race also tightened up as the Cardinals nosed out the Boston Braves 3-2 with Lefty Howard Pollett pitching five-hit ball. This brought

Gun Clubs Told About Ammunition

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Gun clubs may shoot off any ammunition on hand, but the chances of their obtaining more are very slim, a war production board spokesman said today.

Under a recent limitation order ammunition is restricted to certain civilian users such as defense guards, policemen, farmers and ranchers.

No test case for the clubs has ever been ruled on, he added, and final decision will have to be made after consideration of each case.

Lacking a precedent, the spokesman offered this rule-of-thumb:

If the ammunition has been ordered but not paid for, they won't get it; if it has been ordered, paid for and set aside by the distributor for the club, it may get it, but not necessarily.

Veteran Pitchers Compete in War Industries League

PORTLAND, May 28 (AP)—Two veteran pitchers of organized baseball will oppose one another Sunday in the opening game of the Portland war industries league. Aldon Wilkie, Pittsburgh regular last year, will work for Commercial Iron Works against Marine Electric. On the hill for the latter team will be Larry Jansen, a former San Francisco Seals pitcher.

In a second game between George H. Buckler company and Albina Engine & Machine Works, Bill Hanauka, former Brooklyn Dodger chucker (for Buckler's) will oppose Dave Beeson, veteran Portland semi-pro.

Syracuse Man Criticizes Army Program of Athletics

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 28 (AP)—Lew Andreas, Syracuse university athletic director and president of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football association, today criticized the lack of a uniform athletic program for the armed services.

"No one high in authority in government has seen the problem clearly and attempted a solution," Andreas said in an interview after making public a telegram to President Roosevelt urging the inclusion of Asa Bushnell on any national wartime sports committee.

Andreas said Bushnell, acting athletic director at Princeton university and executive director of the central office for eastern intercollegiate athletics, was in a "strategic position" to help iron out problems such as "the tangle of regulations concerning college football."

Citing the divergent positions of the army and navy toward participation by student service men in college football, Andreas declared:

"The greatest mystery of all time is why the army and navy, presumably the greatest specialists in conditioning men, should be so widely separated in basic ideals of physical training."

While the navy "encourages" its men in colleges to play football, Andreas observed, "the army encourages sports in camps and the men in special services in college are not allowed to play football. Calisthenics is the basis of their physical training."

With a year's experience, he said, "the navy is now stronger than ever for such contact sports because of their unquestioned value in discipline, morale and physical fitness."

The army's special service students "want athletics," Andreas continued. "They want football and their officers want football."

He owned the Sacramento club in 1902 when it was part of the California State league (outlaw). Helped found the Coast league the following year. In 1904 he shifted his franchise from Sacramento to Tacoma and won the pennant with his Tigers. They tied for the championship the next season but lost the play-off to Los Angeles and in 1906 Mike moved his crew bag and baggage to Fresno to give the raise city its first and only entry in the loop.

Fisher pioneered in the off-season practice of taking an all star squad to the Orient. That was in 1907 when he led his hand-picked talent to Honolulu, Manila and through Japan and China. It was his last active connection with baseball but he followed the San Francisco Seals daily ever since his protegee and early day manager, Charles Graham, became one of the owners of the Seals in 1918. Huskie Grid Prospects in Navy Hands

Trainee Competition in College Sports May Give Washington Football Push

SEATTLE, May 28 (AP)—The ultimate attitude of the U. S. navy toward its young stalwarts' participation in college football today holds the answer to 1943 gridiron prospects at the University of Washington.

A naval training program for 1300 physically fit youths is scheduled for the university and the thought of the probable football material in the contingent, not to mention the Washington players of known potentialities included in the group, has given Coach Ralph (Pest) Welch his first cheering outlook since Uncle Sam first began taking a fancy to his gridgers.

Athletic officials at the university said the navy had announced that the trainees would be allowed to compete in varsity sports "if their scholastic program permitted"—a ruling admitting a wide scope of interpretation.

There has been no clarification as to whether their schedules would be too full to allow football time or whether football trips away from the campus would be allowed.

The trainee program will include navy and marine reservists Wendell Broyles, the university's athletic publicity director, said.

Washington players listed by Broyles for the navy school include: Halfbacks Bob Erickson, Sam Robinson and Gerry Austin; Linemen Leonard Larson, Frank Saksa, Tony Balchunas; End Jack Tracy and End Gail Bruce of Puayallup who was rated as of varsity caliber as a freshman last fall.

Without the trainee contingent, Coach Welch could expect for certain only one member of his 1942 varsity squad to be on hand. Don Deeks, a lineman from Portland, will be around, because of a 4-F classification.

Winter has done 13 feet, 9 inches in the pole vault, and Stevens is a 48-foot shot putter. Their entries were received yesterday.
