

UNUSED FARM EQUIPMENT TO BE SALVAGED

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) The war food administration embarked today on a nationwide search for idle farm machinery, announcing it would be requisitioned by the government and distributed where it is needed most to boost food production.

The WFA promised a reasonable price for such machinery. How much could be salvaged for release to active production areas has not been estimated.

A spokesman said that a windfall of farm implements was left by Japanese removed from their west coast farms after Pearl Harbor and this probably would get the first attention in the campaign.

The county war boards have been instructed to look around for machinery not being used now, or expected to be put into service this summer. Their findings will be submitted to state headquarters with recommendations for acquiring specific pieces and the state war board chairman then is to proceed with the purchase.

Owners will be paid ceiling prices or "fair appraisal" values if no ceilings have been established, and the equipment will be resold to farmers who need it.

FUNERAL HELD SATURDAY FOR ROY DYSSERT

TULELAKE—Residents of the Tulelake community were saddened upon receiving word of the death Wednesday, May 26, of Roy Bliss DySSERT, 47, who since 1933 has been a resident of Tulelake. Mr. DySSERT passed away at a Yreka hospital, following an illness of only a few days.

He was stricken suddenly on May 21 while feeding livestock, and was taken to Yreka by ambulance. His death, according to attending physicians, was not the result of a head injury suffered about two years ago.

Born September 26, 1895, near Grants Pass, Ore., he came later to Klamath Falls, where he was employed by Lorenz company. After coming to Tulelake, he opened a fuel yard. Eight years ago he was appointed deputy sheriff of Siskiyou county, serving under Sheriff Ben Richardson. During his years in office he served fearlessly and faithfully, and in pursuit of his law enforcement duties, was responsible for apprehension of a number of notable criminals in northern California.

He was a member of Klamath Falls lodge, No. 1247, BPOE.

Surviving Mr. DySSERT are his wife, Beatrice, Tulelake, Calif.; three brothers, Newell DySSERT, Sawyer's Bar, Calif., Bert DySSERT, Tulelake, James DySSERT, Dorris; four sisters, Mrs. Lela Fitzpatrick, Myrtle Creek, Ore., Mrs. Ethel Kiser, Bellfountain, O., Mrs. Mabel Ramsey, Kirby, Ore., and Mrs. Lola Woodbury, Sacramento, Calif.

Following services at Whitlock's funeral home in Klamath Falls on Saturday, May 29, under auspices of the Klamath Falls Elks lodge, interment was at the Linkville cemetery.

The actual starting of this new course is somewhat similar to the primary and the secondary, in that one shivers with misgivings as to what impression he will make and can he fly. The best and most significant expression was the one heard Wednesday morning as we were all gathered at the airport office awaiting our orientation flight. "I wonder if I ever will get to the point of wondering if I can really fly." That remark really speaks for all of us. The delay between courses, sometimes as much as three or four months, houses a lot of doubt as to one's flying ability. Fortunately we have good instructors, both flight and ground school.

Honors for the first flight went to Herb James. The first squadron to take off on a cross-country hop were Don Adams (first again and not alphabetically), Elwyn Kingman, Carl Mays and Wallace Firth. They flew the first leg to (censored) and returned.

Our district ground school supervisor is Howard Pepke, who was our ground school instructor at Wenatchee. He spent a few days here aiding in getting the school started on the new course.

One of the nice parts of taking cross-country here is the scenery. The big lakes covered with ducks and geese and the hills with deer and the possibility of big trout in the streams. In fact, we were watching for promising fishing holes quite interestedly when the instructor called out, "You're off your course." Doggone it!

If any of the Klamath Falls sportsmen wish to make a big hit with the boys they could, but suggest the location of a promising fishing hole and they would be in clover with the gang.

P. S. There is no bus service from the airport into town, so if any of you were to stop and give us a lift, we wouldn't be offended.

You have to make allowances for boys in college, says a professor. Weekly allowances?

Wheat is plentiful today. Hence the bakers of 100 per cent whole wheat items such as "Shreddies," a product of National Biscuit company, are faced with the challenging wartime duty of satisfying an important part of the national nutritional needs.

According to the latest announcements, 100 per cent whole wheat foods, such as "Shreddies," form one of several groups of foods recommended. This group consists of bread, flour, and cereals—natural whole grain—or enriched or restored. "Shreddies," because it is 100 per cent whole wheat, provides energy-building food elements and vitamins present in the natural whole grain.

National Biscuit company is, therefore, continuing the "Shreddies" advertising campaign recently launched in The Herald and News. The headline, "The Spoonful of Fitness—That's Fun to Eat!"—will be emphasized in each advertisement, as will the fact that "Shreddies" is not rationed.

4-H'ERS BACK OREGON GREEN GUARD PLAN

Once again the Oregon Green Guard, the youth organization of the Keep Oregon Green association, comes forward with a program to give youth an opportunity to form and participate in conserving the timber resources of the state. The aim of the organization is to make youth conscious of the necessity of eliminating man-caused fires. This program is being offered to all existing youth organizations and the 4-H clubs are again accepting the program 100 per cent, according to Clifford Jenkins, county club agent.

Club members are joining the organization by clubs; they are selecting their captains this week and are forwarding their enrollments to the Keep Oregon Green association, state forestry building, Salem, Ore. These boys and girls may be recognized by the white shield bordered in green which is being worn on the shoulder of the shirt or jacket. Members will be provided with an identification card and members may be called upon to assist fire wardens in their communities in case of farm forest fires.

Klamath county 4-H club members made a fine record in the Oregon Green Guard association last year and will uphold this record in 1948.
