

UMW IGNORES FOR WARNING; STOPS WORK

remaining at work was not immediately available.

Resume Negotiation
Soft coal operators resumed their negotiations with Lewis on portal-to-portal pay—chief stumbling block in the contract talks—at 11:15 a. m. Neither side had any comment. The session recessed at 12:10 p. m. to reconvene again at 2 p. m.

The White House was silent, although Mr. Roosevelt in a radio address to the miners and to the nation May 2—a day after he directed Secretary Ickes to take over operation of the pits during the coal crisis—said the war effort "must not be hampered by any one individual or by the leaders of any one group here back home."

Extension Expires
The chief executive spoke at that time only hours after Lewis had announced the first extension of the coal truce under which the mines had been operating since April 1. A second extension expired last midnight.

That expiration brought no word from Lewis to his men. But none was needed. He had made clear previously that the miners would not "trespass" when the contract ran out.

Production Halts
First reports from the coal fields bore out earlier predictions that production of both soft and hard coal by Lewis' half-million miners would halt at midnight.

More than three-fifths of that number were idle in two states alone. Most of Pennsylvania's 100,000-odd soft coal miners and an additional 80,000 anthracite diggers ignored the whistles intended to summon them for day shift duty. There were no reports of disorders and only scattered picketing. In West Virginia an estimated 130,000 men stayed home.

The eastern Ohio coal fields which employ 16,000 of that state's 21,000 miners also took on a holiday appearance. Tom Starks, UMW representative for district 6, said, "As far as I know there's not a mine working in eastern Ohio."

Won't Work
Starks added that the "general feeling among the miners is that there won't be any work unless Lewis extends the truce or a contract is signed." That seemed to sum up the situation everywhere.

First reports indicated at least 25,000 men were idle in Kentucky, 13,000 of them in the Harlan area where the only mine operating was the International Harvester pit at Benham, employing 650 members of the Progressive Miners of America.

her weapon for handling recalcitrant people. He gives his own experience as proof. After a few months of it, people lose even the power to think and remember. He doubts if the people of Norway, bitter German haters though they are, can stand up more than another year under it without losing their power to resist and plan.

What is happening in Norway, he says, is happening in all the subjugated countries of Europe, and the Germans realize fully the power of the food-weapon they hold in their hands.

Seven Months in Prison
Jacobsen was held for seven months in a German prison in Norway, with no charge placed against him. He tried twice to escape through the prison hospital, once by feigning appendicitis through eating a cigarette butt and once by breaking his arm by letting a heavy prison bunk fall on it. The first time he was recaptured and four Norwegian doctors who had aided him were executed. After getting into the hospital with his broken arm, he was flown to Berlin and there his exchange and return to this country were arranged.

He will speak tonight at the Klamath Union high school auditorium at a meeting which will be open to the public.

To San Francisco—Wanda Shaw, 805 Pacific Terrace, will leave for San Francisco Wednesday morning to visit friends in the city. She will be accompanied home by Merlon Albrecht, a student at Stanford university.

Next Aleutian Battlefront?

Kiska Island, last Jap foothold in the Aleutians, may be attacked by Americans in a quick follow-up of the victory on Attu. U. S. warplanes have already blasted enemy installations on Kiska Harbor in raids averaging 100 a month. The fight for Kiska may be harder, for Japs have been here continuously since last June and have a larger garrison than they had on Attu.

Heavyweights Bomb Jap Base in New Guinea

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 1 (AP)—Four-engined heavyweights of the allied airforce unloaded 36 tons of bombs on the Japanese base at Lae, New Guinea, yesterday, causing heavy damage.

It was the biggest raid of the war on that Japanese stronghold 150 miles up the coast from Buna. Only last Thursday, medium and heavy bombers dropped 28 tons of fragmentation and incendiary bombs there. Yesterday's attack was directed against the airfield runway, the town area and the waterfront.

Galbraith Quits As Deputy Price Administrator

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—J. Kenneth Galbraith, the 34-year-old 6 foot and 8-inch former Princeton economics professor, is out as deputy price administrator and the question today is whether his departure will restore harmony in the strife-torn office of price administration.

NAZI INVASION FEAR SEEN BY BROADCAST

By E. C. DANIEL

LONDON, June 2 (AP)—Indications that Germany was afraid to turn her back on the aggressive British and American armies long enough to mount another big summer offensive against Russia were seen by some observers today in the Nazi campaign to prepare the people of the Reich for a defensive phase of the war.

A Berlin radio announcement of Lieut. Gen. Kurt Dietmar that lightning war tactics had been abandoned by Germany encouraged an earlier belief that the Russians might undertake their first summer offensive in coordination with an American-British invasion.

"Those who must attack are our opponents and not ourselves," Dietmar said. The general is the leading military analyst of the German air channels.

To observers here, the general's statement seemed to confirm the allied conviction that Hitler had lost the military initiative and must conserve his forces in anticipation of an attack.

Dietmar acknowledged by inference the loss of the initiative by attempting to disprove its value.

resist but would have refused to negotiate with the victor," an Italian broadcast said.

From North African bases, Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's U. S. Flying Fortress and other allied planes delivered pulverizing new assaults on the Italian mainland city of Foggia and on Italy's island strongholds of Sicily, Sardinia and Pantelleria.

Italian headquarters acknowledged "considerable damage" at Foggia, hit for the third time in four days, and listed 27 killed and 33 injured in the latest attack.

Blast Ships
Long-range allied aircraft from the middle east also blasted axis ships in the Aegean sea off Greece.

From Britain, RAF fighter squadrons streaked across the English channel by daylight today to pummel the German-occupied French coast in the wake of two long sweeps yesterday over northern France and the low countries, where targets included airdromes, communications, docks and war foundries at Zebrugge, Nieuport and Brugge, in Belgium; Vlissingen, in Holland, and Caen and Cherbourg, France.

Nazi Raid
While allied planes hammered at Hitler's European fortress on both flanks, Nazi raiders touched off London's first air-raid alarm in a week, and first reports said 10 persons were killed and three injured in the metropolitan suburbs.

Workers still dug into the ruins of a church in a southwest English town where German bombs on Sunday killed at least 18 children and three Sunday school teachers. Twenty-four other children were injured, and many were reported missing.

Butler Tank
The Butler tank was completed in its present form in 1930 by R. M. Butler, local contractor, who has operated it since. It uses natural hot water. An additional lot adjoining the present tank is included in the proposed deal, and a suggestion for the future is that the city recreation committee might build an outdoor tank adjoining the covered Butler tank.
