

Yanks Played on Attu Jap Superstitions With Leaves

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—American forces on Attu plucked the Japanese with their most dreaded omen of bad luck, as well as bullets and bombs.

Dipping into Japanese mythology, American propagandists discovered that in Japan there is nothing more feared than the premature falling of the leaves of the kiri tree. All kinds of misfortune are supposed to befall any village where this occurs; prayers have been built around this superstition.

So propagandists arranged for many kiri leaves to fall on Attu. The story came to light today after Arthur W. Schuett, Jr., naval aviation machinist's mate back from the Aleutians, told in St. Louis how American fliers had dropped "maple leaves" on Attu.

The office of war information, (OWI) revealing that it was "an OWI job," explained that it was not the maple leaf at all, but the kiri leaf.

The kiri tree, known officially as the Paulownia Tomen Tosa, long has figured in Japanese mythology. A famous play,

"Kiri to Ha," meaning "one leaf of kiri," relates how power-grabbing militarists met their downfall because the kiri leaf fell too soon.

Although enlarged somewhat, the kiri leaves dropped on the Japanese at Attu were colored to resemble the real thing. They were made of paper.

Cornerstone of the U. S. capitol was laid September 18, 1793.

Axis Makes Gain Against Yugoslav Guerilla Force

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—Axis forces supported by 25 tanks and a strong air cover have forced their way into the Montenegrin town of Sadnik in the face of fierce resistance by Gen. Draja Mihailovic's guerrilla forces, the Yugoslav government-in-exile announced today.

In another clash, the Yugo-

Tot Rescued From Swirling Creek

DALLAS, June 10 (AP)—Three-year-old Dorothy Hoffman owed her life today to Corrine Johnston, 19.

Dorothy fell from a footbridge into Laeoreole creek yesterday. Her five-year-old brother shouted for help. Corrine ran from her nearby home in time to see the current swirl the little girl into a deep pool.

Corrine dived in, brought Dorothy to shore and applied artificial respiration until Dr. C. E. Phelps arrived.

REWARD

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP)—Peter J. Primeau, who recently filled his house with stray dogs to "save them from the dog catcher," has received official recognition of his role as friend of man's best friend. He was appointed dog catcher.

Our word "trousseau" comes from an old French word meaning "little bundle."
