

Roseburg Fire Cost Near $150,000

ROSEBURG, June 25 (AP)—Damage from yesterday's business district fire, probably the worst in Roseburg's history, will run from $100,000 to $150,000, fire department officials estimated today.

A furniture store and an apparel shop were destroyed and even other buildings damaged.

C. H. McCall, a volunteer fireman who was struck by a grappling hook used in pulling down a charred wall, was the only person injured.

The blaze apparently started in the furniture store's furnace room but its origin has not been determined.

Lighting tops home uses of power, with the 18,000,000 refrigerators of the United States next.

VICTORY SLOGAN
WESTVILLE, N. J. (AP)—Corporal Robert Dunn of Westville writes from Africa that negro artillerymen provided a battle cry for Americans on one sector in the Tunisian campaign.

With each fire order, the boys kissed the projectile and as it went on its way chanted in rhythm, "Rommel, county you men again."

With each subsequent fire order they sang out, "Rommel, count you men again."

Deer antlers are ground into powder and made into "love potions" in China.
