

FOR ARGUMENT REJECTED BY HOUSE, SENATE

John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers.

It provides jail terms and fines for persons instigating a strike in a plant or mine taken over by the government.

Declaring he intended to use the powers of government to prevent the interruption of war production by strikes, Mr. Roosevelt formally recommended amendment of the selective service act so that persons between 45 and 65 years may be inducted into non-combat military service.

"This will enable us," he said, "to induct into military service all persons who engage in strikes, stoppages, or other interruptions of work in plants in the possession of the United States."

Seen Necessary This direct approach is necessary to insure the continuity of war work. The only alternative would be to extend the principle of selective service and make it universal in character.

He said he would approve legislation which would strengthen the hands of the government in dealing with strikes harming the war effort and which would prevent defiance of decisions of the war labor board.

Hits Secret Ballot The president struck heavily at a section of the bill which would make it mandatory for the national labor relations board to take a secret strike ballot among employees in plants, mines and other facilities 30 days after notice of an intention to strike. This section, he said, "will produce strikes in vital war plants which otherwise would not occur."

He said it ignores completely labor's no strike pledge and provides in effect for strike notices and strike ballots. These provisions, he contended, "would stimulate labor unrest and give government sanction to strike agitations."

The veto came as no surprise at the capitol, since the chief executive had said in a statement Tuesday he intended to ask congress to authorize the use of the selective service act as a club against strikes in war industries. His proposal to use the draft in this manner met with a cool reception in both the senate and house, and, even before the veto message arrived, there was talk of immediate attempts to override the president's action and write the proposal into law.

plan to attack Russia again this summer. It is believed that our sustained bombing has something to do with the loose screw.

AN "unofficial source" in London says the Germans are PULLING IN some of their Mediterranean garrisons, notably those in Sicily, Sardinia and Corsica, where only Italians are left. He says the axis has 75 divisions (about 1,125,000 men) in Yugoslavia, Greece, Crete and some of the larger Aegean islands.

That suggests that the Germans think the big push from the south will come by way of the Balkans.

Boasting this idea, 50 American Liberators, operating from bases somewhere at the east end of the Mediterranean, hit Salonika, which is the entrance to the Vardar-Struma gate into the European fortress.

IN the news from the Mediterranean today, this significant sentence occurs: "Once again allied planes RULED THE AIR." Getting complete command of the air will be the FIRST step to be taken before there is ANY invasion of Europe.

Mine-laying was included in RAF operations last night.

The RAF attack was concentrated on the industrial area of Elberfeld, the western section of Wuppertal, the air ministry said.

"The attack was nearly as heavy as that recently made on Barmen, the eastern half of Wuppertal, and from preliminary reports great damage appears to have been done," a communique declared.

Heavy defensive activity was reported by the fliers who returned from the area, which Hitler has packed with anti-aircraft guns, searchlight batteries and fighter planes in an effort to stave off the battering being given his heavy industries in the region.

The German communique said "losses among the populations of the towns attacked are heavy." The communique, broadcast by Berlin and recorded by The Associated Press, said several towns were hit, "in particular Wuppertal-Elberfeld and Remscheid."

HAILSTORM DAMAGES BONANZA GARDENS

BONANZA — A hailstorm which passed over Bonanza and vicinity Thursday between 1:30 and 2:30 p. m., laid waste victory gardens and flowers in that area and covered the ground with a two-inch blanket of frozen rain.

A resident said that when the storm was over and she went out to investigate, she found her garden beaten to the ground. Some of her lettuce leaves, she said, had holes in them as if a bullet had gone through. The hail stones, she claimed, were as large as the ordinary sized marble.

mediately of the effect of the latest statement by the war labor board, indicating it considered the coal case now merely one in which the union should obey its decision of last June 18 and sign the contract the WLB dictated. Few of the miners knew of this development until today.

The eastern Pennsylvania anthracite region reported that 6500 men in collieries of the Shenandoah, Pa., area who worked yesterday voted to stay out today. This was offset by the vote of the three largest locals in Lackawanna county to return to work.

An Associated Press survey indicated 39,000 of the 83,000 hard coal miners were idle yesterday.

West Virginia estimated about 25 per cent of its 130,000 miners remained on strike.

Return In the Pennsylvania soft coal fields, where an estimated 60,000 of the 117,000 miners remained idle, a break occurred last night in the ranks of the strikers when locals of the Gates and Palmer mines of the H. C. Frick Coke company, employing 2100 men near Uniontown, voted to return to work.

Operators estimated about 40 per cent of the 36,000 miners in Pittsburgh's district 5 worked yesterday.

HALT OPERATIONS WILKES BARRE, Pa., June 25 (AP)—All 30 mines in the United Mine Workers district 8 and at least five in district 1 halted operations today as approximately 11,000 more workers joined a revolt in the anthracite field against a back to work order of the UMW's national policy committee.

The action swelled the number idle to approximately two-thirds of the 83,000 men employed in the industry.

DADS DOOMED TO LIFE OF UNCERTAINTY

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—Despite public and congressional pressure, don't expect the official cards to be laid on the table any time soon as far as drafting the nation's pre-Pearl Harbor fathers is concerned.

That was the comment today of D. C. Speaker, unofficial but well informed capital news source, who noted the demand of the house military committee that the country's dads be relieved of their uncertainty.

"Of course, I'm no official," said D. C., mythical District of Columbia observer who represents authentic but unquotable sources, "and personally, I stand by my prediction last week that, barring a major military upset, the general drafting of fathers will be postponed again and again — and perhaps indefinitely."

However, he continued, the officials themselves are not likely to make any such predictions—one way or the other.

"In the first place," Speaker explained, "most of the demands have been aimed at Selective Service Director Hershey, and, despite his authoritative position, his hands are tied."

He stressed that Hershey is unanswerable to the army and navy, and that their attitude on this subject is one of traditional reticence, for a number of reasons.

The smile disappeared when he was told he was late. Scowling slightly, he was driven to the RAF mess to join the king.

While luggage was being unloaded from the plane, the king chatted with Churchill about his experiences. Then the two were driven off.

The king's pilot, who flew the plane on the entire 5800-mile journey, said the trip home was completely uneventful and that the monarch spent most of the night sleeping.

No Investigation Of Riots Planned

DETROIT, June 25 (AP)—Governor Harry F. Kelly said today no grand jury investigation was planned into the race rioting Monday that brought federal troops to restore order on Detroit streets.

The governor accepted a recommendation of his fact-finding committee of four law enforcement officials that such an inquiry was not needed.

"You cannot start a grand jury on hysteria," said one of the committeemen, Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton.

Wrong Number May Still Be Right Number

KANSAS CITY, June 25 (AP)

It's not the wrong number, Miss Margaret Beiser acknowledges in her $20,000 damage suit against Southwestern Bell Telephone company—it's the address.

Previous directories had given her employer, the divorced Dr. O. Jason Dixon, an alternative telephone number (Miss Beiser's), so patients could call her if the doctor were unavailable.

The new directory, her suit complains, flatly lists Dr. Dixon as living at her residence. And this, the petition says, tends to expose her to public contempt, wrath, and ridicule—$20,000 worth.

ROOSEVELT REFUSES OCTOBER DEADLINE

board would have little standing, for it was set up only by executive order—not legislation—and has no plenary power except what President Roosevelt would exercise for it.

John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers (UMW) however, reckon they're working for the government, not the operators. Under the government's conditions, Lewis said the men would work until October 31, though the back-to-work movement has been slow and production still is spotty.

Those same conditions, as extended by the operators, constituted a "yellow dog contract," in Lewis' words.

This set up facts raised a mighty question as to whether Lewis would put his signature to the same document that bears the names of the operators.

The WLB in a brief statement late yesterday, said the labor dispute had been determined finally when it directed the 521,000 strikers to accept substantially the terms of the 1941-1942 contract, plus a few WLB concessions that added up to pay raises of about 20 cents a day. Hence, the board figured that a new contract on that basis should be signed.

This stand was announced after Interior Secretary Ickes, government operator of the mines, had referred in summing up owners to a conference today to "the controversy between the mine workers and the operators," and expressing hope it would be settled speedily.

Immediately the WLB shot back that it had made the final determination of the dispute and as far as it was concerned, there was no controversy.

Meantime thousands still remained away from their jobs but predictions were plenty that the rank and file would be digging coal shortly.

About half of Pennsylvania's 200,000 miners, including the anthracite belt, still were absent. Absenteeism averaged about 25 per cent in West Virginia, 50 per cent in Ohio. Almost all of Alabama's 26,000 were still out and little more than half of Kentucky's workers returned.

SIXTEEN GET NAVY RATINGS FROM KLAMATH

From the 28 applications received Thursday at the local navy recruiting office for the construction battalion, 18 men were assigned ratings and were accepted for enlistment.

Warrant Carpenter Leo J. Wolgamood, rating officer for the Seabees, reported that he was well-pleased with the large number of applicants.

The ratings assigned ranged from third class petty officer to chief petty officer.

Warrant Officer Wolgamood urged that applicants have letters of recommendation as well as a bureau of yards and docks application filled out at the time of interview. This form can be secured at the local recruiting office. Wolgamood intends to be in Klamath Falls at approximately the same time next month.

Hand-to-Hand Fight Develops West of Velikie Luki

LONDON, June 25 (AP)—The German radio said today the red army had resumed a local offensive southwest of Velikie Luki and that bitter hand-to-hand fighting developed.

The broadcast, which covered purported action on the central front about which the Russians have made no official reference, was recorded by Reuters.

The Germans said yesterday that the Russians had broken into the main Nazi defense line below Velikie Luki, but were sealed off by a counterattack.

we made—a joint agreement—was made on the grounds that it satisfied the present need for oil and avoided posting large sums of money.

Meantime the justice department recommended in a report made public today that the government acquire by condemnation proceedings the Standard Oil company of California's $148,000,000 interest in the Elk Hills reserves.

The report, prepared by Assistant Attorney General Norman M. Littell, was presented to the house public lands committee investigating the cancelled oil contract with the navy department.

Littell's report said what he has testified: That the contract went "beyond" the Teapot Dome leases of the 20's.

Inflation Seen Main Issue in Food Question

we want to go into an inflationary spiral or not.

Suppose we had the Angel Gabriel as a food czar, the chief executive remarked. How is he going to get more food to the public at the present cost?

Sure, he went on, we all favor growing more in 1944, that would be grand. But he said it would not take care of late 1943 or early 1944 and that congress could not take care of that period, or a food czar.

Some people on Capitol Hill, the president asserted, think the easiest way to use up surplus buying power is to let prices go sky high. And, speaking in a sarcastic manner, he said he had heard someone on the radio suggest the same thing.

This latter person, Mr. Roosevelt said, asserted the richer people would be able to pay higher prices and the poor would suffer but that surplus buying power would be eliminated under such conditions.
