LOS ANGELES, June 29 (AP)—Twelve hits, including four booming homers, rattled off Andy Pafko's bat during the past week as the Los Angeles outfielder boosted his batting average 3 points to .411 and clung firmly to his Pacific coast league leadership. Pafko was at bat 27 official times during the week including last Sunday's games.

Lucky Ducks Drop Opener To Friscans

Seals Shellack Beavers by 8 to 2; Portlanders Look Bad After Long Climb Up

By The Associated Press
The lucky Portland Beavers, who have been boosting their stock in the Pacific Coast Baseball league regularly of late, came a cropper as they opened a nine-game series against the San Francisco Seals in the Seals' home stadium yesterday.

Although she has to keep it tightly bound and walks with a slight limp, the Minneapolis redhead has not developed an inferiority complex about it. Her cheery personality flows on. In fact, after an interview with her, she leaves the impression that she is downright proud of that scarred knee, which was twisted and crushed in an auto mishap in Texas in December, 1941.

Patty was in her usual jolly frame of mind after eliminating the veteran match play ace, Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, Mo., 5 and 3 to move into today's second round of the women's western open. Patty, the tournament medalist with a neat par 76, drew a capable opponent, Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich. If she survives this morning's round the gallant comebacker will sweep into the quarter finals in the afternoon. But 36 holes of competition frankly worried her.

Patty Berg's Tricky Knee Holds Up for Second Round

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO, June 30 (AP)—There seldom was a knee in sports history, including those tricky ones of football stars, that has become as famous as Patty Berg's.

Although she has to keep it tightly bound and walks with a slight limp, the Minneapolis redhead has not developed an inferiority complex about it. Her cheery personality flows on. In fact, after an interview with her, she leaves the impression that she is downright proud of that scarred knee, which was twisted and crushed in an auto mishap in Texas in December, 1941.

Draft Makes New Inroads in Major League Baseball Clubs

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The major leagues had a double reason to be "war conscious" today. The first was that this is the first of the two days this season set aside by all major league clubs for donating all receipts to the National War Relief Fund and the other was that the draft has just touched baseball anew.

Three top-ranking players were called for induction yesterday and out of the trio the army took one, Jimmy Brown, captain of the St. Louis Cardinals, and rejected two, Vernon Stephens and George McQuinn of the St. Louis Browns.

This served to re-open discussion of the effect of the draft on the pennant races. Yesterday's developments should help the last place Browns toward their goal of finishing in the American league's first division and might slow down, but hardly could stop, the campaign of the Cardinals for another National league flag.

The loss of Brown in the spring would have been considered a vital blow to the Cardinals, but in the meantime the field leader of the world champions lost his regular second base berth to a rookie, Lou Klein, and his absence now will be felt only in reserve strength.

He plans to remain with the Cardinals two weeks longer, taking the customary furlough allowed inductees.

Stephens apparently was deferred because of a knee injury suffered a month ago and McQuinn because of a back injury.

Draft calls are pending the key players of other clubs—for Babe Dahlgren of the Phillies, the National league's batting leader, for Johnny Vander Meer of the Reds, for Gerry Priddy and Mickey Vernon of the Senators and others whose loss before the season ends may have a direct effect on the final standings.

But with the season nearly half gone the demands of war have not had a damaging effect on the ranking of any club except the New York Giants, whose last place position in the National league is the result of inductions before the season opened and the failure of the clubs to try for adequate replacements.

KLAMATH SPORT NOTES

By VIRGIL GROSS
The Pelican baseball team will rest over the Fourth of July and resume play the following weekend with an unnamed opponent. The attendance at Sunday's game was terrible and a disgrace to baseball itself. There was scarcely enough money made on this game to pay the expenses of the Bend team, let alone pay for balls and bats and the umpires. As a result of the poor crowd, Pete Lesmeister, Pelican business manager, says few home games can possibly be scheduled this year since the team would undoubtedly get deeply in debt.

Bud Larson, last year's Pelican shortstop, from latest reports had a chance to sign with the Brooklyn Dodgers, but did not sign because of the uncertainty of his military status. The Dodgers would have sent him to the Durham club in South Carolina, a class B outfit.

Bill Hanauka definitely showed improvement in his pitching in Sunday's encounter with Bend—especially in control. He seems to have lost the wildness he had two years ago while with the Pelicans, and works on the corners on every pitch. His speed and curve balls have definitely bettered along with his experience.

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP)—The clocks will start striking V-12 o'clock at a good many colleges tomorrow and a lot of coaches who have been wondering whether they'd have jobs next fall can start finding out for sure. . . . In case you can't guess, V-12 o'clock stands for the hour when large batches of navy trainees will report at the colleges. Ditto smaller batches of marines. . . . It may bring good news, too. For instance, Yale is getting Sam Mele and Johnny Simmons, better-than-fair basketball and baseball players from NYU via the marines. . . . Tub Thumper Horace Renegar of Tulane reports that if he had to draw up a football roster right now, he'd have just one name, Joe Renfro, who is 4-F but an all-America halfback possibility. Nevertheless Horace figures that navy trainees will help give the green wave a good team. . . .

A SHORT SNORTER
When Dewey "Snorter" Luster, Oklahoma grid coach, learned that ten of his sooners were being called up by the marines, leaving him with only one survivor of last year's squad, Boone Baker, a sophomore wingback, Snorter moaned: "Looks like we're coming in on a wingback and a prayer."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Bill Reddy, Syracuse (N.Y.) Post-Standard: "One of the men who didn't pick his job because it went well with his name is the bluecoated arbiter working here with Roy Van Grafian. The umpire's name is Robb."

BARKLEY UP THE WRONG TREE
Wichita baseball fans insist this column was in error in saying that Red Barkley, the new Dodger shortstop, wasn't a "regular" on the Cessna semi-pro team last year just because he played only half his team's games in the national tourney. It was a leg injury that kept him out. . . . Incidentally, Branch Rickey reports that Barkley has made himself popular with the Dodgers by cussing himself out when he returns to the bench after making a bad play. . . . "I got the impression," says Branch, "that he was—well, kind of screwballish."

SERVICE DEPT.
Yeoman Morris Siegel, sports columnist of the Norfolk naval training station "Seabag" reports that Phil Rizzuto has done more damage to the rival naval air station team "than the allied fliers did to Pantelleria." In a recent five-game series in which every game was decided by a single run, Phil was either directly or indirectly responsible for every winning tally. . . . Marine boxers lost, 6-5, to a royal Australian air force team in a series of

Woods May Be Closed During Maneuvers
PORTLAND, June 30 (AP)—Hunters and fishermen may be barred from central Oregon by army maneuvers. State Game Supervisor Frank Wire said yesterday that the state game commission virtually was certain to comply with an army request to prohibit hunting and fishing in the maneuver area. Most of Deschutes county and parts of Crook, Grant, Harney, Lake and Klamath counties would be affected.

Hutchinson May Move in on Beau Jack for Finish
NEW YORK, June 30 (AP)—Johnny Hutchinson, comparatively little known Philadelphia teacher of lightweight Champion Bob Montgomery, may finish what his famous pupil started against Beau Jack. The former Augusta, Ga., shoe-shine boy took a terrific beating from Montgomery six weeks ago in Madison Square garden, being jolted from his lightweight title by the Bobcat's savage body thumping. Hutchinson, who in many quarters is regarded as packing a more potent punch than Montgomery, takes on The Beau July 19 at Philadelphia's Shibe Park. If Johnny "works on" The Beau as Montgomery did, Jack may be forced to forego a promised return title bout with the Bobcat.

NAVY BEATS CUBS
TORONTO, June 30 (AP)—The Great Lakes naval training station rapped out 15 hits off four Chicago Cub pitchers yesterday to defeat the National leaguers, 11-7, in an exhibition game. It was the third win for the naval team over the Cubs.

COMMERCIAL HELD
PORTLAND, June 30 (AP)—Larry Jansen, former pitcher for the San Francisco Seals, held Commercial Iron Works to four hits last night as Marine Electric won a War Industries league game, 2 to 0.
