A Marine is dressed to kill

TRADITIONALLY "first to fight," the Marines go into combat with everything from rifles and knives to "fox-hole" spades. And their tough, jungle-green uniforms will take plenty of punishment.

The garments our Marines wear are designed for comfort and fighting efficiency. Even to the undershorts — with correct weights and styles for any shores.

You can have comfort and modern styling in underwear, too. For, during the past 40 years, the makers of HANES Underwear have developed the art of turning downy cotton into underwear that feels good on you and gives long service.

For instance, the HANES-designed Crotch-Guard Shorts (shown at right) provided gentle athletic support. For complete summer comfort, wear them with a HANES Undershirt. Knit to exact chest size. Its highly absorbent fabric evaporates perspiration quicker — keeps you cooler and your top-shirt fresher. P. H. Hanes Knitting Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Corporal John W. "Pete" Green, of the airborne engineers, is now in Australia, according to word received here by his wife. Corporal Green entered the army January 15 of this year, and was sent to Australia about a month ago.

Major Dayton E. Van Vector, former city attorney and prominently identified in civic work in Klamath Falls, is now serving overseas and has written friends that "a cup of coffee and a letter from home" would please him very much just now.

Major Van Vector has been in London and described the people as "the type that 'can sure take it.' Right now he is stationed where the 'sun sets about 11:30 p. m.'" Van's friends can write to him in care of the Sixth Airdrome Squadron, APO No. 638, New York.

ALL-OUT
SPRINGFIELD, Ore. (AP)—Springfield's entire police department has resigned. The force—Chief Ted Rinucane and Capt. Jim Beach are all of it—joined the navy Seabees. No crime wave yet, either.

It won't be long now (until invasion). There won't be one big smash, but several of them in several places—Malcolm MacDonald, British High Commissioner to Canada.

BOY SCOUTS TO HOLD PRE-CAMP RALLY FRIDAY

All Boy Scouts of Klamath Falls will take part in a pre-camp rally at Moore park this Friday evening at 6 p. m. According to Lloyd Prock, district commissioner, a full attendance of boys is expected because of the fact that Scouts have been asked to bring other boys of 12 years of age and over as their guests. Prock also pointed out that any boy over 12 years of age is invited to attend even though a Scout does not bring him.

The boys will bring sack lunches and picnic in the park. Ice cream will be furnished. Following the picnic, a number of competitive Scout games will be conducted including "steer dogy," a fireman's carry relay race, a treasure hunt and other events. Scouts and their guests will participate in these activities.

After the contests, there will be a campfire period where information about the summer Boy Scout camp will be presented. It's fine to believe in yourself, but don't be too easily convinced.

Parliament Member Killed in Crash

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—Brig. Gen. J. P. Whiteley, 45, a member of the British parliament, was killed in the plane crash in which General Wladyslaw Sikorski, premier of the Polish government-in-exile, lost his life Sunday night off Gibraltar, the house of commons was informed today.
