firmed report from Switzerland says preliminary negotiations for an armistice have already been started at the Vatican.

IN considering the moves that are being made, we must remember that the Italians still have the Germans on their necks and at their throats. They naturally want to avoid, if possible, a last-minute vengeance butchery by their enraged Nazi masters.

WE also want to avoid anarchy in Italy—a point brought out by Churchill in his talk to the commons, in which he warns against throwing Italy into such POLITICAL CHAOS that we will have no government left to deal with.

THE crisis in Italy dwarfs for the moment all other war news. The Russians are still hammering away at Orel.

In the Pacific, our army fighter-bombers pound Kiska with what the dispatches describe as "pre-invasion" thoroughness.

Our Liberators raid Wake island, shooting down half of the intercepting Zeros with the loss of one bomber.

MUNDA seems to be Guadalcanal over again. Blasting fight-to-the-death Japs out of tangled jungles is a slow process. Working from island to island, it will take a long time to get to Tokyo.

But don't forget that at EACH island the Japs lose a lot of ships and planes, and ships and planes are necessary to the maintenance of their island empire.

HOWARD HULS DIES SUDDENLY AT LAKE HOME

Railroad companions and his many other friends were saddened Tuesday by the death of Howard E. (Buzz) Huls, 60, who before his retirement last year, was general yardmaster for Southern Pacific here.

Mr. Huls passed away suddenly of a heart attack Monday at his summer home at Lake o' the Woods.

A Southern Pacific employe for 30 years, "Buzz," as he was called by his acquaintances, had worked for that railroad locally since 1927, coming here from Ashland.

Mr. Huls was born in Hocking county, Ohio. There he started his railroad career in 1903 on the Hocking valley line, holding various positions in the yard office. Three years later he came west and worked at Sparks, Nev., as switchman. Later he was transferred to Dunsmuir, and in 1916 came to Klamath Falls for the first time. After a year, however, he was sent to Ashland, but in 1927, was back in Klamath Falls as general yardmaster. He had held that position here ever since.

Before his retirement, Mr. Huls was one of the oldest yardmasters in point of service in the entire Southern Pacific system.

A few years ago, "Buzz" was one of the city's highest ranking tennis players, and among his other favorite pastimes were hunting, boating and fishing.

Besides his many friends here Mr. Huls leaves his wife, Ora; a brother, Gifford, of Columbus, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. Dan Roberts of Logan, Ohio, and Mrs. J. W. Littleton of Toledo, Ohio. He was a member of Dunsmuir lodge No. 297 AF&AM.

Trade News

Interesting Notes of Herald and News Advertisers, Their Products and Activities

The Pacific Coast Paper Mills of Bellingham, Wash., have established right to full use of the well known "M-D" trademark on toilet papers and other paper products.

The federal trade commission notified Walter B. Whitcomb, attorney for the paper mill, from Washington, D. C., it had dismissed a complaint with respect to the use of the trademark by the Bellingham company.

"It is a complete victory for the Pacific Coast Paper Mills," Attorney Whitcomb said.

Vern E. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Phillips, 1943 Gary street, Klamath Falls, has been promoted to corporal since his graduation from the air corps radio school in Chicago. Corporal Phillips is now a full-fledged radio operator-mechanic and is being sent to another city for training of a Clifford, also a corporal, with the United States ground forces somewhere in Africa, that in his last letter home said he had sent service in French Morocco, Algeria, and Tunisia and had seen a large number of axis prisoners taken.

Mrs. Phillips has a brother in the service too, PFC Floyd A. Trask is stationed with the army engineers at Fort Lewis, Wash.

CAMP LEE, Va.—Myron L. Henry of 1415 Gary street, Klamath Falls, upon completion of the intensive 13-week course for officer candidates at the quartermaster school here, was recently commissioned second lieutenant in the army.

SANTA MONICA—PFC William F. O'Connor, son of Mrs. Alice J. O'Connor of 1705 Main street, Klamath Falls, has qualified as an army air force technician, recently completing intensive training in aircraft depot overhaul at the army air forces technical training command school at Curtiss-Wright technical institute, Glendale, Calif.

Dale Hunsaker, one of the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hunsaker of Summers lane, has sent in a poem entitled "Do This." Dale enlisted in the navy last July and is now in a naval hospital in the South Pacific.

The poem is as follows:
Still laugh, said he, when I'm away,
And gather all the flowers of May,
Still keep in my room the pictures all
That I have loved upon the wall.
For I shall want them every one—
The moment that the war is done.

Still play the records, dance and sing,
And spread no fears by sorrowing.
Be happy every time you can
For Victory—work and play and plan.
For I shall want you looking well
When we have fired the final shell.

Still bake the pies, as it might be
That I were coming home for tea.
Still plant the garden there about,
Still grub the sturdy thistle out
And stake the blue delphinium
As if the war had never come.

For if the struggle shall be long,
At home there must be mirth and song
Since these are what we fight to keep.
So hide away if you must weep
And be as brave at home, as we
Who fight this war on land and sea.

CHILD CARE VOLUNTEERED BY 75 HOMES

At least 75 Klamath homes have offered to care for children of working mothers, according to results of the recent block leader survey. In addition, 25 homes have volunteered to take children for full time care.

Seventeen families have requested the placement of youngsters, and additional calls of this nature are anticipated.

Files are not yet entirely complete, but should be soon. Anyone who has not been contacted by block leaders as yet and who is interested in either placing or taking in children are asked to call the Klamath county welfare commission at 4111.
