TWO UNDULANT FEVER CASES NOTED HERE

Two cases of undulant fever, a rather rare disease for this locality, but which springs up occasionally here, were reported in Klamath county this week. The disease, which acts somewhat like typhoid, is usually contracted from milk of infected cows. A victim of the illness can have it for some time without being aware of it.

As the name implies, the fever comes and goes. A person with the disease will feel perfectly well for perhaps a month and suddenly get an attack of the fever which may last up to two weeks. Following this, he may feel well again for several weeks before being subjected to another attack. Undulant fever is diagnosed through a blood test.

Other communicable diseases reported locally this week were: typhoid, 1; measles, 1; whooping cough, 1; chicken pox, 1; mumps, 1; syphilis, 1.

REV. WISSENBACH TALKS TO ROTARY

Reverend F. C. Wissenschbach of the Episcopal church was the main speaker at the Rotary club on Friday noon, when he discussed a collection of his paintings.

Reverend Wissenschbach explained that while painting was his hobby, he had studied art and at the age of 21 was accredited as a "master painter."

His subjects included a few landscapes and a number of portraits. Indians of the western tribes were the subject of many of the portraits, including one of the sister of Chief Joseph, noted Indian military leader in the early west.

Reverend Wissenschbach explained that in learning his Indian subjects, he had lived with them in their villages and was adopted under the name of "Broken Tree-Top," which, to the Indians, implied a guide to his people.

Ed Kliff, president of the Lakeview Rotary club, was a visitor at the meeting.

Stockman Charges Milk Mismanagement

PRINEVILLE, Aug. 7 (P)—Office of price administration (OPA) handling of the central Oregon milk problem, believes Rep. Lowell Stockman (R-Ore.), is the "worst mismanaged" on the home front.

The congressman told the chamber of commerce that OPA accountants went to The Dalles, "contacted a few dairymen, examined their books and proudly announced that dairymen in that district have been making money and are still making money under ceiling prices. In the meantime, 10 of them went broke and out of business and the other two are in operation only because the city is subsidizing them in the hope OPA will wake up to the facts before it is too late."

Frankie's "Hello, hello!" greeting is familiar to NBC, CBS, and MBS listeners from coast to coast, for he has starred on such programs as "The Fitch Bandwagon," "Spotlight Bands," Columbia's "Dance House," Edgar Guest's "It Can Be Done," "The Show of the Week," and several commercial presentations.

A triple-threat man in an organization acclaimed for its versatility, Masters serves as leader, singer and master of ceremonies.

CESTORS of the present Germans. They were hell-on-wheels, he said (not in so many words, but that was his drift) as long as they were WINNING, but when broken and turned back by the superior discipline and arms of the Roman legions they ran pell-mell for the cover of their forests and were thereafter not much to be feared.

What has happened before CAN happen again.

DON'T jump to the foolish conclusion that the war is over except for the shouts of victory. Follow in your personal thinking the wise policy of hoping for the best and preparing for the worst.

Remember that even if the Germans should crumple up and quit, more or less as the Italians have done, we still have a fanatical and powerful enemy in the Pacific who has to be disposed of.

But don't overlook the plain fact that the German situation has changed sharply for the worse and that the full and shattering impact of the change is just beginning to be felt by the German people.

It won't be surprising if they're beginning to feel panicky.

When the inevitable press conference question came up regarding Halsey's prediction last New Year's Day that Japan would be defeated by the end of 1943, the admiral broke into an ear-to-ear grin and replied: "I refuse to gaze into the crystal ball any more."

Seated at his big headquarters desk, surrounded by correspondents, Halsey then displayed the congratulations he had received from the commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, for the capture of Munda. It was meant for "all hands" he told us.
