'CADETTES' ESTABLISHED AT TULELAKE

TULELAKE—Evelyn Nelson, employed in the Tulelake branch, Bank of America, who assisted with the organization of the Klamath Falls Commandos, will serve in Tulelake's service organization, the Cadettes, as commander.

Organization of the unit which will serve not only the military personnel of Camp Newell but all visiting service men, was completed August 12 with the assistance of Mrs. French E. Johnson, chairman of the local USO. Mrs. Johnson will be assisted by Mrs. Ralph Ganger and Mrs. J. C. Stevenson Jr., in an advisory capacity.

As a start at financing the unit, which will operate on the same plan as the Commandos, the girls sponsored a cooked food sale Saturday. The group is sponsoring also a collection of "junk" jewelry to be sent to service men in the South Pacific area for barter with the natives.

Mrs. Johnson announced that boxes will be placed at Earl's grocery and in the lobby of the Marcha theatre and anyone having costume jewelry, particularly if it shines, who cares to contribute it to the men in the service, may leave it at either station.

Mrs. Johnson and her Cadettes will be concerned in the near future with the need for assisting service men's families in obtaining living quarters somewhere in the Klamath basin. While no official announcement has been made as to the number of additional military police who will be stationed at Camp Newell, it is possible that provisions must be made for wives or families of 500 men.

In connection with the service work being done in the community, Mrs. Johnson paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Vaclav Kalina of the Broadway theatre, Malin, who each Monday night admit a truckload of service men from Newell to the theatre without charge.

The Cadettes will meet each Thursday night in the W. H. Anderson agricultural office.

NO NEWS IS GOOD NEWS ABOUT KISKA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) Secretary Knox said today of the navy's prolonged silence on operations against Kiska Island: "no news is good news."

There has been no announced action against Kiska since July 30. When the navy secretary was asked at his press conference why there should be such an absence of information about an island on which announcements previously had been made almost daily. He first said that he presumed bad weather had brought on a period of inactivity. A newsman suggested that warships which bombarded the island several times during July should be able to operate regardless of the weather.

Knox grinned and said: "well, you know the old story — no news is good news."

Quoted from a letter...

"My conscience hurts me today."
"When I was washing up before getting off the train this morning, I learned that six sailors and three soldiers had set up all night. These men were making this trip under orders—yet there was no sleeping space available for them."
"When I think of the effort you of Southern Pacific, along with other railroads, are making to care for our service men—and then remember that I obtained a berth that should have gone to a service man—it humiliates me. I was due back for a War Bond meeting today and at the time it seemed important. But compared with taking accommodations away from soldiers and sailors my presence here was highly unessential."
"It has been a good lesson for me. Hereafter I shall travel only when I know I'm not depriving service men of sleeping space..."

How's YOUR conscience today?

The letter quoted here came from a western newspaper editor and publisher. This man has a conscience that can't be lulled to sleep by easy self-reassurances. We hope many other prospective travelers will listen to the "still small voice" of their conscience when it asks questions like these:
How much business and how much pleasure are involved in the train trip I plan? Is it really important for me to visit those relatives back East this war year? Couldn't I get just as much rest and relaxation a little closer to home?
Today the railroad is hard-pressed to find space for essential travelers: People whose trip must be made to keep business and war production going... Service men on well-deserved furloughs, possibly the last before combat duty... Parents going to visit their son when the latter can't get away from his post. When people travel for pleasure, or other non-essential reasons, they prevent such deserving travelers from getting on the train. Yes, we sincerely mean it when we say: "Don't take the train unless your trip is really NECESSARY."
