kov, and a soviet communique announced new successes all along the line as the Russian forces drove toward Poltava, 75 miles to the southwest and little more than halfway to the nazis' Dnieper river defense line.

The war bulletin—broadcast from Moscow—said the nazis, exhausted by the battle for Khar'kov, were rushing reserves into the line but in spite of this the red army advanced both south and west of the city, killing 2000 Germans and disabling 25 tanks in sharp fighting. Northwest of the city other units of the Russian army captured several villages.

Near Rost The communique indicated that the German retreat from Khar'kov was reaching the proportions of a rout with the nazis troops abandoning considerable stocks of war material and armored equipment.

(The German high command said the "big battle of defense in the east continues with unabated ferocity," but insisted that soviet attacks collapsed. The nazi communique, broadcast from Berlin and recorded by The Associated Press, said 263 red army tanks and 95 planes were destroyed yesterday.)

Losses High German losses in armored equipment and planes were reported running high as the nazis recklessly expended their strength in a vain effort to stem the Russian surge. The communique said that on Monday alone the red army had destroyed 77 tanks and 106 planes in fighting on all fronts.

The Khar'kov area continued to be the focal point of the Russian advance. The fall of the city gave the soviets several objectives to aim at, but the most likely choice was Poltava with Kiev, Ukrainian capital 250 miles to the west on the Dnieper, as the big goal of the summer offensive.

In the Donets basin, southwest of Voroshilovgrad, where the Russians previously reported they had breached the nazi lines, the red army broke up German counter-attacks, inflicted heavy losses and captured several towns, the soviet communique declared.

Mrs. Brown stated that for ten months the dairy operators have been trying to reach an adjustment with the OPA, and that recently an increase of from 31 to 35 cents a gallon was granted for milk purchased from the producers. But the OPA refused to increase the retail price.

This didn't help the dairymen here, Mrs. Brown said, because all distributors in the area are producers.

Six More Guards Under Arrest at Plane Factory

JOHNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 25 (AP)—Six more guards were placed under military arrest today at the Brewster Aeronautical corporation's Johnsville plant where similar action against four others two days ago led to a walkout that has halted airplane production and brought war labor board intervention.

Acting Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal told the corporation that the loss of a single navy combat plane because of a work stoppage "is a tragedy."

The fourth naval district public relations officer said the six were charged with violating their "military obligation" by failing to report for duty Monday. The four previously arrested were charged with failing to take their post of duty after reporting for work. All are members of the coast guard temporary reserve, but are paid by the company.

Meanwhile employees continued to defy a WLB order for a resumption of work, despite a warning from the board that it would take "all steps within its authority" to compel compliance.
