POSSE MEMBERS BUY BONDS IN AUGUST DRIVE

Sheriff's posse members have bought about $3000 in war bonds in the last two days in an effort to assist the American Legion in reaching the Klamath bond quota.

Members of the posse were urged by Sheriff Low on Friday to make still further effort before the deadline passes Saturday night.

A bond auction is slated for Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Eighth and Main streets. Various merchandise articles will be offered and some surprises are promised.

About $3000 was raised in an auction conducted by Lee Jacobs at a Legion meeting at Malin Friday night.

The letter explained that the delay in the establishment of the plant here was due to difficulty in securing priorities for equipment. It expressed regret that the company had not been able to start construction earlier, but said that they were now ready to go ahead with the installing of equipment as all necessary plans had already been lined up.

borg, where the population joined those of other cities in protesting against the lack of discipline by German soldiers. The Danes accused many soldiers of attacking without provocation and hurrying hand grenades into crowds of persons who refused to disperse when ordered.

Authorities Confer Danish and German authorities have been conferring all week on the revolt, which started on August 16, and the Nazi ambassador to Denmark, Werner Best went to Berlin several days ago to report on the situation. It was reported that Best would not return to Denmark and that Gen. Hermann von Hannecken, commander of the German occupation army, would institute some form of military rule in a further attempt to preserve order.

It was understood here that Danish government leaders told the Germans that the Danes would make no further concessions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP) Official reports to the department of state indicate that French leaders in North Africa are "pleased and satisfied" with the recognition extended to the French national committee of liberation. Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today.

He told his press conference that reports from Algiers show that the French regard the steps taken following the Quebec conference as a sound basis for a thoroughly happy and satisfactory understanding on an expanding basis.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP) A Reuters dispatch from Switzerland today said the renowned mural, "The Last Supper," of Leonardo Da Vinci escaped damage in recent RAF raids on Milan, but the walls of the Santa Maria Delle Grazie church where it is housed were reported near collapse.

PORTLAND, Aug. 27 (AP)—FBI Agent Russell P. Kramer admitted today he was stumped. Kramer, chief of FBI's office here, has been trying for three weeks to run down a tricycle. But no luck.

And his three-year-old son, Rusty, is expecting it from Santa Claus.

WORK TO BEGIN ON DEHYDRATION PLANT

Installation of machinery at the dehydration plant will soon begin, it was learned Friday in a letter from the Paulus Brothers Packing company of Salem to the chamber of commerce here.

The letter explained that the delay in the establishment of the plant here was due to difficulty in securing priorities for equipment. It expressed regret that the company had not been able to start construction earlier, but said that they were now ready to go ahead with the installing of equipment as all necessary plans had already been lined up.

KLAMATH WOMAN'S NEPHEW KILLED

Mrs. Fred Lekburg of Klamath Falls has received word that her nephew, Staff Sergeant Ernest A. Lekburg of Boring, Oregon, was killed in action in the Southwest Pacific on August 2.

His mother is Mrs. August Lekburg of Boring. Sergeant Lekburg was 23 years old and had been in the army for three years. He was stationed with the supply room of the infantry.

Young Lekburg attended Linfield college at McMinnville for a short time before he entered the army. He has visited in Klamath Falls several times.

mediately of saving the mill and boiler house, and devoted their efforts to protecting the feeding sheds and hay and stopping spot fires in the surrounding grass lands. Fire in a water tower was extinguished, and a building containing several motors, located close to the boiler house was saved.

Pole Burns Copco's No. 4 transmission line passed over the edge of the fire area and soon a two-pole tower supporting the line was burning at the top. The tower finally fell, but the lines had been deadened to avoid danger from live wires. Copco reported only a few service connections were out because of the fire, and service was quickly restored.

Origin of the fire was undetermined. Salvage operators had been working in the boiler house, according to O'Connor. Several days ago, fire from a salvage blow torch had started in sawdust some distance from the mill.

Red Hot Stacks Work of taking down two smokestacks above the boiler house has been under way for some time. The stacks grew red hot in last night's fire, but did not fall. Two wooden spars attached to the lower stack caught on fire, and a burning rope swung flames crazily around the middle part of this stack.

Equipment in the boiler house was being removed for shipment to the Potlatch Forests mill in Idaho, and to the Clover Creek Lumber company in Northern California. Weyerhaeuser Timber company had sold this equipment.

Weyerhaeuser acquired the mill property about a year ago from Long-Bell Lumber company, and immediately began dismantling the plant. Long-Bell had operated a mill there for several years. The mill plant was built in 1923 by the Shaw-Bertram Lumber company, which acquired the site from the old Chelsea Box company.

O'Connor had planned to use the mill and other sheds for a butchering plant he planned for the future in connection with his livestock operations there.

O'Connor today asked that all persons who helped fight the fire be told of his sincere appreciation of their efforts. They saved his feed and newly-built sheds, he said.

Sheriff's officers, the county fire department, Klamath Forest Protective association men, O'Connor's own crew, and many others joined in fighting the blaze.
