railroad running from Latvia eastward through Smolensk and into central Russia.

Stalin called Yelnya an "operationally important large road junction and the most important center of resistance on the defenses in the Smolensk direction."

Day After Taganrog

The capture of Yelnya, a day after the capture of Taganrog more than 60 miles to the south, gave striking proof of the power of the soviet summer offensive.

Red army cavalry and tank units on the Sea of Azov were reported wiping out remnants of the German garrison of Taganrog which had fled west of the city, and were advancing to threaten the seaport of Mariupol, 75 miles to the west. They already had driven along the coast 28 miles toward the Miu river city.

yesterday in the Humptulips area.

Sheriff M. B. Taylor said a search warrant was found in Handron's pocket permitting him to search Strube's automobile. It contained the allegation that Handron believed the car was being used to transport elk meat illegally.

Strube and his wife, said Deputy Sheriff George Hastings of Montezano, have been operating a small garden on their ranch in the area in partnership with another man.

Strube, said Deputy Hastings, gave this account of the shooting. Strube, carrying his .22 automatic rifle, was about to return to his car with some vegetables when his dog made a disturbance in the brush and Strube went in about 100 feet to investigate. As he climbed over a windfall log, a man, who had a piece of brush on his hat, rose up and fired.

"His first shot hit me and knocked me down," the deputy quoted Strube as saying. "He shot again twice, but both missed." He could only see the other man's head, he said, but he shot several times in quick succession.

KING APPROVES RESISTANCE TO DICTATORSHIP

were Skagen, Jhoerhing, Saeb, Aalborg, Viborg, Aarhus, Grenaa, Fredericia and Svenborg. Extraordinary efforts were taken to prevent spread of the strikes to other industrial centers.

The strikes indicated the Danes were uncowed by threats of drastic penalties, including death, under Von Hannecken's martial law decree instituted before dawn Sunday, when he stripped the government of Premier Eric Scavenius of all power and sent a nazi captain to tell King Christian, "you are my prisoner."

Outside Government

With the sovereign and the government, which resigned within a few hours, apparently powerless, Danish citizens living in Stockholm expressed belief that political leaders outside Denmark would form a free Danish government in London and ally it formally with the United Nations.

Free Danish leaders headed by Christmas Moeller have been functioning in London, but until now had no authority to exercise governmental powers. The nazi overlords recognized the threat of Moeller's influence in Denmark by immediately arresting most of the leaders of his conservative party.

State of War—Danish legal experts in Sweden took the view today that a state of war now exists between Germany and Denmark since the military dictatorship powers which Von Hannecken says he is applying under article 42 of the Hague convention can be exercised only by an enemy force.

Confronting Von Hannecken was an abdication threat from King Christian. Refugees reported the king said he would step down if the Germans arrested Danes as hostages in connection with battles, sabotage or other disturbances.

Denmark's most popular and influential figure, he maintained that innocent persons should not be arrested.

Edward Warren Recommended for Purple Heart

Edward Warren, shipfitter third class in the navy has been recommended for the Purple Heart award, according to word reaching his mother, Mrs. Mary Warren, 2441 South Sixth street.

Warren was wounded in action, but he has now returned to duty. He enlisted in the navy in November of 1939, after going to Klamath Union high school for three years.

A brother, Samuel R. Warren, also in the navy, is now home on leave until September 8 when he will rejoin his ship. He has been in several battles and is an air corps mechanic first class.

part of Italy the Germans intend to hold, the harder they fight back.

ON the rumor side today, a German foreign office military spokesman tells a Swedish correspondent that our side is making new invasion preparations in the Mediterranean. He says fleets of allied transports, invasion barges and warships are being gathered in Tunisia, in Sicily and at Oran, and adds that 300,000 French troops are assembled at Oran. He suggests that we're getting ready for an attack on southern Italy or Mediterranean France.

It might be.

CHURCHILL, speaking in Canada today, says we won't launch any second front on the Atlantic wall of Europe UNTIL MILITARY SUCCESS IS CERTAIN. We're not going to spend men's lives recklessly, he adds, in an abortive second front for political purposes.

(One guesses he's talking to Stalin.)

CHURCHILL repeats that the Quebec conference was concerned principally with "inflamming" war against Japan with whom Russia is NOT at war, so that Russian representation at Quebec would have been embarrassing to the soviet.

He expresses again the hope for a United Nations conference at which Russia WILL be represented.

THERE'S obviously a screw loose with British-American AFTER THE WAR relations with Russia.

Why—and what about? This writer doesn't KNOW, but suggests that you take a look at the map of Russia—preferably on your globe, which tells the whole story.

Note Russia's vast LAND extent. Then note the scarcity and the inefficient and unsatisfactory location of her PORTS.

The greatest (in land area) nation on earth has the FEWEST AND POOREST ports.

THIS port situation has been a sore thorn with Russia for well over a century. Her desire for WARM WATER ports has entered into every peace conference in recent history.

Invariably, Russia has been DONE DIRT in her warm water port aspirations.

Quite frequently it has been Britain who did the dirt.

IT'S a fair guess that THIS TIME Stalin is going to HAVE what Russia wants and needs in the way of ports (and other facilities) and isn't making ANY commitments in advance that might result in tangling him up and preventing him from getting what Russia has so often before been prevented from getting.

Fattens Stock—There are 2800 head of cattle in the Malin corrals at present. The firm buys 2-year-old Herefords, making extensive cattle purchases locally and shipping the fattened stock to the Acme Packing company at Seattle.

The animals are not held more than 90 days. In good weather, a gain of 21 pounds a day is noted. Some steers are fattened to a weight of 1800 pounds, but the average is around 1500 pounds.

The Malin Feeding company employs 15 men.

ing to School Superintendent Arnold Gralapp's report, were 1024 as against 1074 last year; 891 of these were youngsters from this district and 123 are from outlying communities such as Keno.

More Expected—There were, too, besides the registered students, about 75 pupils not yet enrolled, and it was the expectation that by Wednesday the total high school enrollment would be about 1100. Should this happen, the total enrollment in all city schools will be slightly higher than in 1942.

Elementary school figures were 1370 against 1497 last year. The junior high school at Fremont, composed entirely of eighth grade pupils, enrolled 194 students today against 202 a year ago.

that it will be because we are satisfied that there is a good prospect of continuing success and that our soldiers are expended in accordance with sound military plans and not squandered for political considerations of any kind."

Churchill said a tripartite meeting among Britain, the United States and Russia "would be of very great advantage to everyone, and indeed to the whole free world, if our unity of thought and decision upon practical measures to the longer future as well as upon strategic problems could be reached between the three great opponents of the Hitlerite tyranny."

Turning to beleaguered Italy, Churchill said:

"Mussolini has been overthrown. The war impulse of Italy has been destroyed and that unhappy country is paying a terrible penalty for allowing itself to be misled by false and criminal guides. How much easier it is to join bad companions than to shake them!"

Churchill said a large number of German troops had lately been drawn from France "in order to hold down the Italian people" and to make Italy a battleground so far distant from Germany and as prolonged as possible.

Nazi Airforce—By far the greatest part of the German airforce, he said, he had drained from the Russian front and is now being engaged and "worn down with ever growing intensity night and day by British and American and Canadian airmen."

Russian Aid—Churchill said he was frank to admit that the terrific punishment inflicted on Hitler's war machine in North Africa, Sicily and Europe would have been largely impossible "but for the valiant and magnificent triumphs of the Russian army."

The Russians, he continued, "have defended their native soil against an evil and unprovoked attack with incomparable vigor, skill and devotion and at a terrible price in Russian blood."

Grave Injuries—"No government ever formed among men has been capable of surviving injuries so grave and terrible as those inflicted by Hitler upon Russia."

"But under the leadership of Marshal Stalin, and thanks also to the stand made by the British people when they were all alone, and to abundant British and American supplies and munitions of all kinds, Russia has not only survived and recovered from these frightful injuries but has inflicted, as no other force in the world could have inflicted, mortal damage in the German army machine."

Heat Up Jap War—As to the allies' enemy in the far Pacific, Churchill disclosed that a large part of the Quebec conference was devoted to "heating up and inflaming the war against Japan." Therefore, he said, it would have been most awkward for Russia, linked in a non-aggression pact with Ja-

Unfamiliar Machine—Travelers in the big grain country on Tule and Lower Klamath lakes may have noticed recently an unfamiliar machine moving over the stubble fields behind the big combines harvesting the barley down there.

This is a mobile hay chopper, used previously in California but introduced for the first time into this basin by the Malin Feeding company. The choppers are being used extensively this year in straw salvage.

Straddles Row—Pulled by a tractor, the chopper straddles a windrow of straw or hay. It picks up the material, chops it and blows it into a detachable trailer. The trailers will hold six tons of chopped straw and from six and one-half to seven tons of hay.

Max Jacobson, manager of Malin Feed, has two of these choppers in operation. There are six trailers, so that the choppers lose no time between loads. When a trailer is filled, it is hauled away to the Malin feed lots.

One man, the driver of the tractor, operates the whole outfit.

ALLIES BAG MORE JAPS IN PACIFIC

place losses which have been mounting since Aug. 17, the Liberators wiped out at least 13 planes on the ground while the Lightnings, in furious battles with 60 Zeros, downed 28 for certain, 12 probably, and damaged at least 17 others.

"Our losses were light," the communique said.

Previous communique on the land fighting at Salamaua have been concerned mainly with action below the airbase where American and Australian jungle forces have edged to the south-western end of the Eir strip. But today's communique told of allied forces repulsing Japanese counter-attacks Saturday night and early Sunday on Kila ridge. Kila is a small town above the airbase and slightly west of Salamaua.

Japs Pushed Back—Along a nearby ridge, which runs southward, allied troops threw back the Japanese and killed at least 40 of the enemy, a spokesman said.

The Wewak raiders, in addition to destroying enemy planes, started explosions and fires among ammunition and fuel dumps.

Not a Lightning fighter was lost in the series of brilliant dog-fights.

Praises Mountbatten—Churchill praised Vice Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, 43-year-old new supreme allied commander in southeast Asia.

"He is what at present I will venture to call a complete tribulation—that is to say, a creature equally at home in three elements: earth, air and water, and also well accustomed to fire."

Hinting at forthcoming operations against Japan, Churchill said, "We all wish the new command and its commander (Mountbatten) full success in their novel, varied and most difficult task."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that things were coming along pretty well with respect to a tripartite conference with Russia and Great Britain, and at the same time he singled out for criticism a newspaper columnist who had said Secretary Hull and other high state department officials were anti-Russian.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP)—A suit aiming to win portal-to-portal pay for 22,000 Alabama coal miners and designed to serve as a nationwide guide, was filed in U. S. district court here today by the United Mine Workers of America.

The case proper involved nine employees of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co., U. S. Steel subsidiary, but Frank Parsons, one of the attorneys filing the suit against the company, said the court's decision would apply to all Alabama coal miners and was designed to serve as a national guide.

The suit asks five years back pay for the nine men on a portal-to-portal basis, asserting they spend two hours daily in the mines going to and from the working faces. Pay is now made on a "face-to-face basis."
