OPA TO PUT NUMBERS ON GAS STAMPS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The office of price administration (OPA) intends to put serial numbers on gasoline ration stamps to trap bootleggers of stolen coupons.

The new system, an OPA official said today, probably will be set up early next year. Meanwhile, central issuance stations will be established in major cities to speed delivery of extra rations to essential drivers.

The changes are part of a campaign for stricter policing of gasoline use to cut off black market operators by keeping closer tabs on issued ration tickets. The coupons will be issued in strips bearing serial numbers, making them easier to trace.

Ration boards will keep records of the ticket numbers issued to each motorist. Whenever tickets are lost or stolen, ration boards will give the numbers to filling stations in the area, so they can be on the alert for any attempt to cash the cancelled stamps.

Present gasoline coupons bear no identifying number and books are "tailored" to a motorist's allowance by removing excess stamps. An OPA official said many of these stamps were getting into circulation through stamp bootleggers who peddled them to motorists.

All-Synthetic Tires Come Near Pre-War Wearability

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Rubber Director William M. Jeffers said today that the all-synthetic tires on which millions of motorists will be rolling next year will come close to pre-war wearability.

Should it become possible to lift the 35-mile-an-hour speed limit, Jeffers told reporters, drivers could run "at normal speeds" on synthetic casings without fear of tire failure. He didn't define normal speeds.

Increased familiarity of tire-makers with the new material and constant research improvements, Jeffers said, will put synthetic about on a par with crude rubber for mileage.

Reports that the war-born tires would have to be trundled along at covered-wagon speeds were dismissed as "plain hooey."

"They'll be able to stand up under ordinary care and treatment," Jeffers said.

Early synthetic tires showed a life of about 15,000 miles under testing, but the rubber chief pointed out that manufacturers were working with a strange material then. But now, he added, they have "learned a lot."

After a conclave of company and rubber union workers, Jeffers said agreement had been reached for "substantial reduction" of the proposed $95,000,000 tire factory expansion program.

The unionists had objected to the building of new plants where their locals would not be established, and contended that next year's production goal of 30,000,000 synthetic tires could be met by installation of machinery in existing plants.

The management spokesmen agreed to review their expansion plans and eliminate any new plants not absolutely necessary.

Jeffers said he was hopeful that a trimmed-down program would result which would "measurably avoid expanding the industry away from its presently fixed locations."

As an immediate step, workers and management agreed on measures to speed up present output so as to exceed this year's goal of 5,000,000 synthetic tires.
