

WAC TAKES OVER LOCAL ARMY OFFICE

The WACs have taken over. That was the situation Tuesday at the Klamath Falls army recruiting station, where Lieutenant Betty Herring was in full charge.

She succeeded Frank Huhin, for nearly four years local recruiter, who left over the weekend for Portland and assignment to new duties.

WACs, it was disclosed, are taking over all Oregon substations in the recruiting service. Lieutenant Herring has been doing the WAC recruiting here, with offices in the Legion hall. She has now moved to the regular recruiting office, 219 Postoffice building.

Lieutenant Herring spent last week in Portland where she took the army oath and became a full-fledged officer in the Women's Army corps, no longer an auxiliary outfit. She expects another WAC will come here to assist in running the Klamath substation.

BPW HOLDS FIRST DINNER MEETING

Despite the fact that the Klamath Falls Business and Professional Women opened the new club year on a holiday weekend, nearly 45 members and guests were present at the first dinner meeting Monday evening at the Willard hotel.

Mrs. Isabelle Brixner, president of the Oregon federation of BPW and a member of the Klamath Falls club, outlined the year's program, "Winning the War and Winning the Peace," as prepared by the national federation.

Mrs. Winnifred Gillen, club president, reported on the district meeting at Marshfield last month. Mrs. Coral Sabo and Mrs. Olive Cornett, co-chairmen for the July bond sale put over the top by the Soroptimist and BPW, gave short talks of appreciation to their workers.

All members and prospective members were urged by the president to pay their club dues by September 15 to the treasurer, Mrs. Grace Kintgen of the Klamath Falls creamery. Alice Stout presided as dinner chairman for the evening.

Oregon News Notes

By The Associated Press
The war might have been avoided if bellicose nations had followed the United States-Canada model of unfortified frontiers, Morley E. Mackenzie, Toronto, Canada, imperial potentate of the Shrine, said in Portland. Labor shortage has halted shipping at the Eugene Fruit Growers association plant, Manager E. A. McCornack announced. Four new cases of infantile paralysis were reported in Portland during the past week.

Collector of Internal Revenue J. W. Maloney warned at Portland that difficulty in estimating annual income will not warrant filing income tax estimates past the September 15 deadline, but said revised declarations can be made up to December 15.

GRADUATES—Leroy Baden son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Vaden, 5541 Altamont drive, graduated recently from Midland field, Texas. He is with the M. P. Tr. Det. at Fort George Wright, Spokane, Wash. and was recently home on a furlough of three weeks. He left here in November and took his training at Dayton, Washington.

Dale and Don Hunsaker, identical twins, and both PhM. 2/c, celebrated their twenty-first birthdays on May 30. For the first time in their lives the twins have been separated, for Dale is stationed at the Mobile hospital in New Caledonia and Don is at Treasure Island, San Francisco, and will probably be there until October. Both are in the hospital staff office. Dale writes that shopping in New Caledonia isn't too easy. After finding a clerk, try to make him understand what you want. Prices are very high, too. The chief recreation for the boys stationed there is swimming, he says.

All three of these boys graduated from Klamath Union high school, and Dale and Don were employed in the book-keeping department of the Sprague River Lumber company at the time of their enlistment.

FOUR SCHOOLS IN COUNTY OPEN LATE

Four county schools have not opened as yet this fall, it was learned from the county school office Tuesday.

Since the building is not yet quite completed, school has not begun at Weyerhaeuser camp 6 near Beatty, but classes should begin soon. This is the first year that that locality has had a school at all.

School has been temporarily postponed at Weyerhaeuser camp 6 because of the illness of the teacher.

No instructor has as yet been assigned the teaching post at Beatty, holding up the beginning of classes in that community.

Pelican Bay camp, still in the process of moving is not yet settled enough to have started regular school.

THIRD WAR LOAN 'KICKOFF' PROGRAM

A "kickoff" radio program for the Third War Loan drive will go on the air over KFJI tonight (Tuesday) at 7:30 p. m., it was announced by John Houston, chairman of radio and special events for the big war bond campaign.

Houston said there will be musical numbers and special features. E. B. Hall, general chairman of the campaign, will be on the program.

Any organizations desiring to buy bonds at this time are welcome to telephone the radio station with their pledges for broadcast on the program, Houston stated.

Labor Day Death Toll Swelled by Fire, Train Crashes; Ten Killed in Oregon

By The Associated Press
The nation's Labor Day weekend death toll—swelled by one of the worst disasters in American railroad history and a hotel fire—today appeared to have approached, if not surpassed, last year's total of 350 fatalities.

Although traffic, drowning and miscellaneous deaths and the hotel fire accounted for only 286 lives over the three-day holiday, a complete list of those killed in the wreck of the Congressional Limited at Philadelphia may bring the total above the 1942 figure.

Train Crash
Early today 62 were known dead in the Pennsylvania railroad crash at Philadelphia, but city officials there said the total would be much higher, one estimating it at 150. Three trainmen were dead in the wreck of the New York Central's Twentieth Century Limited at Canastota, N. Y.

The bodies of 46 persons were removed from the ruins of a Houston, Texas, hotel, swept by an early morning fire.

The national safety council has predicted between 300 and 500 violent death this holiday. In 1941 there were 614 killed, and the year before, 514.

Traffic Victims
Of the deaths so far recorded, excluding the two railroad wrecks and the hotel fire, 137 traffic victims and 113 miscellaneous, including 25 drownings, California had the highest total, 28 traffic fatalities and 18 miscellaneous deaths, two of which were drownings. Ohio and Illinois each had 18 deaths while New York counted 16. Washington and Oregon each counted 10 deaths.

By The Associated Press
Ten persons were killed in Oregon over the triple Labor Day holiday—eight by traffic accidents, one in a fall down Mount Hood and one by the accidental discharge of a gun.

Miss Helen Lowry, 32, Portland librarian, fell to her death from the top of Cooper Spur to Elliot Glacier on Mount Hood Monday. Members of her climbing party notified forest service guides who recovered her body after a six-hour search.

Soldiers Die
Five soldiers from the Walla Walla air base died of injuries from the collision of their automobile with an army truck near Arlington. None were Oregon men.

Edwin M. Rambeau, 60, Curtin, and Zoyd L. Smith, 24, Monmouth, were killed in an automobile-truck collision near Oakland, Ore. Freda Pearl Smith, 22, sister of Smith, was taken to a Roseburg hospital in critical condition.

George Winchester, 16-year-old cyclist, was fatally injured on the Columbia River highway near St. Helens. Chester A. Strouse, 36, was killed by the discharge of a 22 caliber pistol he was removing from the glove compartment of his automobile at his home in Shevlin. Police said the gun apparently slipped from its holster, firing when it hit the ground.
