

Herald and News
Member of THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A temporary combination of the Evening Herald and the Klamath News. Published every afternoon except Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. at Klamath Falls, Oregon, by the Herald Publishing Co. and the Klamath News Publishing Co.
Entered as second class matter at the postoffice of Klamath Falls, Ore., on August 26, 1906 under act of Congress, March 3, 1879.
FRANK JENKINS
Editor

Member of AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATION
Represented Nationally by WEST-HOLLANDY CO., INC.
San Francisco, New York, St. Louis, Chicago, Portland, Los Angeles.
MALCOLM EPLEY
Managing Editor

Today's Roundup
By MALCOLM EPLEY

THE downhill route of the Klamath dairy industry, strongly indicated by the sale of additional dairy herds here in the past few days, is cause for the gravest concern.

It had been predicted all summer that when the pastures dry up and feeding begins, disposal of dairy cattle here will rise to alarming proportions. That is what has happened.

The high cost of feed, the manpower shortage, the opportunities for profits in other business, and the continued refusal of the government authorities to lift the ceiling on milk prices to make profit returns attractive, are factors in the process now going on.

A man close to the business tells us that dairymen simply do not react favorably to the subsidy method of sustaining their returns. They don't like the federal handout idea, which is back of subsidies as it has been back of most governmental policies for the last decade.

There is every indication that the demand and need for milk in this area is going to increase rather than decrease. The picture of an increasing demand and a diminishing supply is not a pretty one. It has been called repeatedly to the attention of the governmental authorities who are administering the policies that have been a major factor in bringing it about.

News Behind the News
By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30—This is the most unusual war of history as far as propaganda is concerned.

If you take the official statements of our side for instance, you will believe Japan cannot be conquered for six years. The admirals say so. The navy secretary, Mr. Knox, holds press conferences at which such views are advertised.

The army officials give out statements that the second front cannot be launched for a long time, and that it will be a long, hard war. This theme is pursued by Elmer Davis' office of war information, which seems to be determined to kill any optimism.

In all previous wars that I ever heard of, the official propaganda idea was to keep everyone optimistic. In the World war, the Civil war, and even back beyond, the official inspiration always was to encourage people to victory and urge them on to their labors. Only in this one have the government philosophers practiced discouragement as an incentive.

They seem to think that such tactics will inspire greater energy among the people to do their war work, but I wonder if these tactics are successful. It would seem to me that if the admirals think Japan cannot be conquered for six years, in view of the superior position which we hold, we need some new admirals.

I may be wrong, but it occurs to me Secretary Knox should bring into his office for press conferences those naval authorities who believe Japan can be crushed.

What I would like to read is some official pronouncement from the navy saying that this war can be won fast if the energy of the people is devoted swiftly to the task. At least, that would inspire me more than these constant statements that things look bad, that our trials and tribulations are to be extended indefinitely.

I wonder where the government philosophers got the idea that people can be pressed to

Crater Lake

IN THE current issue of a magazine for county officials, Oregon counties are given blurbs and pictures. Klamath county is there with a nice lay-out, but we were interested in the fact that Klamath's relation to Crater Lake national park was omitted entirely.

Both Jackson and Josephine counties had pictures of Crater lake in their spreads. Crater lake is in Klamath county, and Klamath Falls is closer than either Medford or Grants Pass to the famed blue lake.

County Judge U. Reeder has called our attention to another interesting fact—that Crater Lake National park does not even border on Jackson county, as most of us had always supposed. There is a mile of Klamath county strip between the border of Crater lake park and the boundary line of Jackson county.

The Klamath judge mentioned that one time to Earl Day when he was judge of Jackson county. The Jackson man told Mr. Reeder he was all wet, but the Klamath judge produced the maps and the proof.

"It's a new one on me," said Judge Day as he bought the milkshakes.

Years For Klamath

SPEAKING of publicity, Klamath came in for an unusual bit of it in the moving picture, "China," just concluded at the Pelican theatre.

In this picture William Bendix, who has a major part, relates that he hails from Klamath Falls, Oregon, and he yearns for the family farm there, the wind coming up off the lake, and the pine needles.

The incident in the picture where this came out caused quite a sensation in the local theatre at each showing. Somebody should take a bow.

Long Official Face

AS FAR as I know, it was the nazis who first developed the policy of making their people work harder by adopting a long official face. They had a struggle on their hands to arise from the subservient position in which their nation was placed and they thought they managed to get the utmost energy from their people by impressing upon them constantly the discouraging aspects of their position.

The same publicity propaganda was practiced in England where Dunkirk and the blitz bombing raids naturally caused Mr. Churchill to take that tone.

The facts of the situation today, as I read them, are no where near comparable to either of these previous conditions, that is the previous conditions of Germany or Britain in their struggles.

We are bound to win, and we know it. I cannot see why we do not proudly proclaim the fact and din it into the ears of our enemies every second of the day. I think that would encourage people more, and discourage our enemies.

Tough Congress

THERE is much current discussion about how tough congress is going to be with Mr. Roosevelt and the bureaucrats. The truth is congress cannot do much about either.

Mr. Roosevelt obtained most of his powers immediately after the war started, and they are to extend legally until a short time after it ends. The annual appropriation bills will not come up until January, and the agenda of congress is light. The tax bill seems to be the major item for consideration, and some authorities doubt that anything will be done even on that subject.

In fact, the leaders already are talking about adjournment, although they have not agreed on a date.

The main power of congress probably will continue to be exerted in a negative way by investigations of various government activities.

outward, a position which places an excessive burden on the longitudinal arches and other foot strains, which cause pain in both feet and legs and may produce swelling of the ankles.

CORRECTIVE MEASURES

If good body mechanics prevailed before pregnancy, the minimum of disability will be the result of the changes imposed by pregnancy.

After pregnancy occurs, the discomforts arising from mechanical causes may be reduced by supports, such as a properly fitted corset that holds the abdomen up and in, well-fitted shoes that properly support the feet, and instructions and exercises designed to improve the mechanics of the body.

Langell Valley

Clyde Vincent, who is stationed at Sitka, Alaska, is home on furlough visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rube Vincent. The older son, Ernie, is still in a serious condition in a government hospital at Florida, following his 15th operation.

Earl Kent and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Woodward and son of Klamath Falls spent Sunday with the Bill Burnetts.

Florence Nork spent last weekend in Klamath Falls with her sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor of Grants Pass spent the weekend with Ora Johnson. They were en route to Lakeview.

Mrs. Dewey Horn and Mrs. Lester Boggs, visited one day

The War Today
By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Balkan thorn is being pressed steadily and dangerously deeper into Fuehrer Hitler's side by the business-like progress of the allies in the conquest of Italy, as marked today by the reported investment of the strategic port of Naples.

One of Hitler's chief reasons for defending Italy is to protect his hold on the explosive Balkans, just across the Adriatic. Each day of success on the Italian peninsula adds to the allied ability to rake the Balkans from the air, and it also is bound to increase German fears of invasion. The situation in this cockpit of southeastern Europe is indeed a thorn in Hitler's side, for it is a terrible menace to the right flank of his badly man-handled battle-front in Russia.

No Pressure
The fuhrer's fears of invasion of the balkans doesn't necessarily mean that the allies have decided on such an operation. They are in the enviable position of being under no pressure at this time to undertake it, whereas the unhappy nazis are compelled to maintain an army in that theater, to guard against invasion and to keep the lid on the unpredictable balkan peoples.

Not only are all his small satellites — Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary — trying to break away from him, but the occupied countries are snuffing him nip and thigh. Today, for instance, a patriotic communique from Yugoslavia records that guerrilla troops have forced the Germans to retreat at many places in the northeastern part of the country. There is heavy fighting on the Dalmatian coast.

Serve Allies
Thus all the balkans, both friend and foe, are serving the allied cause well, either by design or by circumstance. Actually all the United Nations need to do to keep the pot boiling is to continue to support their friends with all aid short of invasion, meantime tossing bombs and moral ferments among the little axis states. The balkans will do the rest themselves, until such time as either Russia or the Anglo-American allies can send armies into the peninsula.

Postponement encouraged
Certainly in weighing the matter of an invasion, however, the allies have found things to encourage at least a postponement of such an ambitious undertaking. One of these is that we still have a big job on hand with the Germans in Italy.

There are also two other even more cogent reasons for caution. One is that this operation would divert allied strength from the prime objective, that is, the invasion of western Europe. Upon that depends any early termination of the war—barring a German internal collapse upon which reliance shouldn't be placed. The second reason is political—the Russians consider the balkans their sphere of influence and don't want the allies to interfere.

ALL-AMERICAN FRANCHISE, KOKOMO, Ind. (AP)—Want to buy a high school team which has won two of its three football games so far this season?

Kokomo High school officials said today that the highest bidder at a war bond rally Friday night would become "owner" of the Wildcats for the 1943 season.

recently with Mrs. Johnnie Horn in upper Langell valley.

Mrs. Wes ley Dearborn and children spent Sunday at Bonanza with her mother, Mrs. Ruby Brown, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Nichols.

Bessie Frazier visited on Saturday with Margaret Burnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dearborn were dinner guests on Saturday evening at the Les Leavitt home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burnett and Richard were visitors also.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Brown were dinner guests at the Dan Lovelady home in Bonanza Friday and visited Mrs. Dale Brown and children of Vya, Nev., daughter of the Loveladys.

Mrs. Betty Roberts is visiting with her son and family, the Homer Roberts.

"NEVER THOUGHT I'D BE REGULAR AGAIN!"

Cereal Brings Relief After Years of Dosing

Even if you have suffered for years don't lose hope. Read this happy experience!

"I'd had common constipation so bad, I knew something just had to be done. Finally, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, and I was never so happy in my life as when I found I was joining the 'regulars' again. Because that was one club I never dreamed I'd be able to join." Mrs. Daisy Dean, Columbia, Tennessee.

How can ALL-BRAN'S amazing results be explained—when so many other methods fail? Scientists say it's because ALL-BRAN is a rich source of cellulose elements—lack of which is a common cause of constipation. These special cellulose elements help the intestinal flora fluff up and lighten the contents of the colon for easy, natural evacuation! KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN does not "sweep you out." Not a purgative! It's a gentle-acting, natural "regulating" food!

If this is your trouble eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly! Drink plenty of water! See if you, too, aren't amazed at the results! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek!

War Training Courses to Be Given in Klamath

OREGON STATE COLLEGE—Special expense-free engineering war training courses will be available to men and women in the Klamath Falls area for those wishing to prepare themselves for work in war industries if there is enough demand to warrant a class, Glenn W. Holcomb, professor of engineering here and state coordinator for the engineering, science and management war training program in Oregon, has announced.

While most of the courses will be given in Portland, they will be organized in other communities of the state if desired, Holcomb said, on the same basis as some of those given this past year in Klamath Falls.

UNSHARE-THE-RIDE
KENILWORTH, Utah (AP)—School-district officials explained it like this:

The school bus driver told the students they'd have to be less noisy.

Angered, the students left the bus. Didn't show up next morning, either; they're just staying home.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—In the heart of the sun-parched Mojave desert, marines are rehearsing abandoning ship—with many a hearty splash.

The simulated ship is a 15-foot-high platform paralleling a long water tank, which makes a fine swimming pool, too.

Klamath's Yesterdays
From the files — 40 years ago and 10 years ago.

From the Klamath Republican October 1, 1903

The steamer Mayflower came up from Keno Saturday with a load of freight.

Mitchell brothers started about 300 head of cattle for the railroad yesterday. They went by way of Keno and Gazelle.

The first female impersonator that has ever appeared in Klamath Falls is with the Juliet Chandler Vaudeville company. Do not fail to see her. He is great.

From the Klamath News Sept. 30, 1933

Portland is celebrating the announcement that the federal government will construct Bonneville dam.

County Agent C. A. Henderson gave the Rotary club an optimistic picture of Klamath's agricultural future today.

There are 82 appointments at large to the United States Military academy at West Point; two are appointed upon recommendation of the vice president.

Courthouse Records
Complaints Filed
Roy P. Lien, doing business under the assumed name and style of "Lien's Cash Store" versus William G. Boyer. Suit to collect on promissory note. U. S. Balentine, attorney for plaintiff.
Alice Dale Ray versus Jack W.

Ray. Suit for divorce, charge cruel and inhuman treatment. Couple married in Reno, April 10, 1939. Plaintiff asks restoration of maiden name, Alice Dale Peterson. John E. Ebinger, attorney for plaintiff.
More beer is consumed in the United States now than before the prohibition era.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

One of the best-liked farmers in these parts is Bert Childers! And he has the best way of beating the man shortage, too.

Come husking time, Bert invites all of his farmer neighbors over to have a glass of beer. When they ask politely "Where's the beer?" Bert points to a bucket-full of frosty bottles in the middle of the field.

"All you got to do," he says, "is work your way out to it." Well, Bert's idea has caught on all over the countryside.

Folks are pitching in to help their neighbors harvest grain, and fruit, and vegetables — and are taking their reward in sociability when the job's done.

And from where I sit, that's a mighty healthy picture of American life — people working together to get in the food this country needs — and afterwards, sittin' around like good friends, over a moderate glass of wholesome beer. I'm for it!

Joe Marsh

No. 70 of a Series Copyright, 1943, Brewing Industry Foundation

perfect tailoring in this perfect classic

Cast your critical feminine eye on the superbly-cut suit photographed.

Who but a man's tailor or would give such attention to fine detailing?

Who but Hart Schaffner & Marx?

Notice the grace this 3-button suit gives the figure... notice, too, the sleek fit of the kick-pleat skirt that boasts a zipper closure.

The all-wool doeskin fabric is deceptive... soft-as-a-cloud to touch and yet noted to wear.

$35.00

La Pointe's