

Golden Wedding Observed Here

Old Friends Gather at R. H. Dunbar Home Monday Evening to Felicitate Couple

One of the week's most interesting affairs was that of Monday evening when old friends and new gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Dunbar, 420 Jefferson street, to greet them on the occasion of their golden wedding and the thirty-eighth year of their residence in Klamath Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar were married September 3, 1893, in Delta, Ohio. She was the former Bessie Brigham. On September 10, 1905, Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar came to Klamath Falls to make their home. They have been active in affairs of the city during their long residence.

Greeting guests as they opened the door were two small granddaughters of the couple, Barbara and Janice Moser of Berkeley, California. Receiving were the Dunbars' two daughters, Mrs. Charles L. Moore and Mrs. Ernest Moser. Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar received in the living room.

The refreshment table was centered with a bride and groom placed on a mirror circled with golden zinnias. The wedding date was lettered in gold on the mirror. Sparkling golden bells hung from the dining room lights and in the living room chrysanthemums in shades of gold completed the theme.

Mrs. Dunbar wore a gown of light blue with a shoulder corsage of orchids.

Presiding at the coffee table during the first hour was Mrs. Charles S. Moore, and during the second hour Mrs. George Wirtz, sister of Mr. Dunbar, presided at the urn. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Alvin Earnest Macartney and Miss Helen Moore, granddaughters of the honor guests.

The many old friends who met at the Dunbar home reminisced of early Klamath Falls days and particularly enjoyed the collection of pictures which were shown.

FIVE TABLES IN PLAY AT SOCIAL CLUB

The Eastern Star Social club met Friday afternoon at the Masonic temple when five tables and bridge were in play. Honors for high were received by Mrs. Walter Brown and Mrs. Victor Palmer received the special award.

Lovely blooms of late roses were used on the tea table and fall flowers decorated the room. Acting as hostesses were Mrs. Bernard Zollman and Mrs. V. J. Josephson.

SACRAMENTO VISITOR IS HONOR GUEST

Mrs. Dietrick Peterson of Sacramento, who visited here recently with her small son, Robert, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Oscar Thompson, was honored at an informal evening of bridge last Tuesday when Mrs. Lane Warren entertained.

Guests were Mrs. Howard Storde, Mrs. Charlie Read, Mrs. Howard Hanville, Mrs. Roy Whitlatch, Mrs. Richard Post, Mrs. George Sprague, Mrs. John Sandmeyer and Mrs. Peterson.

Friends of Mrs. Doels Norris, who lived here for many years, will be interested to learn of her work with the Kaiser Shipbuilding company in Portland. Mrs. Norris, as a member of the Kaiser personnel, goes out on maiden voyages of the ships which are constructed at the Portland yards. She is living at Ogden Meadows, Vancouver.

OES Installs On Tuesday

Officers Take Over Duties of Aloha Chapter Here

Mrs. George Casper was worthy matron, and Mrs. Earl Tempier, matron, for the installation ceremonies held Tuesday evening at the regular session of Aloha chapter, No. 61, Order of the Eastern Star. Officers installed were: Mrs. Will Wood, conductress; Mrs. Lawrence K. Phelps, associate conductress; Mrs. James Rackenor, treasurer; Mrs. H. C. Bonney, Ruth.

Georgious dahlias, grown and arranged by Mrs. L. L. Hendricks, decorated the rostrum in the east. Baskets of Michaelmas daisies and gladioli were used about the chapter room. Mrs. Glenn Kent presented shoulder bouquets to the newly installed officers, the gift of the chapter.

Mr. J. W. Thompson, worthy patron of Itasca chapter, Park Rapids, Minnesota, was introduced and received with honors. Mr. Thompson is teaching agriculture in the schools of Bonanza. Mrs. Thompson who was present, also teaches in the Bonanza schools.

The hostess committee for the evening included, Mrs. Esther Inman, Mrs. Josephine Robinson and Mrs. Sanford Selby.

MRS. PAYNE TO BE GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Frank Payne, authoress of "Captain Jack, Modoc Renegade," and writer of many historical stories of the Klamath country, and other sections of the west, will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of Eulalia chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Monday evening, October the fourth, at the home of the regent, Mrs. Harry Goeller Sr. The meeting is called for eight o'clock. Mrs. Payne will talk about "Indian Ingenuity in the Use of Nature's Materials."

The Oregon Trail Centennial celebration is the theme for program topics for the coming year, and Mrs. Payne's program promises to be outstanding from an historical point of view, as she has devoted considerable time in gathering facts and specimens connected with the Indians of this and other localities, and is an interesting speaker, as she has proven on many occasions.

SUPPER PARTY BEFORE PELICAN GAME

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Lorenz entertained at supper just before the Salem-Pelican football game Friday evening at their home on High street. The piece de resistance was a $25.00 ham, purchased by Mr. Lorenz at Tuesday evening's bond sale and army show.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Backes, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. William Lorenz, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Miller, Mrs. Martha McCollum and Mrs. Harry W. Bathlany.

IN THE WAVES

Mrs. Claudia Vern Cleveland has enlisted in the WAVES and is awaiting assignment to indoctrination school at Hunter college, Columbia university, New York.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Many old friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Dunbar on Jefferson street Monday evening to greet them on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. They are pioneer residents of Klamath Falls, having made their home in this city for thirty-eight years.

—Kathleen Livingston.

Dates Announced By Concert Group

Draper and Adler to Lead Off With Performance Here at Pelican on November First

Dates for the three concerts arranged by the Klamath Community Concert association have been announced by Dr. F. Cecil Adams, president, and it is with a great deal of interest that the membership learns that two of the programs are set for a not far distant date.

First of the three performances is one that will draw a full house at the Pelican theatre, and that is where all the concerts will be held this year as in the past. Draper and Adler, that team which has made entertainment history, is slated for Monday, November the first. Right now, according to Time magazine, Larry Adler is entertaining the troops in Africa and doing an excellent job of it.

Second concert will see the Columbia Opera quartet of which much has been said. It will be here the week following Draper and Adler, on Wednesday night, November tenth. These two concerts come fairly close together but that is the way they are booked for Klamath Falls and in war time, with travel conditions as they are, few will feel anything but gratitude for the privilege of such entertainment.

Patricia Travers, girl violinist of that up and coming group of younger artists, will play at the Pelican on St. Patrick's night, March the seventeenth.

This has been explained again and again, but there still seems to be some question. Cards are not available to persons living in this area who were residents at the time the membership drive was conducted in the spring. However, there are many newcomers who should be given an opportunity to obtain membership cards. Those persons coming to the Klamath basin since the close of the drive, may contact Mrs. Claude H. Davis, secretary, if they wish cards. There will be no admissions sold at the door at any concert.

KLAMATH WOMAN JOINS THE WAVES

Joining her husband in the armed services, Mrs. Claudia Vern Cleveland, 524 High street, has enlisted in the WAVES and is awaiting assignment to the WAVES indoctrination school at Hunter college of Columbia university, New York City.

The second member of her family to sign up for a full-time war job, Mrs. Cleveland joins her husband in the armed services. David Marcellus Cleveland, private in the United States army, now stationed at Fort Sill, Okla. Mrs. Cleveland graduated from Kerby Union high school in 1936. She was a leader in school affairs.

She attended Southern Oregon College of Education from 1938 to 1940, majoring in education. She was president of Pro Musica club, music and drama editor of the college newspaper, "Siskiyou," was a member of Phi Beta Sigma sorority and played in the orchestra.

Mrs. Cleveland has been a stenographer with California-Oregon Power company here since June, 1943. Previous to this she was teacher at Malin, at the Butte Falls school in Jackson county.

Mrs. Cleveland is the daughter of Mrs. Ada Buck, 107 South Fourth street, Grants Pass.

St. Paul's Guild will sponsor a rummage sale Saturday, October sixteenth, at the former location of Chet Smith's shoe store on Main street. The sale will be held all day.

ALPHA HOLDS INITIATION FOR LAKE TEACHERS

Several of the officers of Alpha chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, made a trip to Lakeview on Saturday, September the twenty-fifth, for the purpose of holding initiation ceremony for four new members of the chapter who teach in the Lakeview schools, as they have been unable to come to regular meetings here because of transportation difficulties.

The new initiates are Mrs. Laura Berry, Miss Jennie Carroll, Miss Mary E. Gallagher and Miss Ida Marie Stroda. Miss Julia Sharpe, of Rapid City, South Dakota, a member of Alpha chapter of South Dakota, will teach in Lakeview and will be a transfer from there to Alpha chapter in Oregon.

After the ceremony, the initiates were honored at luncheon at the Coffee shop in the Lakeview hotel. Attending beside the new members were Mrs. Anne Sprague and Miss Esther Kernan of Lakeview; Miss Eva Burkhalter, Mrs. Ida Edsall, Mrs. Irene Foster, Mrs. Florence Ollmann, Mrs. Geraldine Owsley and Miss Olive Wilson of Klamath Falls.

My mouth fell open at first sight of the business district. The streets and sidewalks are very narrow; therefore, pedestrians use the street for jaywalking, passing other pedestrians, or just walking. There are lots of taxis but few private cars and when I see a taxi coming around a corner on two wheels I'm definitely reminded of Klamath Falls.

There is no pattern or system to the way the streets run. In the heart of the business district you can easily get lost by going around the corner and trying to come back again. The main street is called Washington street and runs north and south, I think. (Can't seem to get my bearings in this mixed-up city.) The street entering Washington from the east is called Summer street, while across the intersection running west where you would expect to see Summer street continuing is Winter street.

"Most of the streets wind around or shoot off at a tangent. As I said before there's just no pattern. When I go ashore from my ship the USS Victoria to go shopping I hope like all WAVES that I won't get so mixed up and lost that I'll be late reporting aboard. Since I must budget my time in the navy I have to put in 'time for getting lost and found'."

"There are two things the Bostonians seem to brag about. One of them is the fact that there are no parking meters, but the streets are so narrow in the shopping center that you can't park your car anyway. The other is that they have no sales tax, but then neither does Oregon."

"I have already said that there are few private cars here. Instead the natives use horses and buggies. It looked queer to me at first but I shall always think of Boston as a horsey city."

"Of course the accent is another peculiarity to me. If you

WAVE Writes Impressions

Seaman Goeller Tells Of Trying to Get Used to Boston

Seaman Nanette Goeller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goeller of Pine street, who is serving with the WAVES, wrote home an unusually interesting letter on her impressions of Boston where red lights mean go instead of stop, where horse-drawn vehicles predominate over cars, where you go "down" to the elevated and "up" to the subway—all of which succeeds in confusing visiting WAVES.

"After getting off the train at Back Bay station, Boston, I noticed how different it was from other cities I have seen. At the time I was noticing the narrow, cobblestone streets, but soon found out that was only one of the many 'different' things."

"Most civilized places with stop and go lights have an understanding that when the light is red it means stop, when the light is green it means go; but not in Boston. All lights turn red at the same time and on the red light everybody goes. It reminded me of Klamath Falls in pre-streetlight days. On the other hand, when the lights turn green everybody stops. (This is the time all confused WAVES dash across.)"

"The first time I dared go downtown by myself I went to the nearest transportation center and saw a sign which said 'Boston Elevated'; but the stairs went down. Across the street was a sign 'Boston subway' and the stairs went up. The only experience I had had with such things was in New York; but there a subway was down and an elevated was up. I went down and took the 'elevated' as it goes directly to town. The subway goes to suburban districts."

"As I got down the ladder (stairs) the car screeched to a stop, doors opened, and the mad rush began. Old, young and middle-aged extended their elbows full length and started pushing. I was amazed to find that I had been lifted off my feet and into the car right along with the crowd. The doors closed behind me and almost before I got myself untangled and straightened out, I was at the Park street station, my destination."

"Another difference here is that the subway or elevated costs a dime, whereas you can ride all over New York for a nickel."

"My mouth fell open at first sight of the business district. The streets and sidewalks are very narrow; therefore, pedestrians use the street for jaywalking, passing other pedestrians, or just walking. There are lots of taxis but few private cars and when I see a taxi coming around a corner on two wheels I'm definitely reminded of Klamath Falls."

There is no pattern or system to the way the streets run. In the heart of the business district you can easily get lost by going around the corner and trying to come back again. The main street is called Washington street and runs north and south, I think. (Can't seem to get my bearings in this mixed-up city.) The street entering Washington from the east is called Summer street, while across the intersection running west where you would expect to see Summer street continuing is Winter street."

"Most of the streets wind around or shoot off at a tangent. As I said before there's just no pattern. When I go ashore from my ship the USS Victoria to go shopping I hope like all WAVES that I won't get so mixed up and lost that I'll be late reporting aboard. Since I must budget my time in the navy I have to put in 'time for getting lost and found'."

"There are two things the Bostonians seem to brag about. One of them is the fact that there are no parking meters, but the streets are so narrow in the shopping center that you can't park your car anyway. The other is that they have no sales tax, but then neither does Oregon."

"I have already said that there are few private cars here. Instead the natives use horses and buggies. It looked queer to me at first but I shall always think of Boston as a horsey city."

"Of course the accent is another peculiarity to me. If you

"There are two things the Bostonians seem to brag about. One of them is the fact that there are no parking meters, but the streets are so narrow in the shopping center that you can't park your car anyway. The other is that they have no sales tax, but then neither does Oregon."

"I have already said that there are few private cars here. Instead the natives use horses and buggies. It looked queer to me at first but I shall always think of Boston as a horsey city."

"Of course the accent is another peculiarity to me. If you

"There are two things the Bostonians seem to brag about. One of them is the fact that there are no parking meters, but the streets are so narrow in the shopping center that you can't park your car anyway. The other is that they have no sales tax, but then neither does Oregon."

"I have already said that there are few private cars here. Instead the natives use horses and buggies. It looked queer to me at first but I shall always think of Boston as a horsey city."

"Of course the accent is another peculiarity to me. If you

"There are two things the Bostonians seem to brag about. One of them is the fact that there are no parking meters, but the streets are so narrow in the shopping center that you can't park your car anyway. The other is that they have no sales tax, but then neither does Oregon."

Championship Play Under Way Friday

Women to End Tournament Schedule in Mid-October With Naming of Winners

October the first was one of Klamath's nicest Indian summer days and perfect for the women at Reames Golf and Country club who continued their play in the championship flight Friday morning. Next week four women will play, Mrs. Jacques J. Steiger and Mrs. George H. Merryman Sr., with Mrs. W. J. Grove matched against Mrs. Harry Land. Winners of these two matches will play off for the club championship on Friday, October fifteenth.

Mrs. Wilfred Lamm, president of Women of Reames, won in the first flight Friday morning, and in the nine-hole tournament, it was announced that Mrs. Clifford J. Schuck and Mrs. Greer Glascoe would play off next week.

Hostesses for this Friday were Mrs. Harry Panning and Mrs. Robert Sproat. There was a sack luncheon at noon with four tables of bridge following. Next week's hostesses will be Mrs. Ray W. Oldenbur, Mrs. J. Hardin Carter and Mrs. Herbert E. Hauger.

Guests at the club this week were Mrs. John Bedford of Loyalton, California, former resident of this city, Mrs. George Watt of San Francisco, Mrs. Edward Hall Pike and Mrs. G. A. Krause. Receiving the day's award was Mrs. George H. Merryman Sr.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR MISS KNUTH

On Friday evening of last week the Stewart-Lenox Sunday school adult class gave a surprise party in honor of the birthday anniversaries of Rev. and Mrs. L. W. Rowland.

Games were played with supper served later to Rev. and Mrs. Rowland, Mrs. Elva Rose, Mrs. J. J. Modisette, Mrs. Louise Homer, Mrs. Ruby Persinger and son Glen, Mr. and Mrs. E. Homer, Mrs. Clara Shearon and Sheila, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Homer and Larry, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Coffman, Mrs. Verda Hayes, George Keath, Neil and Geraldine Shelton, and Mrs. Julia Kinsey.

MINERVA BOOK CLUB MEETS AT PENROD HOME

First meeting of the season for the Minerva book club, a study group of the BPW club, was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Josephine Penrod with nine members present.

Mrs. Emma Carter was elected president of the club and plans were discussed for the year's program. Named on the program committee were Mrs. Vida Hanson, Mrs. Jean Porter and Mrs. Mabel Humble.

The next hostess will be Mrs. Lydia Howard at a meeting the fourth Monday in October, the twenty-fifth.

Mrs. Sadie Laxton is visiting here with her sister, Miss Nora Sullivan, and with another sister, Mrs. William C. Dalton of Malin. Mrs. Laxton's son, Private James Fahlihe of the US army engineers, arrived here Friday to be with his mother en route from Atlanta, Georgia, to Pittsburgh, California. He remains until October fifth and with his mother will go to San Francisco and Santa Barbara before reporting for duty.

Games were played during the evening, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Guests were Miss Ruth Boettcher, Miss Adra Goeller, Miss Lucille Proctor, Miss Louella Proctor, Miss Nell Lindbergh, Miss Bettie Hopkins, Miss Doris Yantis, Miss Lillian Baker and the guest of honor.

Beauty IS YOUR DUTY

By RITA WHISENANT
Licensed Cosmetologist

THAT "luminous" look I mentioned last week (from DuBarry Beauty Cake Make-up) can be acquired in just two minutes flat. All you do is wet a piece of cotton, rub it over the cake and apply it to the skin, smoothing it on until it is even.

AND if your skin is dry, instead of using water, moisten the cotton with DuBarry Foundation Lotion, the creamy milk-white lotion that keeps the skin moist and soft under the make-up. Whichever way you use it, DuBarry Beauty Cake "stays put" all day, lovely 'til the minute you remove it.

FOR extra protection against dust and grime, you can put a light coat of powder over it, but that's a matter of choice. With rouge and lipstick, you are completely armed with your beauty essentials for the day.

REMEMBER, it comes in five shades, from light to deep tan . . . $1.50.

—RITA.
Everybody's Drug — 808 Main

DANCE

F.O.E. Hall

9th and Walnut

Every Sat. Nite

9:00 to 1:00

Sponsored by
Aerie No. 2090 F.O.E.,
Auxiliary and Drum Corps

Same Music
Gents 50c Ladies 25c
Servicemen 25c
Tax Included
PUBLIC INVITED

KLAMATH COUPLE WED

Betty Blackmore became the bride of Lawrence Gene Duffy of the United States navy in a ceremony read at twelve o'clock noon last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Duffy.

—Kennell-Ellis.

Half Price
FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY

Barbara Gould
NIGHT CREAM
$2.50 jar for $1.25

Here's a rare opportunity to learn how fragrant Night Cream can help you retain your loveliness... as it discourages the formation of fine surface lines resulting from dryness. But act quickly—get several jars today.

Star

DRUG STORE
Fifth and Main