

MORE LANDINGS MADE AS BEACH AREAS CLEARED

In the first specific report of airborne losses, the ninth air force said 12 C-45 troop carriers and 12 gliders were missing from the reinforcing operations last night and early today.

Nazi Call Reserves Various unconfirmed reports said penetrations had been made as deep as 12 miles at some places, but the fighting was so confused it was doubtful if any regular lines were established.

Berlin said Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was rushing up reserves of the German seventh and 15th armies, with battles rapidly increasing to a grand scale.

Berlin radio clearly indicated the air force assaults were spreading great confusion behind German lines, and said the nazis had been duped by parachuting sacks of straw loaded with explosives that blew up when they were touched.

"Satisfactory progress" is being made in the historic invasion continuing under thundering blows by great sea and sky fleets, headquarters announced, and cautious officers described the tricky airborne operations as "a complete success."

Field reports said American doughboys were making "excellent progress," biting deep into France.

Fires at Lisieux Great bomber fleets droned out to blast nazi defenses and troops today, possibly in strength equalling or surpassing the stupendous total of 13,000 sorties yesterday.

Mitchell pilots reported a great ring of fires at Lisieux, south of Le Havre, and a sinister glow over Caen were Prime Minister Churchill had reported fighting in the streets, Caen is nine miles inland.

It was disclosed that more than 900 of the ninth air force's C-47 troop transports and gliders were used in the opening invasion thrust, forming a train nine planes wide and 200 miles long.

Berlin dispatches to Stockholm said six allied airborne divisions totalling 25,000 men had been landed since Tuesday morning.

Headquarters still did not identify initial objectives of the American, British and Canadian infantrymen and airborne troops.

Yanks in Lead Field reports placed U. S. troops well in the fore of the advance, striking inland after establishing beachheads at several points, but said they were under heavy counterattack early today.

The German high command in its broadcast communique declared heavy fighting continued on both sides of the mouth of the Orne river, above Caen, and north of Carentan, a town farther west.

Berlin claimed most of the allied beachheads had been "smashed," with most of the airborne formations "wiped out."

Other enemy air activity included an attack on our beach forces. This proved abortive and four of a formation of 12 Junkers 88's were destroyed.

In addition to attacks on defense positions and other objectives in immediate support of land operations, railway centers, bridges, military buildings and communications at Abancourt, Serques, Amiens and Vire were attacked repeatedly throughout yesterday by our medium and light bombers.

Allied fighter-bombers and fighters flew low to attack enemy units and motor truck columns.

From dawn to dusk a vast allied fighter force maintained a vigil over our shipping and over the assault area.

This air cover was again completely successful. Airborne operations were resumed successfully last night.

Coastal aircraft attacked German naval units in the Bay of Biscay.

A strong force of heavy night bombers attacked bridges and roads and rail communications behind the invasion area, including the junction of Chateaudun.

Thirteen heavy bombers are missing. Light bombers were also out against the same type of target, and night intruders destroyed 12 enemy aircraft without loss.

Churchill Wanted To Go With Army LONDON, June 7 (AP)—It took a lot of persuading to keep Prime Minister Churchill from accompanying the invasion forces when they stormed the beaches of France, it was disclosed today.

Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay, allied naval commander, told a correspondent that he convinced the statesman "only with much difficulty" not to go along.

Ramsay said he pointed out to Churchill that the extra work involved in safeguarding him would be very great—and the prime minister finally relented.

American planes from the Central Pacific continued their methodical blasting of isolated Japanese bases in the Marshall Islands and hit Truk and other Caroline island bases in attacks last weekend. Nauru, west of the American-held Gilberts also was attacked.

Weather Better In Dover Strait LONDON, June 7 (AP)—The weather brightened in Dover Strait early this evening, with sunshine, patches of blue sky, and the barometer rising.

There was a fairly strong northwesterly wind but the sea was smooth on the English side. This morning there had been gray, cloudy skies.

Young Eisenhower Gets Gold Bar WEST POINT, N. Y., June 7 (AP)—Slim, blond John S. D. Eisenhower, son of the AEF supreme commander, put away his dress uniforms today for the khaki of an infantry second lieutenant following his graduation from the U. S. military academy.

Young Eisenhower received his diploma yesterday along with 473 other graduates, all of whom were sent copies of an identical letter by General Eisenhower welcoming them into the regular army.

The general also sent a sealed message to his son which was handed to him after the ceremony by Mrs. Eisenhower.

Body of Youth Found At Wocus The body of Glenn Wiseman, 17, was found this morning hanging from a roadside sign on the Bend highway north of town.

The boy had left his home near Wocus last night and had gone to the sign where he tied a rope to the framework and had then jumped, investigators said.

His body was discovered by a young boy who happened to be passing the spot of any number of cars must have passed the scene since last night, officers said.

According to Dr. George Adler, county coroner, the boy had been an inmate of the state feeble-minded institution for five years.

transferred there were some incidents with the population." LONDON, June 7 (AP)—DNE said in a Berlin broadcast today that an entire allied airborne division has been landed on the western coast of the Normandy peninsula.

SUPREME ADVANCE COMMAND POST, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 7 (AP)—Headquarters announced today that allied troops had repulsed German counterattacks in the Caen area of France.

All beaches now have been cleared of the enemy, although some presumably still are under artillery fire.

Some of the beaches have been linked up with those flanking them, headquarters added. Heavy fighting inland was reported.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 7 (AP)—Between 250 and 500 Flying Fortress and Liberators dropped bombs on road intersections south of Caen this afternoon in an effort to block off German reinforcements. They encountered neither German fighters nor ground fire.

LONDON, June 7 (AP)—A transoceanic broadcast from Berlin said German coastal batteries had beaten off an allied landing attempt off Le Havre this afternoon. There was no allied confirmation.

Highly-intelligent persons don't need much sleep, according to some psychologists.

they had available for the channel coast.

According to their own pre-invasion broadcasts they held back a few, highly mobile panzer divisions to counter-attack wherever the allied spearheads appeared most threatening.

This system of defense depends for its success either on stopping the attack literally on the beaches, which is what the Germans tried to do most of yesterday or on trapping the spearheads in the defense belt to prevent any major breakthrough.

The armored reserves counter-attack when the main threat becomes apparent. This counter-attack is the second crisis.

Once it can be overcome General Eisenhower should be relatively free to exploit his position toward his first main objective which must be to establish his forces on such a large and fluid front that the enemy will be unable to force a stalemate.

PIONEER DIES MEDFORD, June 7 (AP)—Mrs. Anna Jane Dorn, 91, long-time resident of the Applegate district, was found dead in the bathtub at the home of her son in Jacksonville yesterday. A note left for the son, David Thomas Dorn, indicated she had been dependent over ill health.

FIFTH ARMY GOES FAR BEYOND ROME

all in their power to sabotage enemy communications and hinder Kesselring's efforts to disengage his troops and retire northward.

"The liberation of Italy now is well underway," the allied commander declared.

The total of prisoners taken in the allied Italian offensive still was rising steadily with the fifth army alone now claiming more than 18,000.

A headquarters spokesman said the Germans "appear to be forming small battle groups composed of elements from varied units" pulled hastily together to fight desperate delaying actions.

The Mediterranean allied air force joined yesterday in the many-front assault on Hitler's Europe by sending between 500 and 750 Flying Fortresses and Liberators into the Balkans. Targets included the oil refineries at Ploesti, rail yards at Brasov and Pitesti and the "Iron Gate" canal at Turnu-Severin in Romania, and rail targets at Belgrade, Yugoslavia. Thirty-four enemy planes were destroyed against a loss of 16 heavy bombers and 17 other aircraft.

These air attacks from the Mediterranean came as other American bombers from the new shuttle bases in Russia were striking out against a German air field in Romania.

Targets north of Rome were attacked from the air last night, the daily communique said.

Bradley Leader Of Ground Force SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 7 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley is commanding the U. S. ground forces participating in the invasion.

Bradley won fame in Tunisia by capturing the French naval base of Bizerte in May, 1943, with thousands of Germans while in command of the American second corps.

Thrifty of his men's blood but a thorough master of tactics, he is known as "The Doughboy's General."

Eric Larson, 45, Molalla logger and operator of the Molalla Telephone Exchange, was killed by a flying cable released by a falling snag Monday night. The widow and four children survive.

Pvt. Walter McDowell, 37, Camp White, died Tuesday of injuries suffered Monday night when he was run over by a lumber truck on the Dead Indian road south of Medford. State Police Capt. B. J. Staats said he apparently had fallen asleep in the road.

Lions Club Elects Paul Skeen Leader Paul Skeen was elected president of the Lions club at the last regular meeting. M. E. Nicodemus was elected vice president, E. C. Vanderpool, secretary-treasurer; Paul Angstead, Jack Bishop, Keith Rice, Wes D. McNea and Merle Adams, directors.

Clarence Humble gave the address of welcome to three new members, Paul Lee, Bob Henry and Lloyd Lamb.

The initiation of officers will be held at the country club June 20. All Lions are requested to be there.

Huge Slaughter Of Germans Told

LONDON, June 7 (AP)—More than 10,000 German officers and men were killed in the fighting north of Iasi, Romania, between May 30 and June 6, Moscow announced tonight.

This slaughter of Nazi forces during the savage battle in the Province of Moldavia has slowed up the German attacks, the broadcast Russian communique indicated. It said that thrusts made today were by "small forces" and that all were beaten back.

Ernest King Jr. In Annapolis Class ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 7 (AP)—Midshipman Ernest King Jr., son of the commander-in-chief of the United States navy, was among men in the graduating class at the naval academy today.

Midshipman King, whose home is Washington, attended the Coronado (Calif.) high school, Randle's Preparatory school and George Washington university, both in Washington.

He entered the academy after competitive examination for an appointment by the president.

Figures Released On France Attack By The Associated Press Some figures on the invasion of France:

More than 900 C-47 troop transports and gliders were used in the opening blow. The "train," nine planes wide, was 200 miles long as it went across the English channel 300 feet above water. Today another "train," 50 miles long, poured in reinforcements.

Thirteen thousand individual flights were made by the planes in the first day of invasion. Premier Churchill said 11,000 planes were available. Of the seas were 4000 ships and many more lighter craft.
