TROOPS GET BIG WELCOME

By E. J. GILLINGS
Representing the Combined British Press Distributed by The Associated Press

BAYEUX, France, June 7 (Delayed)—It was just before midday today that our infantry and tanks entered this town. While our infantry was wiping out enemy snipers the people came out cheering, flocking into the roadway which a few moments before had been completely deserted. Waving tricolors and shouting "Welcome to the allies" they flocked around a jeep, pelting it with flowers, and within a few moments the jeep was covered with roses and carnations.

A tank coming up the street had to stop to avoid running into the crowd. The tank was showered with flowers. Bottles of wine were handed up to the crew by enthusiastic men and women. Children asked for souvenirs.

Sing Anthem
The people took us to the main hotel where one of them opened a piano and they sang the national anthem.

The first contact with enemy tanks in the central sector of the front was made this morning east of Bausau while our infantry was clearing some high ground. After our infantry got in among the enemy positions and was mopping up, a small group of enemy tanks appeared and opened fire.

The infantry anti-tanks guns returned the fire and the enemy retired quickly. German infantrymen took advantage of the natural cover given by clumps of trees on high ground around Jayeux but tanks supported by infantry did excellent work in clearing them out.

Prisoners Caged
I saw groups of German prisoners being shepherded across grain fields. They were formed into a column and marched to a prisoners' cage.

The people told us the main enemy force which occupied the town left at 7 o'clock this morning, leaving only a small rear-guard of snipers. These snipers were liquidated by our troops soon after they arrived.

The enemy blew up a big bridge on the southern extreme of the town on the main road to Saint Lo, which would seem to indicate the enemy already had given up the possibility of counter attacking on this road.

Care Taken
(Gault MacGowan of the New York Sun, who flew over Bayeux before the attack was launched, said in a dispatch that "our mission was to destroy the enemy defenses of the town and our bombs were a tapestry around it which historians may make as famous as the historic tapestries within the city itself." He said great care was taken to avoid any bomb damage to Bayeux itself.

(It's beautiful cathedral of Notre Dame and its old houses were plainly visible as we made our bombing run and there was a knot of people outside the hotel Luxembourg in 'the street of the Butchers.'" MacGowan said. "Bayeux was a landmark to troops advancing from the beaches. Notre Dame, with its two great Romanesque towers, surmounted by 13th century spires, was beckoning them on like fingers.")
