ONPA OPENS STREAMLINED CONVENTION

EUGENE, June 16 (AP)—The two-day streamlined convention of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers' association opened here today with several business sessions and talks by Frank Lonergan, Portland attorney, and by William M. Tugman, managing editor of the Eugene Register-Guard.

Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Portland Oregonian, and president of the ONPA, opened this morning's business session when several committees were appointed. Jack Travis, Hood River Sun; Glen Chandler, John Day Valley Ranger; Lucien Arnt, Baker Democrat-Herald; Jack Bladine, McMinnville Telephone-Register, and Ralph Cronise, Albany Democrat-Herald, were named to the nominating committee.

A special committee to work out a suitable memorial to honor the late Eric W. Allen, founder of the University of Oregon school of journalism, will be headed by Tugman, and with George S. Turnbull, acting dean of the journalism school; Merle Chessman, Astoria Astorian-Budget, Cronise and Bladine as members of the committee.

Lonergan told the publishers that the "press can be a most powerful influence in building public opinion and public consciousness to the juvenile delinquency problem."

Tugman told of the history of Lane county's post-war planning project which was promoted extensively by the Eugene Register-Guard and gained world-wide notice.

Eyewitness Account Of B-29 Raids List Klamath Pilot

an's southernmost home island, Porter disclosed. The mill is a mainstay in Japan's war industry.

Japs Amazed

The attack "was carried out with almost complete amazement to the Japs," Porter broadcast.

Porter's text, as transcribed by CBS:

"The attacks were swift and surprising. They came with almost complete amazement to the Japs. We'd run into rigorous action with that mysterious weapon of American planning and skill, the Superfortress, known as the B-29.

"Tons upon tons of bombs were dropped on the coke-ovens and open hearth furnaces. Japanese anti-aircraft fire poured into the sky, and shell-fragments dug deeply into the super-bombers, but the engines kept turning and nearly all the ships came home. Eleven war correspondents went up on the trip to see, at the invitation of the 20th bomber command, the show of shows. And when the planes had turned homeward, leaving behind the glowing masses of wreckage Japan had had her answer to December 7, 1941, at Pearl Harbor.

"It's not too much to say that the silver and alive drab dragonflies, as some of the crews have named these new B-29's, have struck at the heart of the dragon itself. And simulutaneously the news came of the preliminary raid that has been made on Jap-occupied Bangkok in Thialand, in the last week. The dragon fly is beginning to make itself felt.

Prepared Defenses

"The attack on the Japanese mainland by the B-29s demonstrated one fact which our air force has long been endeavoring to learn. The lesson being studied today, as the reports of pilots and crews are compiled, is that while the enemy was caught by surprise in the intial attacks, he has prepared defenses and he can marshal enough night-fighter planes to cause at least some interference with out bombing pattern. For the most part, during the first period of this regular mission against the Japanese mainland, very little developed except searchlights and anti-aircraft. In the second phase, the anti-aircraft fire died down.

"That to experienced fliers is the signal that night fighters have taken off. The third period was the crucial one, when the Jap fighters actually pressed their attack home with only meager results. B-29's reporting back to bases in the early morning hours of Friday could show some bullet-holes but very little material damage. The B-29, planned and executed as an offensive weapon has, its own pilots believe, proved its worth.

Surprise

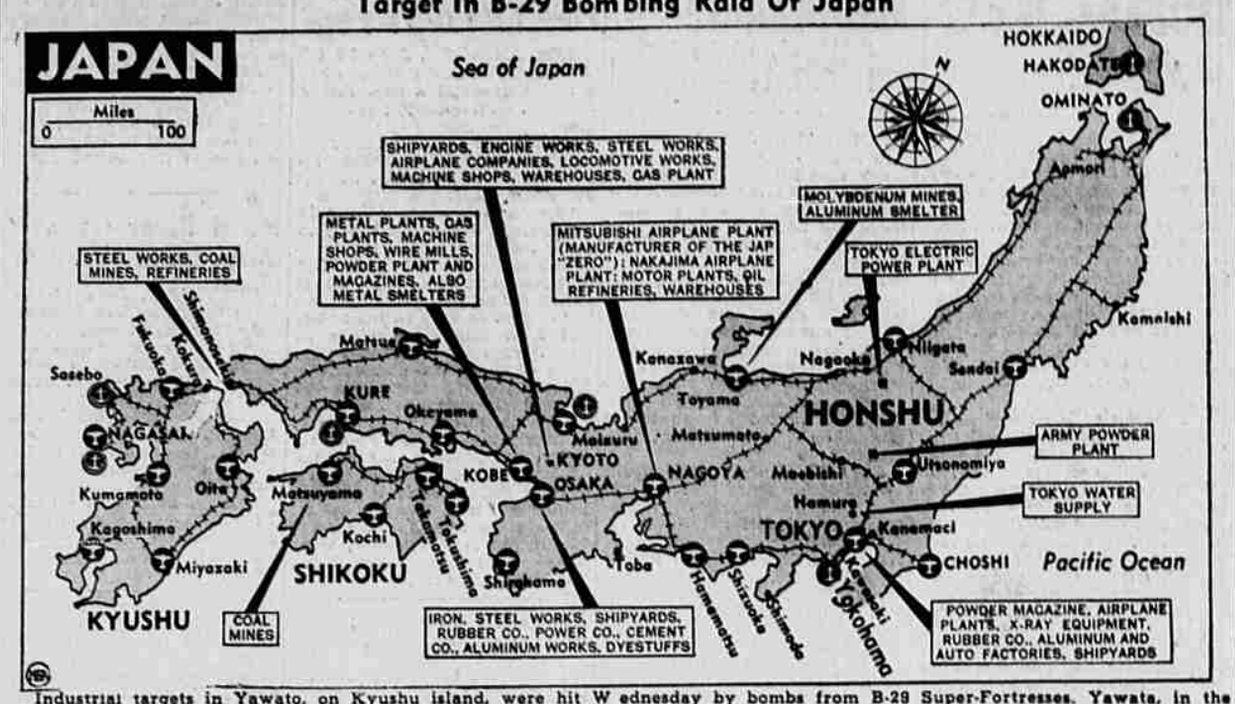
The primary result of the attack against Yawata was surprise. The first dips over the target found that the area was unguarded against the destructive results of the bomb-loads. In itself, that one factor is of vital importance since the iron and steel company i. the harbor area is the factory that Japan needs to keep her war machine running against us and our allies. What effects this bombing mission may have on the course of the war not even the people who have planned the raid will know, but it is an assured fact that the whole plan, mapped out long ago and carried through to relatively successful conclusion, has brought more importance to our long-range bombing program and similarly to the enemy's often-publicized defense plan.

"The boys who flew the raid last night now know that there are defenses there, but they also know that they are not as formidable as they have been made out to be by the Japs. The B-29 raid, the first on the Japanese mainland fron. Chinese bases, started off with a bang and finished with a flourish. From first to finish, it was an American show with American planes, American bombs, American apparatus and American crews.

"But there are two other nations involved in the planning of this gigantic air offensive. First, China — because without hundreds of thousands of Chinese laborers called 'coolies,' the raids would never have been possible, because there would have been no airfields from which t. bomb. The second nation involved— that's Japan, involved itself by the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor on that infamous day of Dec. 7th, 1941."

So soft and pliable is the Alaska sealskin that an entire adult pelt can be passed through a napkin ring.

Target In B-29 Bombing Raid Of Japan



Industrial targets in Yawata, on Kyushu island, were hit Wednesday by bombs from B-29 Super-Fortresses. Yawata, in the northern part of the island near Kokura, is indicated by an arrow. Other vital bombing targets, including arms and munitions centers, are shown on the map.

Falling Gun Kills Young Hunter

BONNERS FERRY, Ida., June 16 (AP)—Frank Parshall said today the body of his son, Frank Eden Parshall, 20, was found Tuesday and apparently the youth had been shot accidentally when his revolver dropped from its holster.

The elder Parshall and Capt. Charles Parshall of Ogden, Utah, who aided in the search, said the youth had gone hunting and failed to return. They said it was apparent young Parshall leaned over to pick up a gopher he had killed and the revolver slipped to the ground, discharging.

STUDENT BOND TOTALS REACH HIGH FIGURES

Students from every school in Klamath county aided the war effort immensely by the purchase of $126,195.35 of war bonds and stamps during the 1943-1944 school year, according to A. M. Collier, war finance chairman.

City schools bought bonds and stamps totaling $47,262.30. In addition to this Klamath Union high school sponsored the Klamath-Grant football game which raised $112,000 in bond sales for the Third War Loan.

Fremont grade and junior high school topped the rest of the city by buying $11,784 of bonds and stamps. Other schools and their totals are Conger, $2804.95; Fairview, $3315.70; Mills, $9362.55; Pelican, $2595.55; Riverside, $2802.45; Roosevelt, $6297.10, and KUHS, $8300.

Fifth War Loan officials are urging that all school children continue to buy stamps and bonds in the same manner they have before.

Klamath county schools have not been lagging either. A total of $78,394.85 of stamps and bonds have been bought to further the war effort. Henley elementary and high schools lead the rest of the county with $11,095.50 in war bonds and stamps.

PIN-WORMS
At Last—
A Real Treatment!

You may not realize how many of your neighbors—grown-ups as well as children—have Pin-Worms at this very moment.

People don't talk about this nasty infection. Sometimes they are too embarrassed to mention the tormenting rectal itching; and up to now they have usually suffered in silence because they have not known of any effective way to deal with this dreadful pest that lives inside the human body.

Important Medical Discovery

Today, thanks to a valuable scientific discovery, a remarkable new treatment has been made possible. It is based on a special drug, known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablets developed by Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines. P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special, gentle way to destroy Pin-Worms.

It is very easy to "catch" this nasty infection, and the ugly creatures can cause real distress. So watch for the signs that may mean Pin-Worms: itching seat, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, get a box of P-W right away and follow the simple directions carefully.

P-W means Pin-Worm relief!
