

MEMORIAL COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The Klamath county organization to assist in raising the George R. Hyslop Agricultural Research memorial has been completed with the appointment of 18 members of the county committee to work in the various communities, Harry Jackman, county chairman, has announced.

A memorial fund is being raised to honor the memory of the late George R. Hyslop, whose long service as head of the farm crops department at Oregon State college was a leading factor in the modern development of Oregon agriculture, said Jackman.

Under the leadership of a state committee headed by Harry Proudfoot, Sherman county wheat farmer, a campaign will be conducted through 1944 to raise a fund of $200,000, income from which will be used to finance research scholarships to hasten the study of Oregon problems in crop production. The idea of such a working memorial was accepted so spontaneously by friends of Professor Hyslop that unsolicited gifts began to come into the college soon after his death, resulting in the formation of the state committee and a definite organization plan.

Coos Bay Crew Appeals For Stoppage of Strikes

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—An appeal to workers in war plants not to interrupt the production of fighting implements by striking—coupled with an offer accompanied by $412 in cash "to help pay the wage increase that money-hungry strikers are demanding"—was contained in a communication received by the Associated Press marked as coming from "the crew of the USS Coos Bay," a seaplane tender, and stamped "Passed by naval censor."

The communication, dated June 10, in care of the fleet postoffice, San Francisco, referred specifically to "the present strikers of the Wright Aircraft corporation" and added: "Please implore them to end their strike and accept our offer to help pay their wage increase which they feel is more important than our lives."

Referring to the strike which lasted from June 5 to 17, at the Lockland, O., plant of the Wright Aeronautical corporation, without union authorization, and after being shown by the Associated Press a copy of the Coos Bay letter, R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers, CIO, said in Washington:

"These men in the armed service have been propagandized, our international office has done everything it possibly can and will continue to do more to stop all such strikes as the Wright strike. No wage issue was involved. It was an anti-negro issue."

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, to whom the A.P. forwarded the $412 in U. S. paper currency accompanying the Coos Bay letter, said he had "no comment" after noting a copy of the letter.

Robert Spitzmiller, president of local 647, UAW (CIO) representing workers at the plant, at Cincinnati issued a statement accusing "newspaper publishers of the United States" of having a "planned campaign" to create "antagonism between labor and the armed forces." He suggested that the Associated Press use the money to print certificates to be distributed among their members for the wonderful job they are doing in sowing hatred, intolerance, and misunderstanding in the minds of Americans.

Meantime, in Washington, Rep. Compton (R-Conn.) told the A. P. he had received this week a copy of the Coos Bay letter which was addressed to the A. P. at San Francisco. The congressman said it came to him with a letter from a naval lieutenant who previously had written Compton on the subject of reaction among men in the armed services to strikes in war plants.

Last January 12 Rep. Compton read to the house a letter from this officer who asserted: "We have a double battle, one with our external enemies and the other with our internal enemies." The letter later was placed in the congressional record and carried the signature of Lt. W. F. James. Compton said today that James was one of the authors of the letter to the A. P.

Rep. Compton said that in view of developments he was making public a portion of the naval officer's letter to him this week, as follows:

"We out here have never let ourselves be 'thrown' by the continued strikes at home . . . as we buried our dead some time ago. We further resolved that nothing would interfere with our final glorious victory; so resolved were we that the inclosed letter was written and the 'collection of pennies' was started."

Compton replied yesterday to the lieutenant that it was "particularly unfortunate that the Wright strike occurred on D-Day."

"Fortunately, however," the congressman wrote, "the great majority of the members of labor in this country are sticking pretty close to the job and, viewing the situation as a whole, the production people of this country have done a truly tremendous and magnificent job of providing the tools of war, not only for our own forces, but for the forces of other members of the United Nations."

Garden Group to Meet June 26

For any additional information call either Mrs. H. E. Getz, No. 5269, or Mrs. William Wood, 4548. The business meeting will be at 2 p. m.

THOMAS HITS AT CIO COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Representative Thomas (R-N.J.), a member of the Dies committee, said in the house today that evidence in the committee's files "clearly shows that the CIO political action committee is in fact the political arm of the new deal administration."

"Here," he asserted, "is a communist-dominated group, wielding a $4,000,000 slush fund aimed at the political death of every congressman who will not take it into the White House itself."

The organization's activities, he added, "are directed from the White House by the new deal political strategists, David K. Niles and Jonathan Daniels," administrative assistants to President Roosevelt.

Thomas made the assertion during a brief but heated discussion of a newspaper column by Westbrook Pegler claiming that evidence indicated a close tie-up between the White House and the PAC.

Representative Marcantonio (A-I-NY) demanded that the house investigate the source of Pegler's information, and Democratic Whip Ramspeck of Georgia also voiced a desire to know how the columnist got a "pipeline" into the Dies committee. Representative Celler (D-N.Y.) asked whether the committee's staff was employed by the house or by Pegler.

Thomas and Marcantonio were ruled out of order during a debate on methods they said were used by Pegler and Drew Pearson, newspaper columnist, to obtain information. Thomas asserted that Pearson had access to high new deal leaders.

Hale Predicts Best Railroad Service Ever After War

While the railroads of the nation are now engrossed with the handling of the tremendous war load, they are going to be ready when peace comes to provide the best transportation service in history, W. W. Hale, vice president in charge of system freight traffic for the Southern Pacific company, told members of the Pacific Northwest Advisory board at their meeting in Seattle Thursday.

Specifically, Hale pointed to the many improvements which have been made in railroad plants to expedite war traffic, including enlargements of terminals and installations of new facilities, such as centralized traffic control (an electrical device for directing train movements by remote control to increase the capacity of single-track railroad) on which the Southern Pacific has spent millions.

740 MARINES TO ARRIVE HERE SOON

Scheduled to arrive in Klamath Falls by train in the next three days are 740 marines who are to be stationed at the Marine Barracks. As soon as they arrive here, each marine will be given a 30-day furlough and the Southern Pacific is making preparations for selling tickets to the servicemen who will be going home to all parts of the United States.

Three extra girls have been hired to help with the writing out and distribution of tickets. Southern Pacific officials stated that from the last group of marines to arrive here and receive furloughs, tickets were purchased by the servicemen to practically every state in the union.

Lumber Mills Set Vacation Schedule
