

SURPLUS ARMY TRUCKS MAY GET FARM USE

A few surplus used army trucks are now being made available for sale for farm use and more are expected from now on. Although only a few will be available in Oregon in the immediate future, applications may be made to the county farm transportation committee by farmers.

An important new procedure has been worked out that provides for orderly and fair distribution of these trucks. The procedure which will probably be used for all types of equipment as it becomes available requires that these trucks be handled through regular licensed motor vehicle dealers where they will be subject to price regulations thus assuring the final sale to users will be at fair prices and without undue profit to handlers.

Included in the available trucks are GMC's, Dodges, Fords, Chevrolts and occasionally an International. About half are older models the range in size from 3 to 1 1/2 ton with a few larger ones. Body types include stake body, dump, trucks, pickups, suburban carry-alls and station wagons. Most of the trucks have a wheel base from 151 to 157 inches. Since the above body types are not particularly adapted to farm work, applicants might find it necessary to accept any type of body and convert the truck into whatever type is needed.

Conversions of these trucks to farm use may be difficult, and reconditioning may be necessary, but the few that can be obtained will be a definite help to agriculture. Out of a normal peace time replacement of 500,000 trucks, farmers of the United States have been allowed approximately only 22,000 out of the total production of 88,000 new trucks to be manufactured for this year.

At present only those applications should be submitted. Applications will be considered on their merits and rated according to relative production need. As trucks become available they will be sold on the basis of this rating to applicants. Applications are on hand in room 209 Federal building.

Army Man Wins Two Nominations

SALEM, June 29 (AP)—State Rep. John F. Steelhammer, Salem republican, who now is in the army, won the democratic nomination for reelection, as well as republican renomination, the state department said today.

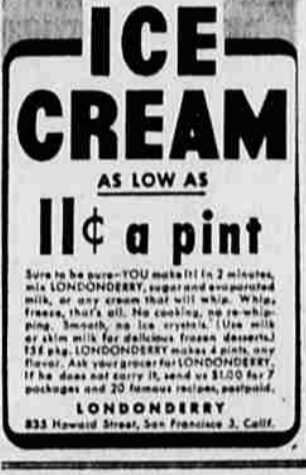

There were no democratic candidates for the four Marion county house vacancies. The Marion county democratic central committee will have to choose three candidates. Paul Hendricks, Lewis Judson and Walter Lamkin each received enough votes to win the democratic nominations, but, all being republicans, they could not accept democratic nominations because their own party had refused to nominate them.

Farrell to Request Change in Law

SALEM, June 29 (AP)—Secretary of State Robert S. Farrell, Jr. said today he would ask the 1945 legislature to repeal the law requiring relatives to pay for support of patients at the state hospital. The law requires relatives, where able, to pay up to $25 a month, and more than $20,000 a month is collected.

The board of control approved transfer of 60 women patients from the state hospital to the Eastern Oregon State hospital at Pendleton.
