

M'CORMACK TO HEAD WRITERS OF PLATFORM

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—House Majority Leader McCormack of Massachusetts was reported today to be the choice to head the resolutions subcommittee that will write the democratic party platform.

His selection is expected to be announced late today by the democratic national committee, along with the rest of the subcommittee membership. As head of the subcommittee, McCormack would be in line for chairmanship of the full resolutions committee at the convention opening July 19 at Chicago.

McCormack, now in Massachusetts, is expected to get the subcommittee together in Chicago a few days before the convention opens for preliminary work on the platform.

One of the chief legislative lieutenants of President Roosevelt, the house democratic leader was offered the resolutions chairmanship after Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York declined it. Wagner had the post at the 1936 and 1940 conventions, but this year he is attending an international monetary conference at Bretton Woods, N. M.

Democrats here are talking of putting their platform this year in capsule form, condensing its wording to a minimum. Interest will center in a foreign policy plank, as it did at the republican convention, with party leaders considering a declaration calling for use of the American army and navy if necessary, to halt further aggression in the world and guarantee permanent peace.

BEG PARDON

YORK, Pa.—Mistaken identity proved a definite asset to Clarence F. Paules.

A short time after reporting his car stolen, Paules phoned police to tell them everything was all right.

The car, taken by mistake, had been returned—washed and polished.

SURPRISE

PHILADELPHIA—Jacob Vanwick was driving his car safely through the downtown traffic maze of the country's third largest city when a doe jumped from some shrubbery, ran into the automobile and broke her neck.

OH, DEER!

LOS ANGELES—Deer from 3801-acre Griffith park, said R. D. Giorgio, were chomping his vegetables as fast as he could grow them on his 40-acre plot. Could he use bird shot to discourage the animals? Yes, said the police commission.

Soon he was back. Bird shot, he reported, didn't bother the deer at all. The police commission, refusing to allow him to increase the size of the shot, suggested he talk to the park department about fencing in their charges.

Meanwhile, the deer eat on.

EASY AS PIE

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Mary Ann Scholes, 11, was making mud pies. She stuck in her thumb and pulled out a plum—a $400 diamond.

The stone was found in the backyard of the residence the Scholes family rents from State Supreme Court Justice T. J. Mabry. It was returned to Mrs. Marby, who lost it from her engagement ring—17 years ago.

O'CONNOR DEFENDS KENNY TREATMENT

PORTLAND, July 6 (AP)—Defense of the Sister Kenny paralysis treatment was offered by Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, here yesterday.

The famed Australian nurse's system of treating paralysis by physical therapy was under fire recently by seven doctors who reported to the American Medical Association that her treatment had not prevented or decreased the effects of the disease in 650 cases they studied.

"Our foundation has spent over a half million dollars testing and evaluating the Kenny treatment and making the good of it available to the public," said O'Connor, who was formerly a law partner of President Roosevelt.

He credited the Kenny treatment "which is not advanced as a cure" with considerable merit. "This controversy has stimulated a great deal of research and investigation, and some of our greatest medical discoveries have come as a result of controversies."

Gonorrhea Heads Oregon Diseases

PORTLAND, July 6 (AP)—Gonorrhea headed the communicable disease list in Oregon last week, with 54 new cases including 32 from Multnomah county, the state board of health said today.

Measles came second in order of frequency. One case of tick fever was recorded in Harney county, and a case of undulant fever in Jackson county.

Bids Called For House Removal

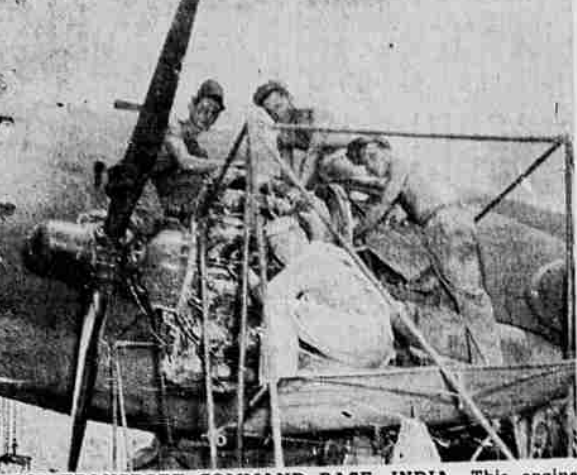

TOLEDO, July 6 (AP)—Bids have been called for the removal of 20 prefabricated houses from the newly completed Siletz housing project to Gardiner.

The houses were requested by the Gardiner Lumber company to ease the shortage of living quarters for loggers.

Russian Author Struggles With Bear for Governor

PORTLAND, July 6 (AP)—Capt. Kanstantin Badigin, youthful Russian author and shipmaster, was still struggling vainly today to give Governor Earl Snell a tame Siberian bear.

The 110-pound animal, brought from Russia aboard a merchant ship, was to be presented to the governor yesterday. The bear sniffed pleasantly at Snell, ate sugar from his hand. But when the governor said "Come, now, Maria, let's go home," the 18-month-old animal scurried into her hole on the ship's deck and refused to emerge.

The fate of Maria—Mashka in Russian—is still uncertain. Arthur M. Greenhall, Portland zoo director who presumably would wind up with Maria, said he did not see how he could fit another bear into his pens.

And the Russians do not want to go back with it. On the trip over, complained Capt. Badigin, Maria drank up the banquet table's beer, ate most of the eggs

MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

MERRILL—Airplane Electrician's Mate Third Class Roy Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Wheeler, is home following many months of active service in the South Pacific. Young Wheeler, 31, enlisted one week after Pearl Harbor in the U. S. navy, and saw his first action only 38 days later at Midway. Later he went in with the first wave of service men on Guadalcanal and later saw action at Bougainville, Rabaul and other combat zones.

After contracting malaria, he was sent first to New Zealand for hospital treatment and later to the naval hospital at San Diego. Recently he was given his medical discharge and will remain here to assist his father on his ranch near Merrill.

RIPE TOMATOES MAKE A VERY TASTY JAM

This Quick, Easy Recipe Saves You Sugar

3½ Cups Ground Tomatoes
6 Cups Sugar
½ Cup Lemon Juice
¼ Teaspoon Salt
1 Grated Lemon Rind
1 Package M.C.P. Pectin

Wash and pour boiling water over tomatoes; slip off the skins and grind the fruit. Add the salt and grated lemon rind. Measure exactly 3½ cups of this mixture (add water to fill out last cup, if necessary) into a large kettle. Add the M.C.P. Pectin, stir well and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. NOW, add the sugar (which has been previously measured), mix well and bring to a full rolling boil. BOIL EXACTLY 4 MINUTES. Remove from fire, let boil subside, stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars, allowing ½-inch space for sealing with fresh paraffin.

Parachute Troops Descend On Airdrome in Saipan

By ASAHEL BUSH

NOEMFOOR ISLAND, Dutch New Guinea, July 3 (Delayed) (AP)—Parachutes, some ice-white, some camouflaged green, budded and blossomed in the blue mid-morning sky.

Black dots suspended from shrouds became doll-like silhouettes, then khaki-clad figures of fighting men armed to the teeth with every sort of portable weapon.

These were American parachute troops descending upon the yellow coral surface of Kamiri airdrome.

Second Day

In the second day of the Noemfoor invasion, they came to reinforce the infantry which by quick successes yesterday had secured this spot on which to land.

It was the second time paratroopers had been used in combat in the Southwest Pacific. A parachute unit took Nadzab airstrip in British New Guinea nearly nine months ago and blocked a possible inland retreat by Japanese cornered at Lae.

Plane Escort

Today, transported by troop-carrier planes and escorted by a swarm of Lightnings and Mitchells, they came in under the leadership of one of the army's earliest paratroopers.

The formation circled offshore briefly while combat planes laid a smokescreen along a ridge behind the airstrip to protect the jumpers from any possible enemy fire from that direction.

Disgorge Cargo

Then, in carefully spaced pairs like participants in a wedding procession, the transports passed the length of the runway disgorging their cargoes two by two.

It was a spectacular sight. The first jumpers dropped from minimum altitude, with later waves leaping in an ascending scale to form a three-dimensional backdrop of floating chutes.

At times there were as many as 70 parachutes in the air simultaneously. The entire paratroop unit was aground within less than 15 minutes.

Abandon Harness

Once afoot, the men abandoned their parachute harness and mustered with the others of their units at quickly established concentration points.

Flying Fortress supply ships followed the transport planes to drop ammunition and equipment in gay azure and cerise chutes.

One unfortunate jumper picked a single outstretched branch at the crest of the tallest tree in the area over which to drape his chute. He dangled pathetically for half an hour before rescuers threw a rope up to him.

Few Casualties

There were a few casualties, most of them of a minor nature. Breathless from the speed of
