TOO NONCHALANT
PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — A burglar chopped holes in walls of two shops, crawled in, looted cash registers of $30, and then made a big mistake—he walked out a front door, set off an alarm and was arrested.

GENEROUS
SPRING SPRING, Md., July 8.—To help keep draftees from leaving for the army with empty pockets, Russell Mizell has been giving a dollar bill to each man inducted by Montgomery county board No. 2. His payments hit the $3500 mark today with a dollar to his son, Fred, who has two brothers in the service.

BRISTLY BEARDS
SALT LAKE CITY—Startled by the bristly appearance of their mailmen, Salt Lake City residents asked Postmaster I. A. Smoot how come.
"It's all a promotional stunt for the city's 'days of '47' celebration late this month," he explained. The letter carriers decided to compete in a beard-growing contest.

EASY STREET
JOLIET, Ill. — Property tax has been the least of Herman Metz's worries for many years. City authorities recently found Metz's home was built in the center of what once was intended to be a city street but was never constructed.
Metz hasn't been sent a tax bill because the property has not been listed on the tax books since the house was built 30 years ago.

Guadalcanal Men Want Whiskey, Mail

PORTLAND, July 8 (AP)—Col. Wyman Eiseke Marshall, new commandant of the marine airbase at Corvallis, declared yesterday that the things Guadalcanal soldiers wanted most of all were "whiskey and mail."
"Whiskey for a mental lift," Marshall told the Oregon Post-masters conference here. "Mail to pick up their morale. There's nothing like the good old hand-writing of the home folks."

Mike, the wire-haired terror (mixed with plain pooch) belonging to Roy Turpin, stole the show one stage of the games. It was the boys' three-legged sack race. Roy and Evan Gibbons were running laboriously and the sack was trotting along smiling at them when they got out of the ring and down they went. The boys on top of them mauling them plenty and finally came out of the sack off their feet and away he ran with it. He was having his fun, too, for he kept beyond the reach of the boys who started chasing him.

Lorna Blunt proved to be the best runner among the young. Eugene Hollister and wife, and Abbie, from Oakland, Calif., are sitting with Mrs. Hollister's mother, Mrs. Frank Alexander, and Mrs. Hollister is the daughter of the late Lula Jepson here. They were guests at the Grange picnic.

Mrs. Martin Hamersley and children returned last Saturday afternoon by stage from a month's visit with Mrs. Hamersley's parents in Arizona. They all seemed to have a good time from the warmer southern country.

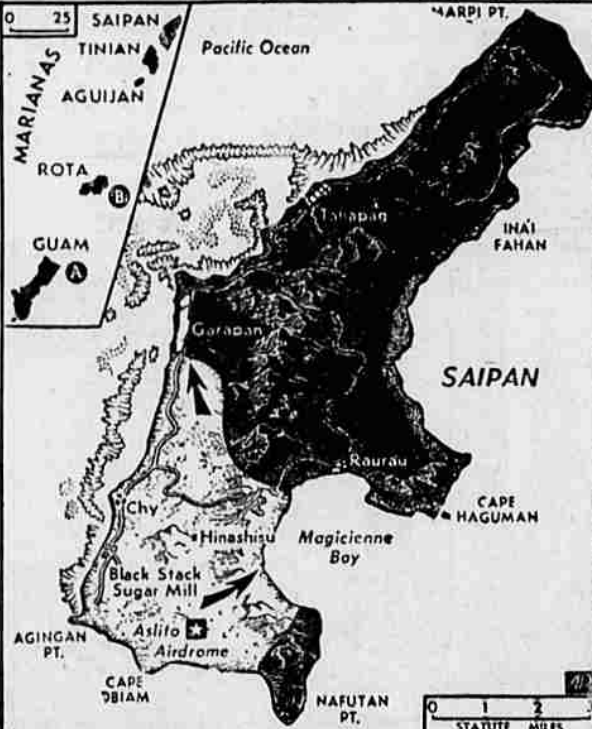

Velma Arnett of Likely spent several days over the Fourth visiting with Elsie Turpin. Zella Blurton returned Saturday.

This Nazi, whose youthful face reveals his age as only 16, has been made a ruthless killer by German ideology. Thousands like him die for Hitler. He was captured by Yanks at Cherbourg.

Brass Hats Break Up Talk Between Princess, Private

LONDON, July 8 (AP)—The princess and the private got along nicely in their interview, but the brass hats broke it up.
Princess Elizabeth and her parents were visiting a U. S. eighth airforce bomber base yesterday, and Pvt. Gene Graff, Chicago, a reporter for "Stars and Stripes," sought an interview.
"Is this your first visit to an American camp?" he asked the 18-year-old future queen of England, his story disclosed.
"Yes, it is," she replied, "and I am enjoying it very much."
"Do you ever have American guests at your hou-er-palace?" queried Graff.
"Not unless they attend state parties or are being decorated by daddy," replied the princess.
"If you mean at my parties and dances, the Americans have never attended—probably only because I haven't met any."
Then a British general edged between the princess and the private.
Three hours and two Fortress stations later Graff found another opportunity to approach the princess, who was eating ice cream with three American Red

AIR FORCE WING ESTABLISHED

PORTLAND, July 8 (AP)—The 317th wing of the fourth air force, with control over 20 western army bases, has been established at Redmond army base. The staff of 15 officers and men is under command of Col. J. C. Crosthwaite, veteran of the African and Sicilian campaigns where he was chief of staff of tactical air forces under Air Marshal Sir Arthur Coningham.
All single-engine fighter pilot training on the Pacific coast is conducted on bases under the 317th wing.
The staff includes Lt. Col. Ernest C. Young, director of operations; Maj. Thomas H. Windburn, assistant director; Maj. Claude Brewer, director of administration; Lt. Irving MacPherson, assistant director; and Lt. Col. William Moody, director of supply and maintenance.

Hildebrand

Mr. and Mrs. James Leubke and children, Bobby and Barbara, of Klamath, Wash., who have been visiting with Mrs. Leubke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Rueck, have returned home.
Precipitation for the month of June as recorded at the Yonka station was 2.76, with seven clear days, 20 cloudy and three part cloudy days.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Hoefler and children, Floyd, Ray, Gloria and Wanda, of Klamath Falls were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ritter on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vieira were transacting business in Klamath Falls on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Marshall and children Jackie, Cathleen and Janice of Olene, accompanied by Mrs. Marshall's mother, Mrs. Hill of Henley, visited on Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Hartzler and son John.

Among those who were transacting business in Klamath Falls on Saturday were Mrs. Richard Hoefler, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Hartzler, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Michael, and John Logue.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Smyth of the Henley district visited on Wednesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Hartzler.

Andrew Boduc, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Frank Challis, was transacting business in Klamath Falls on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sullivan of Olene visited with Mrs. Sullivan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Hartzler, and brother John.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Hoefler and children Floyd, Ray, Gloria and Wanda, of Klamath Falls, visited on Sunday evening with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Michael, and both and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Michael.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ritter and children, Clara and Erwin, visited on Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ritter.

Sarah Logue, who is employed at the Klamath Valley hospital, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Annie Logue of Hildebrand.

Cross girls. He asked if such a trip was being.

"I've been enjoying myself too much to think of being tired," she replied, smiling. "You know, I don't get to meet so many people very often."

The princess seemed to grow more cordial and more inclined to talk, Graff wrote, but this time an RAF wing commander eased over to them.

"How long have you been in England?" he asked Graff.
Graff said he made "a strategic withdrawal."

What's the Army Coming To?

Breakfast in bed—and served by the first sergeant! The corporal, T/S Lawrence H. Webster of Queens, N. Y., can hardly believe his sleepy eyes, but there it is, First Sgt. Stephen Wargo of San Francisco, eggs and all. This "unusual event" in Army routine occurred when sergeants of a Quartermaster Truck Company in New Caledonia served breakfast to men under their grade to celebrate outfit's first year overseas.

Barkley May Nominate FDR For Fourth Term at Demo National Convention

By The Associated Press
Alben W. Barkley, who angrily but temporarily resigned as senate majority leader after a spectacular row with President Roosevelt last February, probably will nominate the chief executive for a fourth term.

Widespread acceptance of the view that the Kentuckian thus would seal completely his personal reconciliation with Mr. Roosevelt highlighted today's (Saturday) political developments which centered chiefly about the nation's capital.

And there was fresh speculation in Washington over Vice President Wallace's chances of renomination. He will make a radio address from Seattle tomorrow night, presumably to report on his trip to China and Siberia.

Also drawing the interest of political observers was the disclosure that there may be precedent for exclusion of delegates who declare that they will not abide by convention decisions.

The democratic delegate situation in Texas and Mississippi has been clouded by intra-party dispute.

Acceptance Question
Talks of a Barkley nominating speech at the Democratic National convention, which opens in Chicago July 19, reinforced an expressed belief of party chiefs that the president will accept another nomination. Such an address naturally would not be made without Mr. Roosevelt's acquiescence.

Such an address, too, might embrace a pointed bid by the senate leader for party unit.

Barkley Second
A Barkley nominating speech in no way would jeopardize whatever chances he might have of moving into second place on the ticket, a spot for which National Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan has listed eight people as in the running.

Presumably, Wallace's address, to be broadcast from Seattle over NBC at 3:30 p. m., Pacific war time, will be in the nature of a report on his trip.

However, it is generally agreed that the convention's action may be influenced by how much prestige accrues to Wallace from his mission as a special representative of President Roosevelt.

Cascade

The fishing in Lake Odell has been better this year than in previous years, probably due to fewer fishermen in the past years. Mrs. A. C. Nagel caught four trout while trolling from the Nagel dock to the resort dock, a distance of about a mile.

The Southern Pacific has an extra gang stationed here now with 40 men, Mexican nationals, widening the fills and realigning the track between here and Crescent Lake. William LaMar is the foreman.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Williams have moved to Oakridge where Williams is town marshal.

Among guests at Summit lodge over the Fourth of July holidays were Mr. and Mrs. George Morris of Klamath Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Eakler of Los Angeles are also registered at Summit lodge. They have been successful in making several nice catches of fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Benson of Cruzatte are moving to Cascade Summit where Benson will take over the duties of section foreman for the Southern Pacific. Benson is a brother-in-law of Gene Lavoy, who was foreman here.

Mrs. R. L. Porter visited in Oakridge with Mr. and Mrs. Williams one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Spurgeon have as their guests their daughter, her husband and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tomlinson have been staying at Cascade Summit while Tomlinson maintained the signals at Cruzatte.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green of the Fred Green automobile agency of Portland spent the Fourth at Lake Odell.

Mrs. Adeline Armanini, who was telegrapher here for the Southern Pacific, has moved to Crescent Lake and is now working third track there. Mrs. Armanini's husband is a doctor in the army now stationed in Italy.

An attraction at Cascade Summit is the St. Bernard dog owned by Frank Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were here while Rogers worked here as relief section foreman in the interim between Lavoy's departure and Benson's arrival.

When Rogers was transferred to Cruzatte to take over the duties as section foreman there until a permanent foreman comes, he thought it advisable to leave the large dog here for the time being where it can be cared for easier than in Cruzatte where he is barking.

Probation Officer Admits Theft

SEATTLE, July 8 (AP)—Employed a month ago as juvenile probation officer with "the highest recommendations," Leon Stanley, 29, has confessed to the theft of $60 from a home in which he was a guest, Prosecutor Lloyd Shorett reported.

Stanley was a graduate of Washington State college school of social administration and a former case worker for the Oregon Welfare commission.

A Spanish seaman invented a steamboat with a speed of three miles an hour in 1543.
