

E BOND SALES TOP MILLION MARK IN DRIVE

of $4,500,000—and it is still going strong. Joe Hicks, drive chairman for the sponsoring Kiwanis club, jubilantly announced that E bond sales had topped $1,000,000, against a quota of $987,000. July payroll purchases are still to come in, and will add substantially to the E bond campaign sales.

Here is the way the bond sales stacked up today:
E Bonds Sold—$1,000,000.
Individual Purchases (Including E Bonds) Quota—$1,289,000. Sold—$1,000,000.

Corporations Quota—$2,259,000. Sold—$700,000.

Over-All Totals Quota—$3,815,000. Sold—$4,500,000.

E. C. Sammons of Portland, state war finance chairman, stated over long distance telephone to The Herald and News: "Heartiest congratulations and sincere thanks to all workers and Klamath county citizens for a wonderful job, beautifully done."

Outstanding in State Sammons said the campaign, handled by the Kiwanis club with Joe Hicks as drive chairman, was outstanding in the state.

He added that the state bond sales now total $150,000,000 as against a state quota of $125,000,000.

"When the smoke of battle clears away July 31, we will be over $175,000,000," he said. "Such work as is being done in Klamath county will help put us there."

Union Buys Bonds The AFL Carpenters' union here today bought six $1000 E bonds, out of the organization's savings.

Employees of the carnival showing on South Sixth street bought $8450 in bonds, added to the Klamath county total. Many local people took advantage of the carnival's offer of free rides and shows to Friday bond buyers.

The Country Store in the Vox theatre will have its final fling tonight, with many items of year merchandise offered to bond buyers. The store will open at 7 p. m. and close at 10. It is apparent that the store bond sales will top $100,000 for the three days.

County Budget Adopted With Minor Adjustments Made in Final Hearings

The Klamath county budget for 1944-45 had been adopted this week following minor adjustments by the budget committee in final hearings. Salary increases in several departments, a car purchase, and additional money for service men's hospitality, were included in the final changes from the budget as originally published.

Decreases in other items necessarily had to be made to allow for department boosts as, according to law, the overall budget figure cannot be increased after the estimated budget has been published.

Biggest cut made at the adjustment hearing was the decrease of $10,000 from the $50,000 allocation for a new health unit and detention home. This was made possible by the purchase of the former Community hospital, which could be secured at less cost than it would have been had the health unit built.

There was also a $500 cut made in the pest control item and a $1200 decrease in funds for civilian defense, besides other minor drops in some budget items.

An allocation of $3000 for the newly organized Klamath Military Service committee was a new item added to the budget at the hearing. Another new item added since the budget estimate was prepared is $1500 for an additional county car to be used primarily by the assessor's office and the juvenile officer.

In salary adjustments the civil deputy sheriff's salary was raised from $2520 a year to $2580, the same amount as is received by the law deputy. Also, the chief deputy of the tax office got a slight increase in salary at the hearing raising the amount from $2820 to $2880.

Several changes were made in the circuit court budget. The salary of the assistant bailiff was upped from $100 to $250 and allocations for the court reporter were increased from $500 to $750. There were also increases over the estimates of jurors fees, mileage, attorney's fees and witness fees.

The juvenile officer's yearly salary was increased from $2550 to $2580 at the hearing and the salary of a deputy night man raised from $1800 to $2400.

Raised $800 a year was the laboratory technician's salary in the health department budget, making the yearly sum $1800. The courthouse janitor's yearly earnings were made $1920 from $1800.

Baranowicz is a stronghold on a main rail and highway route, and its fall opened the way for drives to Bialystok and Warsaw, 220 miles beyond. Here the Russians were 530 miles from Berlin itself, and 490 miles from one-bested Moscow.

southwest of Minsk and 125 miles northeast of Brest Litovsk, as an "important railway junction and powerful area of German defenses covering the direction toward Bialystok and Brest Litovsk." The city is 120 miles east of Bialystok. The order of the day called for the firing of 20 salvos from 224 guns in Moscow to mark the victory.

The German high command previously had announced the abandonment of Baranowicz. The new red army offensive east of Lwow and west of Kowel reported by the Nazi military commentators is in the area skirting the Czechoslovakia border.

Five Soviet rifle divisions and a tank corps had been thrown against German positions in a bid to breach the lines of the German's southern wing, Ernst von Hammer said in a Berlin broadcast.

Abandon Town The German high command announced abandonment of Baranowicz to the north in old Poland—nearly midway between Berlin and Moscow—and reported the Russians still farther north were fighting in the outskirts of Wilno (Vilna) 100 miles

Three Soviet columns were striking at the heart of Wilno, guarding the pathway to East Prussia, and Berlin broadcasts tacitly acknowledged the growing Russian threat to smash through to the Baltic states and into East Prussia itself.

Another German report said the Nazis were withdrawing to the Bug river west of fallen Kowel, 150 miles southwest of Baranowicz, shortening their line along the natural barrier guarding the approaches to Warsaw.

and the Americans began pushing the enemy back.

Suicidal Charges Fierce counterattacks have been common in Pacific fighting. Many of these charges have appeared to be suicidal. Some have had objectives, such as bold attempts to regain airfields, as on Bougainville and Guadalcanal.

On Saipan, the Japanese could have been trying to escape being driven into a tight spot on the northwestern tip of the island or trying to regain Tanapag town.

Infiltrate Lines If the charge followed the usual pattern, the Japanese infiltrated through the American's forward lines through the night then charged in force just before dawn.

Such tactics usually have netted the enemy some small temporary ground gains but all have been stopped with the killing of most of the Japanese by rifle, machinegun and tank fire.

In contrast to this desperate fighting, which probably reached the hand-to-hand stage, Yanks on the eastern coast of Saipan continued their advance, pushing to within "a little more than a mile" of Marpi Point airfield.

Marpi is the only enemy air-drome remaining in Japanese hands.

Win 9 Miles Farther west, Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's men won nine square miles of ground near the western Nazi bastion of La Haye du Puits.

One of the greatest battles of the war may develop within a few hours, for Field Marshal Rommel has perhaps 1500 tanks at his disposal in the Caen sector, and is known for his quick and violent reactions to attack.

Caen guards the road to Paris.

Six stubbornly defended towns in an arc north of Caen—the bastion barring the road to Paris—were engulfed in the first few hours, and a front display said tanks had thrust to within 1000 yards of the center of the city of 54,000 population. Herouville, two miles to the northwest, was taken and vanguards pushed on a little closer to Caen as flame-throwers cleaned out pillboxes.

Breaks Defenses The offensive hitting on a front nearly five miles wide, "has broken through the crust of Caen's major outer defenses," a British staff officer in the field declared, and the advance is "going very satisfactorily."

Americans to the west expanded their push in the center of the line.

Reached Fighting Ground Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead reported the capture of St. Jean in a dispatch from the scene and said American doughboys had reached solid fighting ground after a push through marshlands east of St. Jean across the Vire river and across the Vire Et Taute canal to the north.

By noon they had straddled the road running from St. Jean to St. Lo, eight miles south, and had cut the lateral east-west road just south of St. Jean.

Two Feeble-Minded Girls Picked Up By Officers

Two girls, escapees from the Fairview home for the feeble minded, were picked up here this week by juvenile officers and are being held pending their return to the Fairview home.

The girls, who were en route to Sacramento, had stopped here to get a temporary job before going on to their destination, and had gone to the U. S. employment service. One of the employes there became suspicious after she had questioned the girls and notified juvenile authorities.

into the assault across the river and the canal.

Southeast of La Haye du Puits another advancing American column liberated nine square miles of French territory in the Cherbourg peninsula.

German defenses at Galmanche, La Bijaide and Lebeise, from two to three miles directly north of Caen, fell quickly after Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery loosed his attack with a typical "Monty" barrage on a front more than three miles wide.

British Advance Fleets of fighter and medium bombers pounded German defenses ahead of the advancing troops as Montgomery put in a power-packed German front where the supreme command announced Field Marshal Erwin Rommel has concentrated more troops to the square mile than in any battle in this war.

The British were advancing, with the river Orne on their left flank.

DUBEL THANKS KLAMATH FOR HOSPITALITY

A letter of appreciation to the people of the community for hospitality extended men of the Marine Barracks over last weekend, was received for publication by the Herald and News today from Colonel B. Dubel, barracks commandant.

It reads: "It is desired to express, through the Herald News, my sincere appreciation for the hospitality, entertainment and recreation extended personnel of the Marine Barracks during the past weekend and the Fourth of July, by the people of this community."

"I wish to thank the Ladies' Hospitality group, through whose effort a large number of men were entertained in homes and at lake resorts. Also the Commandos for acting as hostesses at the Marine Barracks on July 2, and for their assistance rendered the Ladies' Hospitality group."

"The business men of Klamath Falls, who provided tickets for a section of the grandstand, all three days of the Rodeo, is appreciated. It afforded many men an opportunity to see the Rodeo much more comfortably than they could have otherwise witnessed same."

"I wish it were possible for me to thank each and every one individually for your help and hospitality; however, as that is impossible I take this means to assure you that we of the Marine Barracks appreciate the community's friendliness extended us."

Very truly yours,
B. DUBEL,
Colonel, U. S. Marine Corps.

Chinese Win Liling

CHUNGKING, July 8 (AP)—Chinese troops have won the first important victory in their counterattacks against the secondary Japanese front north of Hengyang, occupying the town of Liling, 80 miles northeast of the rail junction, the high command announced tonight.

In the Hengyang area itself, rumors reaching this capital said Japanese forces which laid siege for 12 days were withdrawing.

Confirmation of the latter report was lacking from Hengyang, where the Chinese yesterday were reported by the high command to have broken the siege in a sudden stab from the southwest.

fense that the fifth army was forced to expand 21,447 rounds of artillery in one 24-hour round. At Rosignano the Americans threw back at least three strongly launched counterattacks.

Key Points The two towns were key points of the Nazi outer defense line before Livorno. Volterra, land to the east, remained as sole anchor of the current defense line still in enemy hands.

French troops of the fifth army likewise moved forward through the mountains to the east, sweeping through Colle val d'Elsa and fighting their way to less than three miles from Poggibonsi, 42 miles east of Livorno and only 21 miles south of Florence.

Envelop Port On the Adriatic sector Polish troops cleared Osimo and swept four miles to the northwest to a general move to envelop the prize port city of Ancona.

The pace of Mediterranean warfare was stepped up yesterday with strong forces of American heavy bombers stabbing deep into German territory to the Blechhammer and Oderalys synthetic oil plants and other planes hitting Nazi communications and other targets from southern France to Greece.

Shoppers May Have Meat Price List

Shoppers may call at the local war price and rationing board, 430 Main, to get a purse size copy of the new retail meat price lists. The price lists may be charged by any class of store.

Housewives can help control food prices by checking the ceiling price list before buying. Any violations should be taken up first with the retailer and then reported to the local OPA board if the price is not corrected.

In money value, from one-fifth to one-third the food allowance of a family should be spent for milk and its products, government authorities say.

How Does Christ Speak To Men Today?

THE correct answer to the question above will enable us to distinguish between truth and error. Many people are deceived today because they think Christ is speaking to them when it is only the voice of men. We found in our study yesterday that God gave his commandments to Christ (Duet. 18:18) and that Christ through the Holy Spirit gave them to the Apostles when he sent the Holy Spirit to guide them into all truth (Jno. 16:13-15). When the Apostles were thus guided into ALL TRUTH, they warned that even the angels of heaven could not preach a different gospel and escape the wrath of God (Gal. 1:8; 9). John warned us that we should not believe every spirit but try the spirits whether they be of God, for many false prophets are gone out into the world. (I Jno. 4:1). The world has been deluged with false prophets who claim that God has spoken especially through them. It does not seem to bother them that they contradict themselves, and that they have to retract their prophetic utterances from time to time to conform with the events of the times of which they prophesy. In the days of Bible prophets, they prophesied conformed to their prophecies, but the modern prophets prophesy, according to the events of the time they prophesy, and a change of events makes necessary a change of prophesy.

C. B. Shropshire, Portland, Evangelist

There is a sure way however of knowing whether we are listening to the voice of the Son of God, or the voice of men. Jesus said, "Behold I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." (Rev. 3:20). The entrance of the Lord Jesus into our hearts depends upon our hearing His voice. To hear His voice we must hear the words which He has spoken. "If any man hear my sayings, and keep them not, I judge him not: for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world. He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my sayings, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I spake, the same shall judge him in the last day." (Jno. 12:47, 48).

John the Apostle also warned that "he that goeth onward and abideth not in the teachings of Christ, hath not God." (2 Jno. 9). All of the truth is contained in the inspired scriptures concerning God's revelation to man. He that would add thereto, brings down upon him the curse of God, and speak falsely to the people.

When preachers preach, and teachers teach, receive not a word unless they give a "Thus saith the Lord" for what they teach and preach. If they go beyond that which is written, they go without God, and all who follow them become partakers in their evil works. On the other hand, harden not your hearts to the truth which is written in the Word of God, but accept it with all your heart.

Bodies Removed From Wreckage

JELICO, Tenn., July 8 (AP)—Wrecking crews amid smashed coaches of a shattered troop train removed additional bodies of soldiers early today and Night Police Chief Elmer Roberts said the death toll apparently was at least 25.

Roberts said 21 bodies had been lifted up the steep sides of the mountain gorge, where a Louisville and Nashville train left the tracks Thursday night, and four more had been located in the wreckage.

The army had not changed its list of known dead—19.
