Flashes of Life

By The Associated Press

DOUBLE DUTY

HAVERHILL, Mass.—With the temperature in the upper nineties, two men delivered 20 tons of coal to the Colonial theatre yesterday, signed and headed for the showers.

Then they discovered the coal should have been taken to the Strand theatre instead.

So they shoveled the 20 tons out again and delivered it to the correct destination.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE

DALLAS, Tex.—A negro youngster with a torn ligament and a partial fracture of the pelvis was admitted to Parkland hospital. He said he had been jiggerbugging.

JUNIOR SALESMAN

DENVER—Mrs. E. F. Wood, coming home after canvassing her block for war bond purchases, missed her three-year-old son, Jimmie.

The mailman, reporting a small boy was ringing doorbells farther down the block, ended Jimmie's own bond-peddling campaign.

But Jimmie brought home the bacon. A note clutched in his fist said, "Mrs. Wood, see me." Mrs. Wood did . . . and sold a bond.

FIGHTING FAMILY

SOMERS, Mont.—Grandma and Grandpa Rumley grumbled because their grandson was too young for military duty. And their son's honorable discharge after combat duty left the family with no one in the armed forces.

Grandpa tried to enlist, but was turned down. Too old.

That was too much for Grandma—now WAC Pvt. Phoebe A. Rumley.

Bond Buyers Eat Free Banquet

ROSEBURG, Ore., July 11 (AP)—A total of 141 persons bought $91,000 worth of war bonds to attend a banquet here last night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Harding, proprietors of the Umpqua hotel here, had offered a free banquet to purchasers of $500 bonds from July 4-8.

State Treasurer Leslie M. Scott, principal speaker, urged a continuation of efforts to raise Oregon's "E" bond sales quota. He said it was $20,000,000 short.

To a Telegrapher

If you're an experienced Telegrapher (Morse), your services were never so vitally needed as now. Here at Southern Pacific, we are trying to do almost the impossible—rolling war trains, troop trains, ammunition, tanks, jeeps, guns in tremendous numbers . . . all for the Pacific offensive. As a telegrapher, you could help us keep these trains rolling, keep the spear aimed at Japan. Your work would be perhaps out in one of the stations, perhaps in this area. But wherever it is, it would be of utmost importance. We believe you will like working for S. P. . . like our people . . . like the friendly spirit of this Western railroad. New, higher wages, railroad pass privileges. Fine pension plan. Medical services. And above all, a fine job with a permanent company. Come in and have a talk with us.

See or write Trainmaster, S. P. Station, Klamath Falls, or your nearest S.P. Agent.

City Council Approves New Budget; Slight Increases Made Over Last Year

The 1944-45 city budget, slightly increased over last year's, Monday night was officially approved by the city council.

Major changes in the new budget include a $10,000 allocation to be set aside as the city's share in the cost of proposed construction of a joint city-county jail when and if approval of such a project can be secured from higher sources.

Also a part of the 1944-45 budget, are added expenditures for the dog pound, the hiring of three more men on the police force and one more desk sergeant and a sum-of-$1500 for the Klamath Military Service committee.

City taxpayers this year will be saved the cost of repair of improved streets due to a $22,000 allocation from the state gas tax fund, received by the city for the first time this year and providing for the repair and improvement of city streets.

Just preceding approval of the budget by the council last night time had been set aside for a hearing at which townspeople could express their viewpoints whether adverse or otherwise. No one appeared to comment on the budget.

Several persons, however, did attend the meeting to make various requests of the council.

Among these was W. Keoman who reported that the rent control program here seemed to be lagging with high rents still being charged by some of the landlords. Yeoman asked the city to write a letter to Washington requesting the stepping up of OPA jurisdiction of rents and inquiring as to the progress being made in such a program. The mayor was instructed by the council to write such a letter.

Fred Hellbroner, president of the Klamath armory administration, appeared before the council to request the city to pave a portion of the alley running alongside the armory. He said that the armory administration plans to park the lot behind that building to eliminate some of the dirt and grit being carried from there onto the armory floor and he said the administration would be willing to pay for the cost of paving a part of the alley also if the city would pave its portion. City fathers after a lengthy discussion voted to improve the city-owned part of the alley at a cost not to exceed $1.10 a foot, the money to be taken out of the gas tax fund.

Appearing Monday night was D. L. Mosier, who has a rabbitry on the Old Fort road. Mosier said that he previously thought that he had been operating outside the city limits but learned just a few days ago that he was within the city and violating an ordinance which prohibits the keeping of but a small number of rabbits in town. He stated that the cost of moving the rabbits would be very high and that he would take quite a loss. Nothing definite was decided, but the rabbit problem was referred to the judiciary committee for further study.

A request by the dehydrator plant for permission to place a conveyor belt, built into a concrete trough to be run underground across Willow street between Fifth and Sixth street, was turned over to the city engineer with power to act.

An ordinance providing that anyone disturbing, undermining or opening a sidewalk, street or alley, must first make application to the city and deposit a $100 cash bond, passed its third and final reading Monday night.

The much-discussed banner ordinance came up again last night and it was decided that the ordinance as drawn up several weeks ago be revoked as it stands and that an amendment be made and incorporated into the original banner ordinance.

Councilman Walter Wiessendanger reported that he and City Engineer E. A. Thomas had been out inspecting the city dump along the Old Fort road and that the rubbish was being cleaned out and a fence built. He said that as soon as bulldozers were available to push the remaining garbage over the hill and out of sight, the rubbish eye sore along that road will disappear altogether.

Councilman J. J. Keller said that he had been out to the dog kennels and he said a plan was underway to move the kennels several hundred feet from their present location where residents of that area would not be able to hear the barking dogs. The city fathers did not take any definite stand on this matter at last night's session.

The various department reports for June were read to the council by Donna Ward, who took the place of the police judge Harold Franey, who is on vacation.

Fire Chief Keith Ambrose reported eight fires in June with total actual loss amounting to $1035.48. Value of property at risk was $35,700. Amount of insurance, $15,600 and insurance collected, $1035.48.

Recreation Officer Dave Bridge's report included four junior police meetings during June, four other meetings, the organization of recreation programs, the starting of a swimming program for servicemen, civilian adults and high school students and the organization of a swimming class for members of the navy air corps to be conducted by navy officers.

The police chief's report showed

COST INCREASED IN NISQUALLY PROJECT

TACOMA, July 11 (AP)—Cost of Tacoma's second Nisqually power project is now estimated at $23,000,000, a jump of $3,000,000 over the last previous estimate made in May last year, City Public Utilities Commissioner C. A. Erdahl told the city council today.

He further said that the first electricity from the new project could be expected October 23, one year later than had been estimated in May, 1943.

To finance the project's completion the city council will have to authorize an additional bond issue above the $16,000,000 already issued. The utilities department had planned to pay the difference between the bond issues and actual cost out of current revenues but it is believed this will not be possible now, city council members said.

Mother of Klamath Man Dies in Yreka

Friends here learned of the death Sunday of Frances Mary White, 65 of Yreka. She was the mother of William White, 1823 Dayton, Klamath Falls.

Mrs. White lived most of her life in Yreka and was well known in northern California.

Funeral services will take place Wednesday at Turners Undertaking parlors in Yreka with the Rev. G. W. Wheatley of Klamath Falls officiating.

If it's a "frozen" article you need, advertise for a used one in the classified.

Shasta View Trailer Camp Readied for Occupancy

The Shasta View trailer park at the south end of town promised this week to be ready for occupancy very soon with the arrival Sunday of the last contingent of trailers from Ogden, Utah. K. T. Henderson, contractor for the federal trailer park plans to complete all work this week and electrical power has already been turned on at the project.

The trailer park, which will be available to civilian workers in war industries, contains 54 standard house trailers, each equipped with two beds. Sanitary and shower service for these trailers is provided in large expansible trailers which are specially manufactured for the federal government. The service trailers are heated by automatic oil burning heaters and an abundant supply of hot water will be available at all times.

There is also a special laundry trailer fitted with four sets of laundry tubs and six ironing boards. A drying yard is adjacent to this work room. Arrangements are being made for garbage collection and milk and ice delivery and the camp is very near a shopping center.

According to present plans a staff of four persons will operate the camp including capable maintenance personnel to assist tenants in the care and use of equipment. EPA management expects to take over this weekend. Immediate tenant selection from those eligible will be made in a few days and some tenants may be able to move in next week.

Interested citizens of Klamath Falls are invited to drive through the camp to see what is provided for migrant workers under the federal public housing program.

VOTE CONTEST SPIRITED IN WASHINGTON

SEATTLE, July 11 (AP)—Spirited contests over nominations for governor, U. S. senator and the first district (Seattle-Bremerton) seat in congress were expected to draw 500,000 out of 800,000 registered voters to the Washington polls in today's primary election.

Gov. Arthur B. Langlie, republican, is the only major office incumbent facing a challenge for renomination. Louis Wasmer, Spokane radio station owner, has made an aggressive campaign against the governor.

U. S. Senator Mon C. Wallgren is unopposed for the democratic nomination for governor. Because of his lack of competition, cross-party voting by democrats may affect the republican outcome. Under Washington election laws, voters can switch their votes between parties in the primary, and there have been reports that many democratic voters might jump into the republican gubernatorial column in an attempt to bring defeat to Governor Langlie and eliminate him from the November election race.

Eleven republicans and three democrats seek nomination to the senate seat which Homer T. Bone is relinquishing after 12 years to take a federal court appointment. Rep. Warren G. Magnuson is one of the democrats seeking Bone's seat. His elimination from the congressional contest brought 10 republicans and eight democrats into the scramble to become his successor. Incumbent congressmen in the state's other five districts are unopposed for renomination.

Elks to Sponsor Servicemen's Dance

The Elks lodge will sponsor another of its dances for the servicemen of the community on Friday night, July 14, at the Elks temple.

Junior Hostesses are also invited to the dance which will start at 9 o'clock. This is the third of the series of dances sponsored by the Elks.

CONSIDERS REQUEST

PORTLAND, July 11 (AP)—Federal Judge James A. Fee considered today a request of independent trustees for the Portland Electric Power company for a hearing to set valuations. Four proposed reorganization plans were turned down by securities and exchange commission recently.

WORKERS WHO MARRY SHOULD CHANGE CARDS

Workers who marry should notify the social security board when they marry so their names can be changed on the board's records at Baltimore.

They do this they will make it easier for themselves and the board when the time comes to file claims for old-age and survivors insurance benefits, according to Charles L. Maginnis, manager of the Klamath Falls field office.

For the woman who marries and wants to change her name, the board has provided a special form, which may be obtained at the local field office of the board. She should fill it out, attach her maiden name and send the form to the board.

The board does not assign her a new number, but issues a new card bearing her present name and the number that was originally assigned to her. She will have only one social security number during her entire lifetime. If she had more than one number, she might stand to lose her benefits.

The board keeps all information it receives from the worker strictly confidential.

The worker may obtain further information from Charles L. Maginnis, manager of the Klamath Falls field office of the social security board.

Justice Dismisses Assault Charges

Charges of assault with a dangerous weapon against William Ridgley late last week were dismissed by Justice of the Peace J. A. Mahoney, who stood in having the defendant held for grand jury investigation on a charge of pointing a rifle at another. The judge's decision followed a preliminary hearing held for Ridgley.

Ridgley is accused of pointing a rifle at a neighbor, M. P. Brown, during an argument over some of Ridgley's cows which had strayed into Brown's yard. The defendant is out of jail after $500 cash bail.

CAUGHT

PORTLAND, July 11 (AP)—A trusty who walked away from the Oregon State prison in Eugene Sunday was captured at a ball game here last night by city detectives. They identified him as John W. Krentz, 53.

Oregon Federation Director to Visit

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene.—Gerd Hansen, Marshall field, director of the Oregon Federation, will be in Klamath Falls, Friday, July 14, to meet any prospective students who are interested in attending the University of Oregon. She stated she would be glad to answer any questions about academic problems or living conditions which the student may have.

Marjorie Young, Route 1, Box 1046, will be glad to arrange appointments for meeting with Miss Hansen, or to answer any questions she can regarding the university.

"BUILDING MOUNTAIN GUN EMPLACEMENTS IS TOUGH ON TRUCKS..."

"Sure glad we've got FORDS!"

BY G. G. JAMIESON, President Rhodes & Jamieson, Ltd. Building Materials Contractors Oakland, California

Reliable performance has made the Ford Truck a favorite everywhere. Operators tell how easy these trucks are on gas, oil and tires, how seldom they're laid up and how little repairs cost. New Ford trucks are now available to meet urgent needs. If you are entitled to buy a new truck, see your Ford dealer promptly.

NEW FORD TRUCKS NOW AVAILABLE
In limited numbers—by government authorization

More than 30,000,000 Ford, Mercury and Lincoln cars—and Ford trucks—have been built

"DELIVERING SAND, GRAVEL AND CEMENT to a mountain-top gun emplacement . . . pouring 1,600 yards of mixed cement in 16 hours on a high-octane gasoline plant . . . that's how our Ford trucks are serving today."

"OUR 40 FORD TRUCKS include in addition to standard dump units, four large Ford-powered Mixer-mobiles. These often work 24-hour shifts, and can mix and hoist to 50 feet, up to 400 yards of concrete in 8 hours."

"WE HAVEN'T LOST A SINGLE DAY'S WORK from our equipment because of repair delay. We've seen from experience that Ford Trucks stand up, and when repairs are needed, parts are available. I'm sure glad we've got Fords!"
