Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

FROM the "It Seems to Me" column of former Gov. Charles Sprague in the Salem Statesman, we are borrowing today a valuable summary of facts about ballots for men and women in service.

EPLEY

Here is a schedule form that may be useful to Klamath people in advising their relatives in the service on the manner of voting this year:

Sept. 22: Closing date for nominations to public office. Clerks certify ballot forms for printers.

Sept. 23: Printers complete printing of ballots as rapidly as possible. County clerks mail same to service men or others eligible who have requested same.

Oct. 27: Last day requests for absentee county ballots may be filled by county clerks.

Nov. 7: Election day. Absentee ballot must be in hands of county clerk so he can turn it over to precinct election boards for counting on election day. Absentee ballots should be in clerk's hands by Nov. 1st or 2nd to be safe.

Federal Ballot—The federal law provides for a federal ballot which men and women in service may vote under certain conditions. This ballot lists only national offices: president and vice president and their electors; senators and congressmen. The conditions are, first, that the person is eligible to vote in his state and county election; second, that by

Sept. 1 he has requested his county ballot, and that by

Oct. 1 the county ballot has not been received.

• • • •

Request Necessary

GOVERNOR SPRAGUE continues.

"This means that to vote in this election the voter in service MUST request a county ballot. He can send his request to the secretary of state (giving name of his county and precinct) or of his county clerk. If he changes his address subsequent to making this request he should advise his county clerk of the change.

"If the service man or woman fails to request a county ballot, he will not get one; and unless he makes this request by Sept. 1st he cannot vote the substitute federal ballot.

"Up to Oct. 27th he can request a county ballot. In any event his ballot must be in the hands of the county clerk time enough before election day, Nov. 7, to be transmitted to the election board for counting.

"Folks at home should advise relatives in the service to send in their requests for county ballots AT ONCE, direct to the county clerk or secretary of state. The requests will be kept on file, and envelopes addressed for prompt mailing after Sept. 22nd. If the county ballot has been requested on or before Sept. 1st and has not been received up to Oct. 1st the service man or woman may vote a federal ballot.

Short Period

"SINCE there is only about a week between the date of final order for ballot printing and Oct. 1st, it is probable that many service men, especially those overseas, will vote the federal ballot. It may be that after casting the federal ballot, the service man's county ballot will arrive. He can vote it too but if both are received, only one, the county ballot will be counted.

Registration requirements are waived for men and women in service, both for voting the county and the federal ballots. However, they must be eligible to vote: age 21, citizens, residents of state and county when they entered the service, and not previously convicted of felony.

The War Today

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

THE allied two-front vise is tightening its death-grip on Hitler in a big way, with the new and devastating offensives launched simultaneously in the eastern theater and in Normandy.

Berlin itself admits that this is the showdown. A government-controlled nazi commentator, viewing this fresh onslaught, declared that the war would be decided in less than three months.

The powerful allied offensive in Normandy may be the beginning of our major effort to break out of the peninsula onto the open road to Paris. The British and Canadians have achieved a notable gain by smashing the nazi defenses in the strategic Caen sector—gateway to the hinterland. And the Americans have added another fine contribution by the capture of St. Lo at the other end of the flaming battleline.

• • • •

Blazes Trail

AGAIN air power has blazed the way. The Normandy offensive was preceded by a terrific aerial bombardment by more than 2000 warplanes. Significant indeed is the fact that there was no opposition from German planes.

Over on the Russian front the red armies have swelled their already furious offensive to a scale which is likely to precipitate the grand crisis of the Russo-German war.

A new drive launched by the Russians in southeastern Poland, in the Lwow sector, has set the entire long front to rocking clear up to the Baltic states. If you will get out your maps for a moment we will take a quick glance at the main points involved in the upheaval.

• • • •

Baltic Hold Threatened

IN the north the Russians are forcing back the center of the Hitlerite line defending the Baltic states. The German hold on the Baltics is endangered and a great body of nazi troops is threatened with being cut off.

Just below there the fuehrer's harassed legions are defending the "hold German soil" of East Prussia with their backs against the frontier.

A little farther south the red forces are hammering along the rolling plain which lies in the gap between the Okluv Frbnimen rivers and forms one of the great avenues into the heart of Poland. In this gap lies the big railway center of Bialzstok.

Below this is another operation of vast importance—a drive towards the famous fortified city of Brest Litovsk which is the hub of a network of railways. This is the chief anchor of the entire nazi line. Its fall would be a catastrophe for Hitler.

And finally we have the new red blow — a powerful drive towards Lwow, another vital railway center. This old city stands as a sentinel on one of the thoroughfares leading to the Polish capital.

This is the grimly precarious position of Hitler's armies.

Telling The Editor

Letters printed here must not be more than 300 words in length, must be written legibly on ONE SIDE of the paper only, and must be signed. Contributions following these rules are warmly welcomed.

A PARAPHRASE

There is happiness in the heart of him who prizes a right conscience above public opinion, integrity over personal gain, and who refuses to make compromise with principle, even though by every conventional standard his life might be judged a failure.

Real human happiness is the result of the practice of virtue. Peace and contentment are born of self-discipline. They seek for happiness in vain who in their quest lose their own soul. The possession of riches cannot compensate for the torturing realization that they were won at the price of honor. No position in society can bring joy to the man who realizes that he obtained it the wrong way and who knows his life is a living lie.

Only the truth can make men free and happy. The truth is contained in the teachings of Jesus Christ. He is our model, the perfect examplar of noble human conduct. He is a plan for living and those who follow Him become not merely good but perfect as our heavenly Father is perfect. Our reason approves of the divine way, and we make progress in moral excellence when we cooperate with the grace of God. We become better human beings. Our health, our wealth, our culture will have rational purpose and a real meaning in our progress along the way of moral perfection. The ultimate goal will be reached when we are united for all eternity with God. Then our portion will be perfect and complete happiness.

When people are united in bonds of mutual consideration and respond to the promptings of a common interest, they attract happiness and contentment. Love conditions them for success, and they are blessed of God.

Whoever sunders the bonds of human brotherhood and sets people against one another is evil. Christianity was never intended to work automatically, but through the rational understanding and willing cooperation of mankind. There are cleavages among us that render it difficult for us to reach a common mind and to muster a common will—cleavages based on race and creed, cleavages caused by nationality, cleavages between rich and poor, worker and employer, producer and consumer, farmer and city dweller. Cleavages rise which separate brother from brother and keep apart what should be kept together — barriers that prevent the most of us from enjoying what belongs to most of us.

Membership in a church does not require that we isolate ourselves from those of our neighbors whose persuasions differ from ours. It does not confine us within the walls of a ghetto. It imposes on us an obligation of taking an active part as a good citizen in the activities that promote the general welfare of the community, the nation and the world at large. Outside of our church there are multitudes of men and women who are people of good will whose lives give evidence of the noble ideals they cherish and who are intensely devoted to everything that promises of human happiness. They live in accord with the rights as they understand them, and frequently put us who have so many spiritual advantages to shame. Externally they do not belong to our church, but in their hearts they are imbued with the spirit of Jesus Christ and are doing His work to the best of their ability.

In a nation like ours, where we are in a minority, we must cooperate with high-minded people who are not of our belief if we expect to exert a good influence on society. Christ was not a separatist; He went about doing good and did not allow artificial barriers to bar His mission. Christianity is a leaven working in society, not a subjugating force. Wherever men and women are banded together for the promotion of human benefit, Christ is in the midst of them, and we should be ranged at His side.

Ponderosa Plywood Markups Restored To Higher Levels

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) The mark-ups for jobbers and retailers of ponderosa pine plywood were restored today to the higher levels which prevailed before May 11, when plywood of that species was brought under the controls covering Douglas fir plywood.

The office of price administration action is effective July 24. Jobbers' mark-ups will be 30 and 40 per cent respectively for large and small sales, instead of the present 20 and 25 per cent. Retailers' mark-ups will be 50 and 60 per cent respectively, compared with the present 33 1-3 and 45 per cent.

Government Eggs Now Stock Feed

PORTLAND, Ore., July 19 (AP) About 900 cases of government eggs have been converted into stock feed or destroyed here recently, the Oregonian said today.

The newspaper quoted Claude L. Reiser, an official of the food distribution administration, as reporting the eggs unfit for human consumption from spoilage in storage and transit from the midwest. The paper valued the eggs at more than $13,000.

Nicotine Dust Scarce In Oregon

CORVALLIS, July 19 (AP)— Scarcity of nicotine dust this year necessitates efficient use if pests are to be controlled, Dr. Don C. Mote, head of entomology at Oregon State college, warned today.

The most efficient way to apply dust is to operate only at night or in early morning when air movement is the least, Dr. Mote said. Material is largely wasted, he said, when dusting is attempted with even a light breeze.

LUMBER GRADE BA... ORDERED BY WP...

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) The war production board yesterday banned the use of certain grades of white oak, spruce, ponderosa pine, sugar pine, [illegible] white pine, white fir and cypress in the manufacture of types of products.

The agency also prohibited use of any lumber except [illegible] beech, maple, pecan and oak in the manufacture of hardwood flooring.

Lumber from mills producing less than 5000 board feet [illegible] is exempt from the ruling.

The following grades of species are affected: white [illegible] number 1 common and better Idaho white pine, spruce, ponderosa pine, sugar pine and white fir, number 2, 3 and 4 common red cypres ten inches wide and twelve feet long or larger. Better grades of yard lumber, tank grade and first and second grades of factory lumber.

WHEAT STOCK LEVEL... LOWER THIS YE...

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) The agriculture department announced today that wheat stocks on July 1 in the four principal exporting countries — United States, Canada, Argentina, and Australia—are estimated to be 575,000,000 bushels below the record supplies of that date a year, but still well above the average of prewar years.

Total stocks were placed at 1,170,000,000 bushels compared with 1,748,000,000 last year and with an average of 457,000,000 for the five pre-war years, 1935-39.

The decline of nearly one billion from a year ago, the great change in carryover supplies from one year's time on record, resulted in part from the small 1943 wheat harvest in the four countries and in part from the large demand for wheat for feeding and other non-food purposes.

Good harvest prospects for the new crop indicate the carryover a year from now will remain approximately the level of July 1, 1944.

Dry Cell Battery Material Released

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) In order to increase the manufacture of dry cell batteries urgently needed for war purposes, the War Production board today removed its restrictions on the use of iron, steel, copper and copper alloys in their production. Slight relaxation was provided also in the restrictions on the use of aluminum, copper, zinc, iron and steel in the manufacture of flashlights and other portable electric lights.

Molten Lava From Mexican Volcano Engulfs Two Towns

By ALBERT NOEL

MEXICO CITY, July 19 (AP) Millions of tons of molten lava pouring along a 25-mile front from Paricutin, Mexico's newborn volcano, have engulfed two towns and are threatening to wipe out three others.

Paricutin, the town from which the volcano takes its name, and Parangaricutiro, already are buried.

The lava is moving 200 yards a day toward Zacan, San Francisco, Pariban and Zirosto, which have been partly evacuated. Residents also are leaving other towns farther ahead.

Highways leading from the doomed region, 200 miles west of here, are crammed with caravans of Tarascan Indians swarming to higher ground with such belongings—animals and household effects—as they could hastily scrape together.

Earthshaking explosions are heard at more or less regular intervals from the elevated center of the sea of lava. At each explosion a higher wave of melted stone pushed out from the volcano, born in February, 1943.

Nothing is now visible of the town of Paricutin — Tarascan name for San Juan—except the towers and roof of the church, which are expected to fall at any time.

The five-feet-thick walls of the famous church of Our Lord of Miracles in Parangaricutiro have been warped, melted or caved in by the lava, which has completely filled the church.

Dewey, Wadsworth Agree On Postwar Army Strength

ALBANY, N. Y., July 19 (AP) Rep. James W. Wadsworth, Jr., co-author of the selective service act said today that he and Governor Dewey are "in agreement" that what he termed the weakening of United States military strength after World War I "should not happen again."

Wadsworth, an overnight guest of the republican presidential nominee, told reporters they "discussed generally having this country made strong and kept strong after the war."

Asked the trend of their conversation, Wadsworth, former chairman of the senate military affairs committee, said it was "by contrast with 1920-22 when we sank our navy, cut our army down and promised Japan we would not fortify some Pacific islands."

"The governor and I are in agreement that sort of thing should not happen again," Wadsworth asserted.

Declaring their talk included discussion of post-war military bases and many other subjects involving security, Wadsworth said he and Dewey covered generally what he termed "the high desirability of maintaining our military strength so as to be not only secure but influential."

Meantime the pattern of Governor Dewey's "front veranda" summer campaign to seat himself in the White House appeared to hinge on party organization.

Observers of the republican presidential nominee's political methods said it had become apparent the 42-year-old governor was laying the foundation of his election drive on the time-tested formula of state and local party teamwork.

They based their conclusions on Dewey's almost uninterrupted post-convention series of huddles with GOP congressional leaders.

GOVERNMENT CHIEFS ATTEND CONVENTION

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—Included among the 1478 delegates to the democratic national convention are nine governors, 18 senators and 24 congressmen, together with three cabinet members—Attorney General Francis Biddle; Secretary of the Interior, Harold L. Ickes and Postmaster General Frank C. Walker.

Also wearing delegate badges are Vice-President Henry A. Wallace and the mayors of two cities—Edward J. Kelly, Chicago and Frank Hague, Jersey City, N. J. War Manpower Commissioner Paul McNutt also is a delegate, as is Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO), who tops a group of 40 union delegates, many of the American Federation of Labor members.

Representing the professions are 25 doctors and 23 bankers, flanked by 299 state, county, city and federal officials. Scores of women will be on the convention floor designated only under the all-embracing title "housewives."

If we can't find a way to make our youngsters more healthy, we shall see our mechanized society go into retrograde instead of advancing. — Maj.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director.

WHICH CHURCH?

OF the more than 250 churches in America, which one did Christ build? and of which one is He the head? That he did not build all of them is certain, for even a child knows that Jesus could not be true, and teach so many different and contradictory doctrines. No church is willing to accept as truth, the doctrine of another church which contradicts something they teach. It may be that all cannot see alike, but when two people contradict each other, both cannot be right. That all churches contradict each other in points of doctrine is a fact that cannot be successfully denied. When two different churches contradict each other in doctrine, either one, or both of them is teaching error. John warned that whosoever goeth onward and abideth not in the teaching of Christ hath not God, and Paul taught that if any man should preach a different gospel than that which he preached, let him be accursed. The thing which makes different churches is different teaching. If all taught the same, all would be members of the same church.

C. B. Shropshire,
Portland,
Evangelist

Jesus said, "Upon this rock I will build MY church." It is a presumptious sin to claim that Jesus is the head of all churches. That would make him the director of all the false doctrines of the world. The head directs the body, and the body is the church. (Col. 1:18) If Jesus is the head of all the churches, then he directs all the churches. Who is willing to accept this doctrine? Surely no one will be so inconsistent.

The great need of today is for all churches to give up their party names, forsake their man-made creeds, and human practices, and preach only the gospel of Christ, and just be members of the church of Christ.

The big tent is up again, and the meetings are being well attended. The subject tonight will be "Reconciliation."
