adopted that production will continue while this machinery is brought to bear on the problem.

The time is not yet here to abandon that principle. The way is open to return to it in this situation, and we trust the patriotic motives of all parties involved will bring that about promptly.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 28—Behind Rubber Director Dewey's resignation is a dire situation with which no man who has done a great job might want to be connected. Dewey hinted at it in a polite way in his withdrawal statement. He said "the only crisis in prospect" was in heavy-duty tires, where a manpower shortage exists.

The whole truth is Dewey asked the joint manpower commission months ago for 6000 men—a mere 6000—he said were necessary to complete his tire program. He heard nothing from it. Apparently not even an answer was given.

His statement about a crisis also was too polite to reflect his inner mind. The best authorities on the complex subject do not see how the proposed production of tires for this year is going to be met. They see a prospect of a breakdown affecting all tires for civilian, bus and truck use.

Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

THE strike at Kesterson's is an unfortunate break in a long record of continuous production here of war-critical lumber.

Questions in dispute between the management and the IWA union are technical and involved, and no attempt is going to be made here today to discuss their merits. The public interest is affected by the fact that a work stoppage has now extended for more than a week in a critical war industry plant. Holding no brief for either the management, on the one hand, or the union on the other, we are going to discuss the matter on the basis of a strong hope that work in this plant may be resumed at the earliest possible time.

We know we express the sentiment of the community, and we believe the prevailing sentiment of Kesterson employees, in wanting that hope.

EPLEY

Way Open

IT WAS the occasion for considerable public surprise that production was not resumed at Kesterson's immediately following the telegram from the war labor board to the effect that the stoppage was a violation of the no-strike agreement and that the WLB could not consider any issues in the dispute so long as the stoppage continues.

That opened the way for an orderly resumption of production without the union losing face and without either side achieving a "victory" in the dispute. That course is still open, but each day of delay lessens its value as a fair way out of the difficulty. It is to be hoped that the union employees, or the employees as a whole—whichever makes the decision—will lose no time in taking advantage of it.

No Test Of Sentiment

FROM reliable sources, we are informed that no actual affirmative vote was taken to stay off the job, at an open meeting held at the union's receipt of the WLB telegram.

Both union and non-union employees attended this meeting, and a motion to return to work was made by a non-union member and ruled out on that ground.

It appears, therefore, that there has been no actual test of the sentiment of the employees on the question of continuing the work stoppage, and that again is a basis of hope for favorable action on a return to work if employees ballot on the question.

The Public Interest

THIS writer does not like to horn into matters that concern the relations of employees and management, and the Kesterson affair is brought up here because of the important public interest involved.

We are not presumptuous in making that statement. The WLB telegram plainly showed that public interest, and today the war production board has amplified it. Says the WLB: "Very essential sawmill operations be resumed immediately at this plant and continue without interruption. In view of urgent war needs, urge that men return to work immediately and company resume sawmill operations at once. Unsettled disputes which cannot be resolved locally to be referred to authorized government agencies having jurisdiction in such matters. The lumber is needed now."

The "No Stoppage" Principle

ELABORATE machinery, designed to protect the interests of disputing parties and especially those of labor, have been set up by the government for handling issues of this nature which are not settled locally.

During the war, the sound principle has been

Outstanding Man

NOW here is Dewey, an outstanding man in his business, who has done everything he can. In plant construction, synthetic rubber production and in creating a reservoir of natural rubber. He has been an admitted success in his job, but tires are being doled out faster than they are being produced, while production is lagging behind schedule. The schedule for the year was 22,000,000 tires (incidentally less than half peacetime output).

During the first six months of the year, the factories were producing something more than 1,000,000 a month, about 9,000,000 in the first six months. If they can reach the 22,000,000 figure the last six months, they will be doing better than well.

In the early months of the year, the government started doling out 1,000,000 tires a month. In May, this figure was increased 250,000, and the same increases were made in June and July. The quotas for August and September have been increased almost as much again to a figure of 1,950,000 a month. That will carry everyone up to a month before election. Quotas for October and November have not been set.

The increases could be partly explained by the fact that a stockpile of synthetics had been accumulated by Dewey, amounting to around 4,000,000. With the war near an end, and nearly everyone in actual need of tires, some increase in quotas seemed justified. But where the crack underneath in the planning is apparent is in the lagging production.

May Follow Example

FORMER RUBBER SYNTHESIST JEFFERS got out as a success in office when his program had reached a governmental situation beyond his control. It seems to me Dewey may be following the example of his predecessor, but this time the office is to be completely liquidated and the program continued by the various government agencies operating the synthetic plants.

Dewey is a Baruch man. The guiding hand of this one of the few sound administration ghosts chose him.

Break Noted

THERE is another break noticeable in the inner casing of this tire situation. Dewey is a private synthetic rubber manufacturer. He has long advocated a specific postwar program for continuance of synthetic tire making.

In many plants the government started, construction and working costs were too high to prevent commercial private postwar operation. Dewey wanted the government to set aside plants which cost too much, and keep them for possible future emergencies, and turn the others over to private business.

But Mr. Roosevelt recently said something at a press conference along the line that he did not expect the government to continue subsidizing the rubber business after the war. It was accepted as a crack at the Dewey program, although strictly speaking Dewey planned no subsidy.

yet apparent" to the troops deployed the fighting, and deplored talk of "quick victory."

Marine Captain Killed In Action

MURTAUGH, Idaho, July 28 (AP)—Marine Capt. Samuel Cordell Turner, 25, who in February, 1943, was credited with killing 27 Japanese in Solomon Islands fighting, has been killed in action, the navy informed his parents today.

Turner enlisted in the marines in 1938 and went overseas in July, 1942.

Groups Appeal to OPA On Lamb Points

PORTLAND, July 28 (AP)—Asserting that lamb cuts are spoiling in Oregon meat markets because of lack of buyers, Oregon farm groups appealed to the national OPA today to abandon rationing of lamb.

Telegrams were sent to the OPA by the Oregon State Orange, Oregon Farm Bureau, Oregon State college officials and livestock and woolgrowers' groups.

Helan Yost

Helan Rosetta Yost, a former missionary in Africa and she will speak at the Immanuel Baptist church at Eleventh and High on Wednesday, August 2, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Yost saw service with the Woman's American Baptist Foreign Mission society in Congo, Africa, where she spent eight years. During part of the time, in addition to evangelistic work, she assisted the hospital and dispensary at Banza Manteke.

Miss Yost's work on the Congo field was terminated due to illness caused by the climate. After recuperating in the States she was appointed by the American Baptist Home Mission society for work under the Baptist General Missionary in Haiti.

In January, 1933, she accepted a position as director of the Mexican Christian center in Tucson, Ariz. In 1939, she was assigned to Yuma, Ariz., to establish a Christian center among the Mexican people. There, with the help of the Mexican pastor and his wife, an aggressive work is in progress.
