grew as South African troops crossed the Greve river, two miles south of Impruneta, which is only five and a half miles from the city's boundaries. Aside from the bitter fighting in the New Zealanders' sector there was scant fighting of consequence yesterday along the remainder of the Italian front.

Official reports said the situation on the fifth army front was unchanged, with American and German artillery continuing a duel across the lower Arno river.

Policeman Left
Holding Bag—
Full of Money

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 29 (AP)—Late at night at the intersection of Charlotte's two main stems, Patrolman W. T. Bryant picked up a bag, perched on top of a mail box. It was very heavy and felt like a bag full of money. It was.

An employe of a local firm, on the way to a night depository, had stopped at the mail box to mail some letters and had forgot the bag, containing $10,992.

that "the enemy planes which penetrated into the Mukden area were six and their objective was the Anshan steel mill. They dropped bombs near the factory, bombs also were dropped over the factory, but damages were very negligible." The broadcast added that at about the same time, another group of "enemy planes" over Dalen "also dropped a few bombs."

sovsky's advance units stabbed forward during the night from Kablei, 20 miles southeast of Warsaw, and powerful artillery pieces behind them were wheeled into position. (A London broadcast recorded by OWI said Russian troops had reached "the outer fortifications of Warsaw," quoting Moscow press dispatches.)

Mop-Up—Rokossovsky left units under Kuban Cossack Gen. Pliyev to help special mop-up squads take care of three Nazi divisions pinned against the western Bug river. Field dispatches said it was the same old story—thousands of Germans waiting too long to retreat.

Upwards of 20,000 nazis were believed hemmed in, with escape virtually out of the question.

Riga Endangered—In northern Lithuania the Russians plunged to within 50 miles of Riga, Latvian seaport on the Baltic. They captured Jonkiska, 23 miles north of the rail junction of Siauliai. A German army estimated at perhaps 300,000, was imperiled in Estonia and Latvia with the cutting of the main rail route to east Prussia.

In the south, the Nazi strongholds of Jaroslav and Przemysl fell to the Russian Ukraine forces thrusting westward toward Krakow on the main truck railway to Germany. A march into Czechoslovakia through the Carpathian mountain passes loomed.

Tombs Destroyed
By Dynamite

NELSON, B. C., July 29 (AP)—The tomb and sarcophagus holding the caskets of Peter Verigin I and Peter Verigin II, Doukhobor leaders, was destroyed by a dynamite blast this morning. Three men overpowered the guards and set off the blast which blew away the protective part of the tomb, revealing the caskets in their resting place. Numerous unsuccessful attempts have been made to blow up the tomb since 1930.

The usual guard, Jim Popoff, was not on duty at the time. In his place were two Doukhobor men. They were brutally beaten by the attackers, who managed to escape without being identified.

Peter Verigin I was killed October 21, 1924, with eight other persons in the bombing of a Canadian Pacific railway coach at Farron, 58 miles east of Nelson.

Peter II, who succeeded the first Peter, as leader of the Doukhobor sect, died in Saskatoon, February 10, 1929, and was succeeded by John Verigin.

eration, and therefore they will not be negotiated locally. Within the past few days, both the war labor board and the war production board have sent telegrams here urging the Kesterson employes to return to work. WLB said the stoppage was a violation of the no-strike agreement, and that it would not consider the issues until the men were back on the job.

Union spokesmen said a "representative" number of employes attended the Friday night meeting at which it was voted to go back on the job.

Rommel Dead,
Reports Say

CANISY, France, July 29 (AP)—A senior American officer said today prisoners had reported Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was severely wounded in a strafing attack near Lisieux, east of Caen, and a French woman who has been behind the enemy lines said the marshal died later in a Bernay hospital.

A German captain told his captors Rommel's car was thrown into a ditch and he was unconscious for six hours. This account said the incident took place about two weeks ago and Rommel still was in a critical condition.

The woman, who is a member of an organization equivalent to the Red Cross for dealing with war prisoners, located the attack near Falaise, also on the British front.

She said the Germans stationed here had spoken of Rommel's death as an accepted fact, but the report lacked confirmation from any authoritative allied source.

alleged attack was a very short one, as she had almost directly followed her husband home to find him sitting on the living room cot with his head in his hands, fully dressed, with the 12-year-old girl on the opposite end of the cot.

The young complaining witness, though reluctant to tell the more intimate details, throughout almost a day and a half of continual questioning, did not waver in her story concerning the sailor's alleged attack upon her on the night of June 3 at his auto cabin home, where the girl had gone to stay with Wright's and another couple's youngsters while the four went out for the evening.

She said the defendant, when his wife was at the other couple's cabin, came in and turned out the light, put her down on the cot and attacked her. She said she was too frightened to make an outcry.

Two doctors, who had examined the girl, testified on the stand that they could not say for certain whether or not the 12-year-old had been raped.

Several other witnesses were called to the stand in the trial. Attorney for the defense was A. C. Yaden and prosecuting attorney was L. Orin Sisemore, district attorney, Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg presided.

The case went to the jury shortly after 11 Saturday morning and the verdict for acquittal was brought in about 1:30 p. m.

Willkie May Defend Anderson Against
Fish Libel Suit

NEW CITY, N. Y., July 29 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie offered today to represent Maxwell Anderson, the playwright, if U. S. Rep. Hamilton Fish (R-N.Y.) brought any libel action against him growing out of the representative's battle for renomination in New York state's 29th congressional district.

Willkie's action followed by a day Governor Thomas E. Dewey's repudiation of the representative on the grounds that Fish had injected a "racial or religious issue" in his primary campaign by declaring in an interview in the New York Post "The Jews are more or less for the new deal, unfortunately."

Anderson asked Willkie today to represent him after challenging Fish to sue him if he re-printed an anti-Fish advertisement which Fish has used as the basis for a $250,000 libel action against Robert F. Cutler, executive secretary of the good government committee of the 29th congressional district.

Ivan Joy Arraigned
On Larceny Charge

Ivan W. Joy was arraigned this week in justice court on a larceny charge, involving the alleged theft of a watch and wallet belonging to Ivan Streed of Weyerhaeuser Camp 6. In court, Joy waived preliminary hearing.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Franey, who arrested Joy Thursday night, said that the watch was found on the defendant's person and that the accused man had admitted also taking Streed's wallet, from which he removed $9 in cash, later burying the pocket book behind a pine tree.

Joy is in the county jail in lieu of $500 cash bail.
