Three Newcomers, Nelson Remain in PGA Tourney

McSpaden Eliminated From Race Bob Hamilton In Biggest Upset

By RUSS NEWLAND
Klamath Falls, Aug. 19 (AP)—Three newcomers to the PGA golf championship play and a former champion played off today in the semi-finals of the 1944 PGA golf championship at the Los Angeles Country Club. Nelson, a good one, and a good one, Nelson of Toledo, O., who finished second in the tournament, played off with Charles Conroy of Tacoma, who finished third in the tournament. Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., who finished fourth in the tournament, played off with George Schneider of Lake City after knocking out favored Harold McSpaden, Philadelphia, yesterday. Hamilton, an experienced player but never before reached such heights as to play in the last round of the PGA. Hamilton, who won the title in 1939 and was a finalist in 1939 and 1941, opened as the favorite to beat Conroy.

Morelli's Fouls Cost Him Victory

Terrible Tony, Wally Moss Near Blows As Katonen Ends Up On Winning Side

Morelli's attempted foul wrestling cost him a decision in his match against Paavo Katonen Friday night at the armory. The first fall was not won by Katonen but rather lost by Morelli. Tony didn't appreciate the way Referee Wally Moss was interfering with his dirty work so he picked up Wally and not-so-gently tossed him out of the ring.
