GERMAN 'AMAZON' DIES IN NORMANDY

ON THE BRITISH FRONT, NORMANDY, Aug. 21 (AP) — The first German "Amazon" definitely identified as fighting with the Wehrmacht, apparently as a member of a tank crew, was found dead during the battle of the Normandy bulge.

A British stretcher bearer reported today:

"A woman soldier was discovered when British burial squads were going over the scene of the bitter tank battle in the Vire sector between Viessoix and Burcy.

"Her flaxen hair had rolled out of her steel helmet and fallen to her shoulders. She was in full German uniform and wore trousers, field boots and a small pack in battle order. On her jacket was a silver star, a type of badge not often seen on Germans, and the epaulets of her tunic had the braid of a corporal."

The stretcher bearer said he searched her clothes without finding any hint of her name or identity. A photograph of four German soldiers and the woman was found in her wallet. Lying dead near her was a German soldier in a panzer uniform who was identified as the man standing beside her in the group photograph.

To a Machinist with 'know how"

If you figure you know your stuff and want a chance to show it . . . want to work with men who take pride in their job . . . if you figure a permanent company is your kind of company, then this is your ad. Here at Southern Pacific, we want men of your type to work in our big railroad shops or roundhouses . . . to help build and repair locomotives and other railroad equipment. We think you'll like railroading . . . like seeing a locomotive (that you worked on) go out and do a job pulling war freights or troop trains. And like the men you work with—the kind of fellows you'll want to have drop around to the house. New, higher railroad wages. Liberal age limits. Medical service. Fine pension plan. Railroad pass privileges. All the things that make this a really good job.

See or write Trainmaster, S.P. Station, Klamath Falls, or your nearest S. P. Agent.
