

GOING TO WAR!

Another giant Ponderosa pine is going to war

Our forests have answered the call to the colors. Hundreds of thousands of our Pacific Northwest trees are on the fighting fronts of the world--for wood is essential war material, just as important as steel.

More of our forest crop is being harvested every day, to fill the unending demands of the war for wood. We must give our forests every possible care and protection, to help them carry on under the shock of war production. Particularly, we must guard them against fire. Our forests will keep on producing, for war and for peace, if they are properly handled and protected. But they are not fireproof.

All man-caused forest fires must be prevented this year -- they should be prevented every year. No more can the smoker and camper go his careless way through the woods. Every spark MUST be put dead out. No more can the brush burner take a chance. There is too much at stake.

Saw logs from ripe Klamath pine trees ready to start the trip out of the woods

Most people are careful with fire. Most people know that it is unpatriotic to be responsible for starting a forest fire. Most people know that they are giving aid and comfort to the enemy when they do this thing. But--

There is a thoughtless, indifferent or criminal minority. These must be curbed. It's a wartime job of first priority here in the Klamath country to prevent forest fires. Let's do it, and help to--
