The quadruplets, weighing approximately three pounds each, were born to slim, auburn-haired Mrs. Charles E. Lee between 6 and 7 p. m. yesterday.

Doctors said the infants, normal and apparently healthy, had a good chance to live. Two of them were placed under oxygen tents.

Try Withdrawals

The Germans were attempting to withdraw northward through the Rhone valley along the river's east bank when a column from Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's advancing army fell upon them and in a series of rough encounters killed untold hundreds, a headquarters announcement said. Montelimar is about 100 miles north of Marseilles.

It was estimated 15,000 of the battered German 19th army have been eliminated. This defeated German force included elements of the German 11th panzer and 198th infantry divisions, which had been reinforced by scattered elements of three other enemy infantry divisions.

The loss of this force, which was announced simultaneously with the loss of the Germans 242nd and 244th divisions at Marseilles and Toulon, means at least 50,000 Germans front line soldiers have been eliminated.

Planes Raid City

German planes had bombed Paris suburbs the night before, and early yesterday the skies were aglow from the light of fires the death toll was placed at 110, with 719 persons injured.

When the raiders came over, people were still in the streets celebrating, despite the battle which broke out Saturday afternoon when roof top snipers started firing during the victory parade for Gen. de Gaulle.

Thousands of Parisians were thrown into panic as the parade broke up in wild flurries of gunfire along the four-mile line of march.

Several spectators were killed and dozens were wounded as the shooting started, a short time after De Gaulle had sped along the parade route at a 40-mile-an-hour clip.

However, Ely, according to charges, sold the car to two men from the naval air station five months ago, failing to change the registration.

The Louvre is considered the most magnificent public building in Paris and in the courtyard of the 40-acre structure were 750 temporarily quartered German prisoners.

TROOPS CROSS MARNE, TAKE HISTORIC TOWN

Meaux marked the high tide of the German attempt to take Paris in September, 1914—an attempt which ended with the allied victory of the first battle of the Marne when the Paris taxicab army stemmed the German tide.

Historic Background

The town is 24 miles southwest of Chateau-Thierry where American troops in the second battle of the Marne held the Germans during the fateful days of June and July, 1918 and took part in the counter-offensive launched on July 18.

The whole allied attack today was swinging north on or across the Seine river along almost the whole 200 miles from its source to the sea.

Rouen Doomed

Between Paris and the English channel, American, British and Canadian armies deepened four bridgeheads over the Seine and have doomed Rouen, where Joan of Arc was tried and burned. Rouen, 13th city of France with 122,800 population, now is the center of German resistance such as it is.

The allies also virtually doomed the great port of Le Havre and have opened the way into the Germans' flying bomb belt in the Pas de Calais farther north.

The American bridgehead was at Mantes, the British at Vernon and the Canadians had two between Elbeuf and Pointe-de-l'Arche.

Consolidates Front

U. S. third army infantry was streaming into the great tank-bulge between the Seine and the Marne forming a consolidated front 85 miles or more almost due east of Paris in a great half-wheel around the still exuberant and now virtually cleared French capital.

The push through Meaux, 10 miles beyond the first-woon foothold along the Marne at Lagny, was described as meeting virtually no opposition. It gave the Americans an assault line from which they could turn any Marne defense or stab north in a deep encirclement—or cut off—of the rocket bomb coast.

South of Paris

To the southeast one American column was at Nangis across the Seine 16 miles east of Melun, a second was at Provins, 45 miles southeast of Paris, and a third pushed seven miles north of captured Nogent to Villeneuve.

Beyond Troyes on the American right flank a fourth column jabbed toward Vitry, on the upper Marne 45 miles southwest of Verdun, and less than 100 miles from the German border.

There was no confirmation of supreme headquarters of an Algerian broadcast reporting that the Americans had reached Vitry—but the extent of the gain beyond Troyes was kept a security secret.

narrow, and for centuries has been easily defended.

Transylvania is a high plateau lying to the north of the Carpathians. From this plateau the Russians could push on fairly easily into the plains of Hungary BEHIND the narrow Iron Gate.

Once into the Hungarian plains the Russians will be in position to GET BEHIND all the Germans still left in the Balkans. Here, as in France, every German prevented from getting back into Germany will be just that much less left to fight later.

Only Eight Days of their Romanian Push, the Russians have killed and captured more than 300,000 Germans and Romanians.

Since June 23, they have killed and captured 1,081,888 axis troops. (To the total killed and captured, we must add the German WOUNDED, whose number can only be guessed at.)

The Russians, you see, have been preventing an UNBELIEVABLE number of Germans from getting back into Germany for the last stand behind the home borders.

Pedestrian Struck By Car Fined $10

Gregorio Jaurez Cruz was lodged in the county jail Sunday on a charge of intoxication after being hit by a car in front of Bolto's store on South Sixth.

The car, driven by John Kandara, was proceeding along South Sixth at a slow rate of speed when Cruz stepped in front of the vehicle, and was knocked over. He was taken by ambulance to the Klamath Valley hospital where it was found that he had suffered no injuries, but was intoxicated.

He appeared in justice court Monday morning and paid a fine of $10.

HILLMAN SAYS PAC TO BRING OUT VOTE

ture either party . . . We seek to influence thinking, the program and the choice of candidates.

"We know that when enough Americans vote, they will vote right; that their collective judgment will prove to be a sound judgment."

Hillman said that is why his organization urged a "simple federal ballot" for the armed services, supported legislation to eliminate the poll tax and is campaign to register every eligible voter.

Describes Workings

Answering criticism that the CIO may be violating the laws forbidding contributions by labor unions, the witness described the PAC workings this way:

The original PAC was purely a labor organization. It collected $671,214 from the unions and spent $371,086, of which 76 per cent was for salaries, travel and other expenses. The PAC spent $87,320 in primaries and state elections.

Fund Frozen

The PAC "froze" the labor union contribution fund as of July 23 until after the presidential elections, Hillman said, to comply with the "strictest interpretation" on the corrupt practices act. An "individual contributions" fund has been set up, not within the purview of labor

Below Goal

Thus, Hillman said, the entire setup is far below the original goal of $1,500,000 and considerably less than the $6,000,000 published reports said the CIO intended to spend.

Saying "We do believe we should not be made the exclusive object of governmental activities of the anti-new deal American democratic national committee, Gerald L. K. Smith's America First party, Frank Gannett's committee for Constitutional Government Inc., the National Association of Manufacturers and others."

"We think that these organizations are overripe for inquiry," he said.
