

RETAIL SALES CLASSES AT KUHS RESUMED

Lucille Tweed has returned to the KUHS to resume her duties as coordinator of distributive education and is interviewing the business firms of the city to locate jobs for the students who will enroll in the retail selling classes at the high school.

Those students who have been working during the summer will remain in their jobs and use them for laboratory while they are studying selling.

One of the aims of the course is to give the retailers trained employees and to aid in decreasing the turnover of employees which is one of the most serious problems in merchandising whether it be war-time or peace.

This will mark the fourth year in which these classes have been offered, and as before, there will be a beginning class for juniors or those who qualify and a second year class for seniors or students who have had sufficient background in selling to meet the entrance requirements.

The beginning class will consist of training in salesmanship and personality development while the second year will be a separate course and open to those who desire training in merchandise information, including textiles and non-textiles, advertising and window display.

SUMMER CREW AT MONUMENT LEAVES

Summer crew at the Lava Beds national monument is breaking up with the end of the season and the beginning of the school year. Foreman C. G. Woodhouse has returned to Klamath Falls, where he is on the high school staff. Fire Guards Wilfred Dowell and Malcolm Epley, Jr., have ended the season to prepare for school. Fred Schepman will leave August 31 to resume his teaching work at North Bend high school. Earl Milligan and Ed Neumann, fire guards, will leave Sunday to resume school work at Tulelake high school.

Anna Todd, who has cooked for the fire crew this summer, will leave September 4 to resume her teaching position at Malin. Marjorie Priest, in charge of Sconchin butte lookout, will leave September 15.

Fire season is not expected to end on the monument until after the first of October, according to Don Fisher, action custodian.

Former Klamath Girl's Picture Shown in Magazine

The pretty Spar appearing on the cover of the latest Look magazine is a former Klamath Falls girl, Eileen Van Dree.

Miss Van Dree is the daughter of Mrs. Elsa Dahn of this city and she attended some years in grammar school here and later went to Klamath Union high school. She was an usherette at the Pelican theatre for some time.

While in Los Angeles last year she enlisted in the Spars and was sent to Palm Beach for training. She was one of 30 out of a class of 600 chosen to be sent for specialized photographic training in Washington, D. C.

She is now a photographer's mate third class and also does work as a model in the capital city.

Gas Applications To Be Mailed to Ration Board

Motorists with A gasoline ration books are asked to mail their new applications in to the local war price and ration board before September 10 or it can not be guaranteed that their new rations will reach them by September 21 when the present A ration expires.

Clerks at the ration board will act on the applications in the order that they come in so it would be advisable for motorists to mail them as soon as possible.

Summer Worst Season for Paralysis Epidemics, Says Health Officer Rozendal

By PETER ROZENDAL
City and County Health Officer June through September is the season when infantile paralysis generally is on the upswing in the United States.

During this outbreak of infantile paralysis be alert to any signs of illness or changes in normal state of health, especially in children. Do not assume that a stomach upset with vomiting, constipation, diarrhea, severe headache or signs of a cold and fever are of no importance. These may be among the first symptoms of infantile paralysis.

All children and adults sick with unexplained fever should be put to bed and isolated pending medical diagnosis.

Don't delay calling a physician. Expert medical care given early may prevent many of the crippling deformities. Proper care from the onset may mean the difference between a life of crippling and normal recovery.

Today there is no known prevention or protection against infantile paralysis. All that can be done is to provide the best possible care. Your doctor, your health officer and your local Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis can and will do everything in their power to meet this epidemic.

Observe these simple precautions:

- (a) Avoid overting and extreme fatigue from strenuous exercise.
 - (b) Avoid sudden chilling such as would come from a plunge into extremely cold water on a very hot day.
 - (c) Pay careful attention to personal cleanliness, such as thorough hand washing before eating. Hygienic habits should always be observed.
 - (d) If possible, avoid tonsil and adenoid operations during epidemics. Careful study has shown that such operations, when done during an epidemic, tend to increase the danger of contracting infantile paralysis in its most serious form.
 - (e) Use the purest milk and water you can. Keep flies away from food. While the exact means of spread of the disease is not known, contaminated water and milk are always dangerous and flies have repeatedly been shown to carry the infantile paralysis virus. Kill the fly.
 - (f) Do not swim in polluted water such as irrigation and drainage ditches. The only safe place around Klamath Falls vicinity is the swimming pool.
 - (g) Maintain sanitary conditions around your home at a high level at all times.
- Don't become hysterical if cases do occur in your neighborhood. While infantile paralysis is communicable or catching during any outbreak, there are many who have such a slight infection that there are few or no symptoms. This large number of unrecognized infections is one of the reasons there is no practical way of preventing the spread of the disease. But it is also reassuring to know that, of the many persons who become infected, few develop serious illness and that, with good care, the majority who are stricken will make a satisfactory recovery. Remember that although this is a frightful disease, needless fear and panic only cause more trouble.

Attempts to stop the spread of the virus by closing places where people congregate have been uniformly unsuccessful. The resulting disturbance to community life is a disadvantage. Today there is no way by which the spread of infantile paralysis can be completely stopped.

There is no known cure for infantile paralysis. Good medical care will prevent or correct some deformities. But in about every fourth or fifth case there will be permanent paralysis that cannot be overcome. Do not believe those who for one reason or another promise to cure these cases. Be guided by sound medical advice.

As in most counties in the United States, Klamath county has a chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Your chapter is ready to help your health officer, doctors, nurses and patients in any way that is necessary. Your chapter is already assisting financially in nursing service for one patient.

Fire Destroys Woodshed Here

A fire destroyed the woodshed at the home of J. Stacey at 2240 Orchard Tuesday when hot ashes caused the wood to burst into flame.

Other calls received by the fire department Monday afternoon and Tuesday were to the 1800 block on Orchard and to West Oregon and Nevada where there were grass fires. There was no damage.

Davis Requests Amendment of City Ordinance at Meet

George Davis of Lorenz company, Sixth and Broad, appeared before the city council Monday with the request that the council amend a resolution passed in 1927 forbidding the Great Northern to operate across Sixth between 6 a. m. and 8 p. m. Davis stated that Southern Pacific was permitted to cross Sixth in two places at any hour and reminded the council that there was less danger of accident when the cars crossed in the daytime than at night.

He told the council that his

CHILDREN'S DAY FEATURED BY CLUB

Tuesday was children's day at the weekly meeting of the Lions club, when members brought their youngsters as their guests for the day.

Part of the program was provided by members of Eve Benson's dancing class. They were Kay Angstead, Carrie Sue Heilbroner, Jackie Murphy, Janice Pex, Joan McPherson, Roberta Mathews, and Jean Condry, and they presented two numbers, "My Lady Goes A Walkin'" and "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

Madelon Adler gave two piano numbers, "The Flight of the Bumble Bee" and "Prelude in C Minor."

Paul Lee was chairman of the day. Guests of the club were Bill Marander, John Best, and Dr. George Adler. New members who were given their pins were Harold Schider and Steve Rose. Elmer Merritt, a special guest, although he is a member, announced that he is moving to Portland.

YOUTH EMPLOYMENT SERVICE TO CLOSE

The youth employment service sponsored by the Junior chamber of commerce will discontinue its function with the opening of the school term, it was announced today by Paul Deller, employment and service chairman.

This service has been helpful in getting employment and odd jobs for local youngsters and has been a means for townspeople to get their odd jobs done. This employment service was handled through the chamber of commerce offices.

The Jaycees wish to thank the many boys and girls and the townspeople who have helped to make the undertaking a success and because of the interest shown and the need for the service, it is planned to resume the service next summer.

Another Texaco "Victory Garden"

... this great Texaco West Coast Refinery

OUT of this newest Texaco "War Garden" at Wilmington, California, will come many kinds of products to nourish America's fighting strength.

It will be a tremendous producer of the vitally needed 100-octane gasoline for our air armadas, and other aviation fuels as well.

At the same time it will produce large quantities of fighting fuel for the ships of our Navy, much needed fuels for our West Coast war industries, and many other petroleum products for civilian needs.

'An important source of fighting strength in itself, this greatly expanded plant will augment the tremendous stream of war materials now flowing from Texaco refineries in the Gulf Coast and inland districts. After the war it will serve you with finer petroleum products, at your Texaco Dealer's

Dedicated to Victory, we hope this plant will play its part in helping save American lives by shortening the war.
