"Listen--you run your war, I'll run mine!"

(NEA Radio-Telephoto) The safest and fastest way to remove German booby traps is to capture the Nazi who set them and make him do the dirty work. Here Pfc. Victor A. Hellenbrand, Cross Plains, Wis., watches a Jerry captured near Chartres, France, remove a booby trap from a doorway. Signal Corps radio-telephoto.

Bow-Wow Chow

The French woman in foreground of photo above chose to be palsy-walsy with German troops when they ruled the roost in St. Malo, France. So when they were captured and marched off to prison camp, she was given her walking papers, too, and trudged right along with them.

These Marine Doberman pinchers, Guam-bound, answer the call to colors and the call to "chow down," on deck of a Coast Guard-manned assault transport. They're members of a 60-dog platoon of scouts and message bearers, and favorite sport is ferreting Japs out of foxholes. (U. S. Coast Guard photo.)
