

NEW MURDER CLUES FOUGHT BY SQUAD

SEATTLE, Sept. 2 (AP)—Veteran members of Seattle's homicide department searched meticulously through scanty clues today for a lead that would help solve two brutal slayings of Seattle women within the past five days.

Detective Capt. Marshall C. Scrafford disclosed that at least one woman was sought for questioning in the death of Frances Radekop, 18-year-old honor student, last Tuesday. He refused further details but said "Certain developments make it imperative we check this woman angle very thoroughly."
But while Scrafford declared "The murder of the fine young girl has an A-1 priority in our department," detectives also were seeking evidence to explain the death of Mrs. Marguerite G. Anderson, 43, found slain in her bedroom yesterday morning.

Low Grades of Wood Slated for Sale on Uncertified Orders

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—The war production board has announced that number 4 or lower grades of Douglas fir, southern yellow pine, western hemlock, western red cedar, Sitka spruce and number 3 or lower grades of all species of hard wood may be sold to distributors and consumers on uncertified orders if sale will not interfere with war orders.

This action, WPB said, was taken because lower grades of lumber have been accumulating in the hands of lumber suppliers.

Cowgill Plans Guard Company Activation

PENDLETON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Ralph P. Cowgill, commander of the Oregon state guard, announced here that a new guard company is being activated in Hermiston.
The Baker, Ontario and LaGrande companies will be organized, the Echo, Vale and Huntington units placed on the reserve list, and the Nyssa company mustered out, he added.

LAKE COUNTY FAIR, ROUND-UP BEGINS

LAKEVIEW—The 25th annual Lake County Fair and Round-Up started Saturday with a large number of exhibits on display from the 4-H clubs and FFA members of the county.
A large string of bucking broncs and steers have been brought in and buckaroos and visitors have come from far and near to attend this annual event. Mrs. Ethel Thompson, third queen of the annual Round-Up, and the earliest nominated queen who can be present, will reign for this Silver Anniversary. At the queen's anniversary ball Saturday night $800 in war bonds will be given away.

COL. WAITE DIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Col. Henry Matson Waite, 75, a veteran of the first World war in which he served as a colonel of engineers, died yesterday. He was formerly chief engineer of the city of Cincinnati and city manager of Dayton, O. He was a native of Toledo, O.

Flashes of Life

By The Associated Press
INCENTIVE
WEST CHESTER, Pa.—The St. Joseph's high school football squad was watching the Philadelphia Eagles professional team practice. Rev. Jerome Kleber commented: "Spirit, see? That's the way to play."
"Sure, father, and we'd have spirit, too, if we got paid for it," returned a freshman grid prospect.

NO PAIN
CLEVELAND—Because sidewalk repairmen had roped off their work and gone home for the evening several Clevelanders were saved a pain in the neck.
A three-by-four-foot office window accidentally had dropped from the 19th floor of a downtown building. It landed in the center of the roped-off space and shattered glass over a 15-foot area. No one was injured.

BURGLAR SUSPECT
SALT LAKE CITY—A burglar suspect forced his way into Cornelius Johnson's home and was cracked on the head by a coffee pot swung by Mrs. Johnson.
Then he went to Mrs. Mary Waite's residence and fell through a glass door in the dining room.
Finally, he went to the Jesse M. Drury home but was caught by police called by Drury's daughter, Fern.

HOUSEMAID'S HOURS
HAYS, Kans.—A housewife thought she had engaged a maid for the day.
Finally, at 11:30 a. m., the maid strolled in the kitchen to prepare lunch. Eating over, the maid eagerly helped with the dishes.
It was 1 p. m. by then and the girl calmly excused herself, explaining she had an engagement at 1:15 p. m. and asking if the housewife would please pay her off.

"TRAIN ZZZZ LEAVING ON TRACK ZZZZ"
CHICAGO—As a parting gesture of loyalty to fellow train callers when he went into retirement, Fred H. Gardner, 65, for 28 years an Illinois Central railroad train caller, said:
"All this talk about people not understanding train callers is nonsense. People don't listen," commenting on the suburban commuter types, he added: "I have answered the question: 'What time does the 10:30 train leave?' a million times."

OSC President Aids In Rescue of Crew

ASTORIA, Ore., Sept. 2 (AP)—Dr. A. L. Strand, president of Oregon State college, helped rescue the pilot and gunner of a plane that was forced down on the Columbia river near here yesterday.
The Corvallis educator was on his first salmon fishing trip when the airship hit the water 300 yards from his boat. The crew, unhurt, said engine trouble developed soon after they took off from the Clatsop county airport facility of the U. S. naval air station. Their names were withheld.
Dr. Strand's party included U. G. Dubach, dean of men at the college; Joseph M. Dyer of Astoria, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Henderson of Portland.

Region Conference Of Churches Slated

FOREST GROVE, Ore., Sept. 2 (AP)—The 1945 regional conference of Northwest Congregational Christian Churches will be held here August 27-31.
The annual meetings have been held on the Pacific university campus since the conference was organized three years ago. Problems of social reconstruction must be solved by the individual churches, the Rev. Ray Gibbons, New York, director of the denomination's council for social action, told delegates at this year's session ended yesterday.

Yanks Top Him

Don't let the Yank helmet fool you. The gent in the photo above is Lt. Gen. Karl Spang who, until his capture near Brest, commanded the German army's 266th Division. He's pictured wearing borrowed American helmet, peering from Yank tank which is taking him to prison camp.
