

LIQUOR RULES SET DEADLINE ON DRINKING

CAMP WHITE—"But Not For" could very aptly be the theme song for all the new regulations and marines who have had ideas of taking over the premises of newly established bars in Oregon night hours in Oregon night hours.

A recent ruling by the liquor control commission permits bars to remain open for business until 1 a. m., but not affect the regularly scheduled curfew on drinks for military personnel, acting and naval personnel, acting to a directive from the office of Maj. Gen. David McKeck, Jr., commanding general of the ninth service command.

Regulations for men in uniform remain the same. Beer may be purchased between 10 p. m. and midnight by military personnel not on duty and not in uniform. Intoxicating liquors use off the premises may be purchased only between 4 p. m. and 10 p. m.

Service men who are buying beer, or the chaser for it, for consumption on the premises are limited to the usual hours of 10 p. m. to midnight.

The directive also states, "portions of such establishments where intoxicating liquor is sold, serviced or consumed are denied to military personnel between 10 p. m. and 10 a. m."—thereby closing in the bud any of GI schemes to find a legal loophole in the ruling by loitering around while his civilian "buddy" the drink, then the liquid ammunition on to

Dorsey, Wife, Indicted On Charges of Assault

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13 (AP)—Band leader Tommy Dorsey, the "sentimental gentleman" of swing, has been indicted along with his actress wife, Pat Dane, on charges of assaulting Screen Actors Jon Hall and Eddie Norris.

Also named in the county grand jury's charges of "assault by means of force likely to produce great bodily harm" to Hall and Norris was Movie Director Allen Smiley.

The three were indicted after they had declined to testify yesterday about a "battle of the balcony" last August 5 at Trombone Dorsey's swank Hollywood apartment.

The long-haired Hall, husband of Radio Singer Frances Langford, has said he was almost dissociated from the end of his nose, and Norris, going to his friend's rescue, declares he was knocked flat by somebody with one punch.

The principals haven't publicly explained the cause of the fracas, however.

Dorsey wasn't in a communicative mood when Deputy District Attorney Edwin Myers began to interrogate him about the scrap. Myers said the musician pulled a piece of paper from his pocket and read: "I refuse to testify on the ground that it might tend to incriminate and degrade me."

Tommy's wife and Smiley read the same typewritten statement, the prosecutor said. The whole thing took less than 10 minutes.

Lawyers announced that the trio would appear for arraignment tomorrow.

Paris Nazi Listening Post, Reports Correspondent

By GLADWIN HILL (Substituting for Hal Boyle)
PARIS, Sept. 8 (Delayed) (AP)—Paris is a lovely place. The people are most cordial and hospitable. But you still have to keep your dukes up.

A blonde young lady at a cocktail party was very pleasant, spoke both English and French expertly, said she was an American who had married a Frenchman, and chatted about this and that.

"Oh, I'm still so afraid of German bombers," she said. "I wish they wouldn't take the anti-aircraft guns away."

"Who said anything about taking them away?" I asked. "Well, there was one right near my house and it's gone," she replied.

I suggested that anti-aircraft batteries often change positions. "But then why have all the boys left the hotel where they were billeted?" she asked—a little too directly.

Later she sighed and said she had a lot of cousins in the United States army whom she hadn't seen for years. Was there any way she could find out if they are here, she wondered.

She volunteered names—some named Johnson, some named Moore, then one with a very unusual name.

I suggested that the army paper, Stars and Stripes, might help. "Oh, I've asked them and they say they can't," she replied—just a little too quickly.

You may not realize it, but you have just listened to the conversation of a spy—practically page 10 in the textbook.

The young lady may or may not have been a spy, but she gave a perfect example of somebody trying to find out about troop movements. The whereabouts of her odd-named "cousin" might have pinned down a whole division.

Thousands of these innocent-sounding conversations have been launched—but not all finished when the subjects are wary—in Paris in the last fortnight.

There is no doubt that many Nazi agents still are here. French officials have warned the public against people with German accents who claim they come from the border of Alsace-Lorraine.

Why, with the Germans plunging to defeat, would anyone continue to help them? Maybe fanatical Nazi loyalty, maybe in hope of escaping from the rapidly tightening French surveillance, maybe just to pick up bits of money.

Thousands of GI's have been asked disarmingly, "Where do you come from in the United States?" Then come the snappers, "How long have you been in France?" "Where did you land?" "How did you come here?"

Simple—but just the sort of
