Beauty IS YOUR DUTY

If you have an oily skin, it's a good idea to check up on your physical condition. Often an oily condition is brought about by constipation, sluggish circulation, improper diet, or lack of sufficient sunshine and fresh air.

An oily skin requires vigorous cleansing twice a day, proper stimulation and protection. Use a liquefying cleansing cream, as well as a mild soap and warm water to cleanse your skin and to remove oil waste and soil. One of the basic causes of an oily condition is a sluggish circulation, so that you must do all you can to stir up that lagging blood flow. Masks, facials, cold water splashed on the skin, astringent preparations — all these are stimulants to the blood stream.

YOUR simple facial should include the use of lubricating preparations applied with firming massage movements. Protective preparations of the lotion type are effective in keeping the oil in check and minimizing a "shiny nose" and greasy look, as well as giving your make-up finished smoothness.

BUT let's not forget that there are some things more important than oily skins... our Red Cross is still behind in making surgical bandages. If every woman with an hour to spare would spend it at the Red Cross work rooms, we'd go over the top with flying colors. How about it?

August Wedding

The marriage of Wynetta Ruth Cramer, daughter of Floyd S. Cramer of Monroe, and former residents of Klamath Falls, to Harold Olson, son of Mr. H. T. Olson of Eugene, was solemnized in the presence of 100 relatives and friends recently in the First Methodist church in Eugene.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white crepe-back brocade satin. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls that her mother wore at her wedding. Her bouquet was an orchid, surrounded by gardenias and tied with white streamers.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. L. O. Griffith before an altar decorated with two large baskets of pink and white gladioli. Two tall candelabra stood on each side with lighted tapers.

Betty Lou Cramer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a powder blue frock fashioned with full skirt and fitted bodice. Her bouquet was a colonial one in design made of pink and white sweat peas, carnations, and rosebuds tied with a pink ribbon.

Margaret Blair of Klamath Falls and Evelyn Woodworth of Oregon City were bridesmaids. They were dressed in dresses similar to the one worn by the maid of honor, in pink. They also carried colonial bouquets.

Little Janice Griffith was flower girl and wore a long dress of white silk. She carried a dainty basket of pink and white rose petals.

Dorothy Laurenson of Klamath Falls sang immediately preceding the ceremony, "At Dawning" and "Because of the Lord's Love." The wedding procession was that from Lohengrin and the recessional was Mendelssohn's.

The best man was Forest Abbott of Seattle, Washington. Ushers were Ralph Peterson and Murray Adams, both of Eugene.

A reception was held immediately after the wedding in the church parlors. Mrs. H. F. Bond, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. H. T. Olson, served the cake.

After the reception, the couple left for a two weeks' trip. They are now at home on a farm near Eugene.
