Shower

The "shower to end all showers" given by Mrs. B. B. Blomquist at her home Friday night for Virginia Bubb, who will marry soon, ended in a cloud-burst of laughter.

Comic fantasy set the theme for the evening, and a morgue atmosphere was created in one room with black drapery, bones and medical charts, in honor of the absent groom-to-be, who is in the medical corps in Portland.

Beautifully wrapped shower gifts turned out to be numerous useless articles varying from a huge, hideous lampshade, which had been a wedding gift a century ago, to somebody's grandmother's nightgown.

Entertainment was furnished by Janice Bubb who sang "The Girl Who Couldn't Say No," wearing a set of imitation Eleanor Scott. Hors d'oeuvres and coffee were served.

The bridal bouquet, of hollyhocks and wilted iris, was unconventionally caught by the bride. Money to cover honeymoon expenses was tied in the rag streamers of the bouquet.

Guests were Virginia Bubb, Pat Shaw, Carolyn Collier, Helen Moore, Janice Bubb, Merlin Albrecht, Betty Rea Martin, Phyllis Collier, Dode Ellingson, Phyllis Foster and Betty Merrill.
