GOVERNOR AND WIFE SHAKEN UP IN CRASH

ed, piling train engines on the track. The run had been made southwest in the expectation that the Dewey train would not reach the site of the wreck until the tracks had been cleared.

Running on a left hand track on which block signals were not operating, the Dewey train approached the other passenger train unexpectedly. Trainmen on the halted passenger train which left Seattle about midnight last night said their car barely had been brought to a stop, and that a brakeman had been dispatched to the rear to set flags against the approach of the Dewey train.

Doors Shattered

The crash came while about 20 reporters were working in a press car preparing stories on advance copies of Dewey's speech tonight in Portland on "Is There an Indispensable Man?"

The shock of the impact was so great it shattered glass doors through the length of the Dewey train, and Frank Hinda, one of Dewey's bodyguards, was swept forcibly through a glass door. He was not seriously injured.

Dewey was obviously elated today at the yelling, whistling reception given his assault on the administration's labor record at Seattle last night and he prepared to shift his attack swiftly to the "indispensable man" theme.

With a sympathetic crowd cheering him on, Dewey sailed into the new deal with a bare knuckled attack on what he described as home front "quarreling, bickering and confusion."

8000 Hear Talk

About 8000 persons packed themselves into Seattle's civic auditorium to hear the dapperly-attired governor, and hundreds listened in an adjacent park, where loudspeakers were provided.

Punching at the Roosevelt administration with the charge that it was "exclusively responsible for the most serious wartime strikes," Dewey told a crowd which included many war workers but few persons in service uniforms that there has been no chart or compass for labor in the new deal.

"I refuse to believe," the nominee shouted, "that workers in this country will play the role of supplicants to any throng. I refuse to believe that any man or group of men can deliver any section of our people by holding the power of government over their heads as a club."

As an alternative, Dewey offered a republican labor platform which, boiled down, called for the appointment of a secretary of labor from union ranks, recentralization of governmental labor functions in the department, the abolition of "wasteful, competing bureaus" and the cessation of any "privilege for one group over any other group."

A report from Longview said Dewey had left for Portland by automobile, but another story was that he was coming on in by train.

Germans Take War Reporters

U. S. THIRD ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 19 (AP) — Edward W. Beattie, United Press war correspondent, and two other correspondents were captured by the Germans near Chaumont, September 12, it was disclosed today.

Beattie and another correspondent who was wounded slightly in one leg, presumably were taken to Germany, while the third correspondent was released and has returned to the third army press camp.

House Downs Travel Pay Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP) The house voted overwhelmingly Monday to stand steadfast against senate-approved legislation to provide transportation for war workers, up to $200 a family, back to their homes or to new jobs. The vote was 239 to 90.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the ways and means committee offered the motion that the house conferees be instructed to continue their opposition to such travel pay. He asserted that the senate provision would result in an "undisguised drain on the treasury which in no manner can be justified," and that "nobody has told us what this unfamental change in government policy will cost."

The conferees came to the house for instructions when they became deadlocked with senate conferees in an effort to compose broad differences between the two chambers of demobilization and reconversion legislation.

retreated over the coral ridges, honeycombed with defensive points in which some Japanese soldiers were chained to their posts.

Infantrymen of the army's 81st division, filtering through a maze of vines and tropical underbrush, occupied the northern half of little Angaur island, killing less than 100 of the elusive defenders on the way. A large phosphate refinery, important to Japan's munitions industry; the town of Saipan, and a large railway yard were among their prizes.

Davao Hit

Tokyo reported about 50 Lightnings and Liberators yesterday bombed Davao, largest city in the southern Philippines, indicating the airfield on newly invaded Morotai island was already in use. Fighters have made 1400-mile round trips to attack Davao, but the fighter strip on Morotai, little more than 300 miles from the target, was one of the island's greatest values.

The Nipponese made two "ineffective night raids" on Morotai in their first counteraction against Gen. Douglas MacArthur's invasion. Absence of Japanese air attacks on United States forces swarming around the southern Philippines led Artemus Gates, assistant secretary of the navy for air, to comment "It is very confusing why the Japs are not more aggressive."

He noted the "total lack" of fight from the Japanese air force during the three days he rode on a raiding carrier within sight of the Philippines. "These people," he added, "definitely are on the run."

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz conceded the Japanese have "no room for optimism" but pointed out that ahead of American forces lie "tougher and more compact defenses," the "main bodies of the well trained Japanese army," and the badly pummeled but still potent imperial fleet.

Danes, Germans Battle in Capital

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 19 (AP)— Danish policemen battled German naval troops trying to seize the royal castle of Amalienborg at Copenhagen today, and Danes and Germans were fighting in the capital and other places where the nazis tried to seize police stations, the Danish press service reported.

One hundred and sixty Danish policemen defended the royal castle against a German naval detachment, the service said. King Christian X, the queen, crown prince and princess were in the castle.

Danish civilians aided policemen fighting in the streets of the capital and in other Danish centers. A general strike was called in Copenhagen at 2 p. m.

Earlier Copenhagen dispatches said the Germans had occupied all government buildings, including parliament, in the capital and all police stations throughout the country in a lightning move shortly before noon.

Guest Speaker — The Lions club met Tuesday noon at the Willard hotel where they heard Sgt. Mickey Butler, who has completed 50 missions with the 15th air force in the North African theater. Guests at the meeting were Orah Freemyer, Harold Wall and Maurice Miller. New members initiated were Carl Domino and Don Rice.

stand by the state as testimony began Monday afternoon.

Zetta Williams related under questioning how a quarrel had arisen and that Davis had hold of her hair when she called to Imogene to help her.

She said she could not remember everything clearly because "I was pretty mad and when I'm mad I don't remember everything," but she said she thought she heard Mrs. Fisher ask Davis to let her alone. Although he continued holding onto her hair. She could not remember, she stated, just how long the fighting continued or when it ended.

Rollo Brown testified that as he remembered, the six of them were sitting on a car and on the ground talking and drinking. He said Davis was telling the group what he had learned in the army when Zetta told him to "shut up" or something to that effect.

Davis then becameangry, he said, and "put her down." Brown stated he thought he heard Watkin say that "he'd show her; he'd fix her up good." He said he heard Zetta call to Imogene to help her and that the latter got up and went over to where the two others were quarreling.

Brown said that shortly afterwards he got up from where he was sitting, took what was left of the wine they had been drinking and moved to another place in the yard. The last he saw of the fight, he said, was Zetta, Davis and Imogene on the ground "scuffling." He did not see Davis later that evening after the fight, he said.

Dr. Joseph Beeman of the crime detection laboratory in Portland was called by the prosecution to testify as to his findings on several state exhibits.

Several thousand Klamathites are expected to jam the SP depot platform to get a look at the republican candidate much as they did when Wendell Willkie made an informal stop here back in 1940. Plans now call for the presentation of a gift of Klamath's super-spuds to Governor Dewey.

Bus Driver Tells Of Negro Threats

PORTLAND, Sept. 19 (AP) — Passenger service to Vancouver, Wash., was interrupted for a short time this morning when a Vancouver Bus company driver refused to haul either military or civilian passengers because he said he feared mistreatment by negro soldiers.

The driver told police he passed up some negro soldiers at a downtown stop and they followed his bus to the depot. The soldiers threatened him, he said. A police escort conducted the bus to the Interstate bridge and another bus, with military police in charge, hauled the soldiers.

The worst accident is one without insurance. See Hans Norland today, 118 North 7th. Phone 6060.

PORTLAND, Sept. 19 (AP) — The attempt of a group of negroes to form a new taxicab company catering to negro trade was checked today by the office of defense transportation (ODT).

2 MAYOR PETITIONS STILL AT LARGE

Only two petitions remain in circulation by candidates for city offices with the filing of Anne Mason for the post of city treasurer, Mrs. Mason filed at 2 p. m. Tuesday.

This leaves Kenneth McLeod Jr., and Marvin Shepherd, candidates for the office of mayor of the city of Klamath Falls, to file in the city clerk's office. The state deadline of September 27, has been upped to September 22 locally in order that city ballots be included in envelopes being sent overseas.

virtually cut off Rotterdam, The Hague and Amsterdam, and more than held their own in a fight for key roads and bridges on both sides of the Rhine.

Arnhem on the Neder-Ryn (Rhine) is 10 miles above Nijmegen, which is 15 miles northwest of Kleve, believed to be the upper anchor of the Siegfried line.

Berlin indicated new airborne landings above the Rhine delta, in the area near Rotterdam, Amsterdam and The Hague. This would put the battle front in the heart of Poland, and well across the last great Dutch water barrier.

3 Yank Armies

Three American armies meanwhile were battering slowly toward the Rhine in Germany, cutting through defenses before that river which guards Cologne, Strasbourg and Mulhouse.

The Germans were desperately resisting all three American army offensives on a broad front, hurling in heavy counterattacks with tanks, artillery and planes. Rains also hampered the Americans in this region.

Armored and infantry battles swirled today north and east of Nancy, a front line dispatch said. Many nazi forces in northern France, excluding armored units, had been left virtually without motorized transport, and had no choice but to fight or be overrun by Americans, the dispatch said.

ALBANY, Sept. 19 (AP)—Albany—despite the loss of soldier clientele—has increased its business since the closure of Camp Adair, a visiting chamber of commerce official said today.

Earl Reynolds, assistant manager of the western chambers of commerce, said a report of Albany's business methods would be submitted to the national organization. Reynolds came here from San Francisco to interview local business men.

In Portland in 1940, he was sentenced to five years for burglary, but received probation. Then, two months later, he was arrested in Lincoln county for burglary, and sentenced to five years. He served this sentence, and was released from prison yesterday, a few hours before the attempted holdup.

Kilmer was first picked up in Klamath Falls when he broke into the OK blacksmith shop. He pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge Edward B. Ashurst and was paroled for three years from the bench.

He will attend the directors' meeting of the Klamath county chamber of commerce. The local real estate board is also expected at the meeting, and Gage will answer questions on the program.

4,000,000 Men Fight for U. S.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP)— General George C. Marshall said today the army now has committed more than 60 divisions to combat, with eight more entering this month.

The total strength of the army and air forces deployed in battle is more than 4,000,000, the chief of staff disclosed in an address prepared for the American Legion convention, and growing constantly to multiply the size and fury of the campaigns against the enemy.

Asserting that victory will come only when the last enemy squad is battered into helplessness, he added that until that happens, the home front must not relax its efforts.
