strength, a tough but thin crust backed with little filling, or whether the allies must penetrate miles and miles of defenses as strongly defended as we have found the outposts.

Bad weather already has come to the channel across which reserves and supplies must move. Patton's tanks have run into heavy rains, which, together with fog in Holland, have interfered with the air arm. Another fortnight will see increasingly bad weather as a regular thing. October would be the month in which to win the war. November 15 would be the outside limit unless the allies were willing to risk some very serious delays.

All of which gives the idea that the fall of Arnhem will see Eisenhower turn loose his Sunday punch.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 — The official stories say there will be another bumper crop this year, but some of the private experts suggest it will turn out to be much less than last year as a whole.

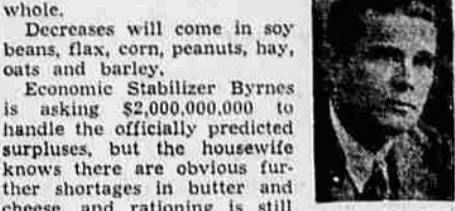

Decreases will come in soy beans, flax, corn, peanuts, hay, oats and barley.

Economic Stabilizer Byrnes is asking $2,000,000,000 to handle the officially predicted surpluses, but the housewife knows there are obvious further shortages in butter and cheese, and rationing is still going.

Vermont's Senator Aiken is promoting a restoration of the food stamp plan to dole out the supposed surpluses, but there are no need to justify such a dole.

Reports from official quarters suggest the army is overstocked in Europe, and certainly it is true that the job of feeding northern Europe, will be less than we expected. Conditions in Germany as well as France seem less drastic on that score than we anticipated.

But there are no official figures to show how much overstocking the defense services have done, or in what lines.

MALLON

Some of the outsiders (Dewey sympathizers, no doubt) suspect the planners of over-emphasizing surplus prospects in all official bulletins to restore complete post war acreage control to Washington.

The old AAA crowd has not lost its desire for regimentation, even though war necessities have forced an opposite policy to promote utmost production—and those are the boys who make the official statistics. No doubt they would like to get the farm situation back in their laps, where they had it.

The food stamp plan on the other hand will certainly be killed by congress. It will no doubt get out of the full agriculture committee to the floor. But the senate is not likely to approve, and even if it does, the house will not. The measure clearly lacks urgency, as well as justification.

Solid Fact Lacking

LOSS all these and other similar news evidences of the food situation into the air, and you will find very little solid fact floating to the ground.

About the only visible fact is that this is an election year and the administration is worried about the polls showing Dewey leading in the farm regions.

Gross panaceas to aid the farmer naturally are in order, and it may be necessary to wait until after the election to get any clear cut absolute picture of the situation.

Even so, there seems to be confusion among the managers here of our managed economy, some of whom are political. The stories of surpluses sound good to consumers and processors, but make the farmer shaky.

They're Doing All Right

RECENTLY, a number of news items have appeared in the papers indicating that towns with declining military activity are getting along all right.

Medford, for instance, reports a 200 increase in attendance at its four grade schools. A Medford business man tells us that most Medford businesses are actually showing increases over the lush Camp White days. Albany, near shrinking Camp Adair, is having a similar experience.

These are hopeful signs for towns that have gotten shots in the arm from military installations. Things may not be so bad, after all, when the effects of those shots wear off.

The War Today

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(Substituting for DeWitt MacKenzie)

DEVELOPMENTS of the next few days may give us a pretty good idea of when V-Day will come in Europe.

Unofficial reports, from Quebec and the front itself, say that the allied drive is still ahead of schedule. The last official word said five days. The latest report is a month, which can be considered from two angles.

It is hardly likely that we have gained any on the actual ground-taking schedule in the last few weeks of increasing German resistance. We could be in better position for the final battle, both as to organization of supplies and reserves, than was expected a month ago.

The conservative appraisal is that France was reconquered somewhat earlier and at smaller cost than expected, so that now we enter the battle of Germany in better shape generally. From here on out there are many imperceptibles.

Line May Crumble

A BREAKTHROUGH at Arnhem in the next few days, which is not too much to expect, would result in the crumbling of the German line. Allied officers express confidence in the value of German defenses along the Dutch border, believing the nazis rely strongly on the flooded Dutch lowlands. But it is too much to hope that the Germans are entirely dependent on water defenses which proved no real barrier to them in 1940. They undoubtedly have done everything possible to prepare defenses in depth deep into Germany.

So the big factor is the German army—whether it is now offering, with its last ## and that, in the meantime,

every effort is being made to liberalize the board's orders regarding the use of lumber.

Cordon said the WPB has recently permitted yards to sell up to one-third of their September 1 inventory without purchase certificates and to replace the amounts sold by purchase from mills. The regulation, Cordon said, will open outlets for unfinished lumber produced in the smaller mills.

He said Boyd also advised him that W. S. Freeman, WPB representative in Portland, Ore., has authority to relieve any cases of individual hardship under WPB order known as L285.

Market Quotations

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Selective buying persisted in today's stock market with liquids again drawing the principal volume.

The approach of a weekend, during which Wall Street felt that "anything might happen," served to accentuate investment caution, although special situations, coupled with the drying up of liquidation, loosened strings here and there sufficiently to keep prices fairly well balanced. Transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

American Distilling and Park & Tilford were prominent on the upside. Pepsi-Cola revived and touched a peak for 1944. Elsewhere advances meant the time included Willis-Overland, Graham-Paige, General Motors, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Woolworth, U. S. Rubber, Eastman Kodak and Allied Chemical.
