liu. Soldiers of the 81st army division continued mopping up on Angaur island, six miles southward.

Returning for their Thursday attack on Manila, the American raiders found lessened Japanese aerial resistance and a harbor surprisingly full of ships.

In aerial combats, they downed 59 planes against 110 the previous day. But their shipping bag was nearly double the 11 sunk and 26 damaged on September 20.

Box Score

- Nimitz issued this box score of Japanese losses September 20-21:
- Ships sunk—40.
  - Small craft sunk—6.
  - Ships probably sunk—11.
  - Ships damaged—35.
  - Small craft damaged—11.
  - Floating drydocks—2.
  - Aircraft destroyed in combat—169.
  - Aircraft destroyed on the ground—188.
  - Planes damaged on the ground—45.
  - Planes damaged by ships' gunfire—3.
- That means that in two days the Japanese have lost 86 ships put out of action, and 405 planes as well as 17 small craft and two drydocks.

11 Planes Lost

Nimitz reported 11 American planes were lost in the two-day strike. This was less than he had previously reported for the first day alone. Presumably some planes returning from the initial attacks landed on carriers other than their own and had not been reported safe at the time of the September 20 announcement.

Reporting on the two-day assault, Nimitz said last night: "Our losses in this daring and highly successful strike were 11 planes in combat, 10 pilots and five air troopers. There was no loss or damage to any of our surface ships."

Raids Made

His combat patrols have made continual raids into East Prussia, but no permanent foothold has been won inside the reich.

With his divisions rested and a large number of red army air force squadrons concentrated in support of his sector, Cheriakhovsky is known to be ready for a powerful strike at an early moment.

(A Moscow broadcast said Russian troops crossing from southern Poland through Lwow pass into Czechoslovakia had captured Humenne, 25 miles inside the republic.

Cross Frontier

(A Bucharest communique said Russian and Romanian troops crossed the southeastern Hungarian frontier. They were believed to be less than 35 miles from Spized, Hungary's second city.

(The double push was developing into a big pincer movement designed to knock weakening Hungary out of the war. All German and Hungarian troops strung out in eastern Slovakia and northern Transylvania were in danger of being trapped.)

Moscow newspapers published a statement by 13 German generals and three colonels captured in Romania appealing to the Wehrmacht to revolt against Hitler and make an immediate peace.

Reynolds said he was highly pleased with the plans for the building. It is the only available structure in town large enough for the purpose, he stated.

At a regional meeting in San Francisco in early October the USO is expected to give final approval of the program here, and remodeling will begin as soon as possible. Reynolds said that an effort will be made to send in a USO trained worker soon to help direct the old Commando service center on Main street, which will continue as the main local service center until the new quarters are opened.

Front line reports said these troops were British tank forces.

Front line reports said American paratroopers attached to the British Dutch border village three miles southeast of Nijmegen and only about eight miles northwest of Kleve, and these troops, too, were fighting in Germany. Between five or six miles north of where the entry into the Reichswald apparently was made.

Advance 10 miles

To the west of the British corridor driven to Arnhem, Canadians and British advanced 10 miles to a 30-mile front to the Antwerp-Turnhout canal, seized a bridgehead across the canal about eight miles northeast of Antwerp, and entered Turnhout about 25 miles northeast of Antwerp.

The Germans said new airborne forces had been dropped to the south, ahead of this drive threatening to cut off Germans retreating in western Holland by a squeeze to the IJssel Meer (Zuider Zee).

At the same time, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique announced that Polish reinforcements from the British second army had slipped across the upper branch of the Rhine at Arnhem by night and, bolstered the hard-pressed but stout-hearted British airborne division which had fought alone for a week in the middle of counterattacking Germans.

Blast Counterattack

On down the line, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' U. S. first army ripped a German counter-attack to pieces in the area east of Aachen and turned huge 240 mm. (nearly 10 inch) guns on targets only 18 miles from the Rhine.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's third army slashed close to Baccarat, 20 miles southeast of Nancy and only about 45 miles southwest of Strasbourg on the Rhine. The Germans announced the loss of Epinal on the Moselle, 40 miles below Nancy and about the same distance above the Belfort gap. Americans already were fighting well east of Epinal.

Neuner Rules on Sale of Property

The opinion was asked by Secretary of State Robert S. Farrell, Jr., in connection with the sale of some property by Lincoln county to a private person and to a public utility company.

Wealthy Turf Leader Dies

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP) — The first lady of the American turf, fabulously wealthy Mrs. Payne Whitney, 68, died yesterday.

A dominant figure in the social world, she was the daughter of John Hay, secretary of state in the cabinets of Presidents McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. Her husband, financier Payne Whitney, left an estate valued at $250,000,000 at his death in May, 1927.

As mistress of Greentree stables, she was the owner of two Kentucky Derby winners and a number of stake and steeplechase champions. Twenty Grand carried her cherry and black silks to victory in the Louisville classic in 1931 and Shutout triumphed for her in the 1942 race.
