still fighting. He said Lt. Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey's column from the south had thus far failed to reach "the remnants of the British first airborne division in the area of Arnhem."

Still Urgent
Certainly there was nothing in the fierce British effort to build up a broader supply line to the north that would indicate any lessened urgency to pushing power up to the Rhine. In a swift advance northeast of Eindhoven the Tommies drove through Durne and Helmond and on 15 miles north to Oploo and Mill, forging a second supply line parallel to the first and reaching from Eindhoven almost to Nijmegen.

This provided a buffer against German attacks from the east against the main supply road, but it was still subject to hard German pressure from the west.

Fight to Kieve
Ten miles to the southeast, British and American forces fought through the forest approaches to Kieve, northern bastion of the Siegfried line, in a double-headed invasion of the reich from Holland.

(A wholly unconfirmed French broadcast said Kieve, eight miles inside Germany, had fallen.)

Closure of Schools Eyed to Alleviate Shortage of Labor

the farms, migrant agricultural labor, Mexican nationals, and was prisoners still indicated to the committee that a definite shortage exists and should be made up from every possible source.

It was requested that all residents of the Klamath basin who can possibly spare the time, should register at the farm labor office at Klamath Falls and Tulelake for full or part-time work.

The Klamath office is at 118 S. 6th, and Clyde James is in charge; the Tulelake office is in the center of Tulelake with W. H. Anderson in charge. Growers are urged to put in their requests for labor several days in advance so that all possible labor may be recruited and available for them.

The potato harvest got underway earlier than normal, with maximum digging starting the last of this week, and peak digging perhaps will be reached by Monday. It was pointed out that shipments to date have broken all records with a total of 86 cars in a single day last week, requiring the use of a large number of workers in the grading and sorting crews, further decreasing harvest help in the fields. Growers expect heavy shipments to continue throughout the harvest season, due to shortage of potatoes in the Pacific coast markets.

From May, 1939, to June, 1944, Pan American Clippers carried 60,000 passengers, traveled 10,000,000 miles and traversed the Atlantic 2000 times.

In the Pacific, a 300-ton raid is still a big one. When the time comes (as it will) that we drop on the Japs the immense tonnage that we now drop regularly and systematically on the Nazis, the little yellow men will begin to realize what they are up against.

Restoration of Integrity Called For by Dewey democratic national committee that the U. S. census figures on unemployment as of March, 1940, were 5,000,000 "and this included everybody over the age of 14 who was out of school and looking for work."

The GOP nominee's special train carried him to Sapulpa, where after a welcoming celebration on the high school steps for Mrs. Dewey, the New York governor and his wife planned a brief visit with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orla Hutt.

Next stop was Tulsa for a series of conferences, after which the special was to leave for Albany, N. Y.

But all of this was an anticlimax to Dewey's, punching comeback in reply to what he described as the president's "speech of mud-slinging, ridicule and wise cracks," which the New York governor contended "plumbed the depths of demagoguery by dragging into this campaign the names of Hitler and Goebbels x x x."

Disclaiming any intent to use such tactics, the bushy-browed republican nominee asserted "the winning of this war and the achievement of a people's peace are too sacred to be cast off with frivolous language."

Former Klamath Man Loses Life In Weed Hotel Fire

New York, a guest, who was seated in the lobby when he noticed smoke seeping through the walls. Bob Fish was the clerk on duty.

The Dunsuir fire department, aided by a large volunteer crew, responded to an alarm at 8:40 p. m. and called for aid from Mt. Shasta and Weed. Eleven hose lines were laid and for two hours the fire burned furiously. At midnight the blaze was under control and Sunday at about noon, workers were able to go through the debris and charred timbe in search of victims. Taylor's body was found in his room on the third floor. Mays was found on the fourth floor. Both men were fully clothed.

Worst in History

Elmer Jenks, editor of the Dunsuir News, called the blaze the worst fire in the history of the northern California town and the only one to take life. Jenks described several incidents of heroism on the part of firemen who rescued guests, trapped when they returned to their rooms for their belongings.

Bill Brunner, retired SP conductor who made his home at the Weed hotel, suffered a slightly burned left hand. Gerhard Aytte, another SP employe, suffered bad cuts.

Trapped by Fire
One Weed hotel guest, Austin H. Budger, railroad employe, was on the street at the time the fire was reported. He ran to the second floor to gather his personal possessions and found he could not retreat. He went up to the third floor, found his position there precarious and ascended to the fourth. Firemen rescued him by using a ladder which reached only to the third floor and placing a shorter one atop the other.

Blanche Fowler, SP employe and hotel resident, was rescued in the same manner by firemen as she leaped from the fourth floor, 123 1/2 Sacramento avenue.

Town Turns Out
The town of Dunsuir turned out to aid in fighting the fire. The employe a fire chief and

U. S. Ships to End Calls in Argentine Ports

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP) In a new crackdown on Argentina, the United States government has ordered American flag ships to stop calling at Argentine ports on their homeward voyages. The order is reported to become effective October 1.

The move apparently was designed virtually to cut off imports from Argentina to the United States. In this connection, it was reported that recent purchases of Argentine corn for feed purposes either had been delivered to the United States or were en route.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 25 (AP) Paul (Dizzy) Trout turned in his 27th victory against 12 defeats today as he hurled a six-hitter to shut out the Philadelphia Athletics 6 to 0.

The victory pushed the Detroit Tigers a half game ahead of the St. Louis Browns in the torrid American league flag chase. The Browns play the Boston Red Sox tonight.
